I submit, therefore, to this General Assembly that this act is unconstitutional, and it cannot stand the test of our free government and therefore should be voted down.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman from Allegheny that it does not matter whether the hour is late, whether we are hungry or how long we spend debating this bill. If it takes the rest of the week we should stay here and say what we have to say about it.

Mr. Speaker, in listening to the discussion about this on second reading yesterday I believe that the Minority Floor Leader and the Majority Floor Leader agreed that if I as an individual desired to picket some plant as the result of a dispute, I would have the right to do so, but the way this bill reads I am doubtful whether or not that is correct.

Page 4 of this bill provides that "it shall be an unfair labor practice for a labor organization or any officer or officers of a labor organization or any agent or agents of a labor organization or anyone acting in the interest of a labor organization or for an employee or employees acting in concert to picket."

It seems to me from the reading of this bill, if I desired to further the cause of some labor organization having a dispute with its employer at plant "A", I get myself a picket sign and march up and down the picket line; I too may be guilty of an unfair labor practice and could be restrained. I do not think the drafters of this bill intended that to be the result but I am afraid that the courts might so construe it. Certainly that is a definite infringement upon my right of freedom of speech. When we stop people who have a legitimate interest, even though they are not employed at the plant, from marching up and down and making known to the public the fact of a grievance, then we are going pretty far, and if we pass this bill today I think it will be one of the blackest moments in the history of Pennsylvania labor.

There is no necessity for this bill, in my opinion. If it is your desire to remove violence in picketing you won't do it in this manner. There will be just as much or just as little violence, intimidation and so forth in picketing in the future if you pass this bill as there has been in the past, this won't affect it at all. I am as bitterly opposed as any citizen of the Commonwealth to violence and unlawful picketing. The law now forbids that. It should not be allowed to be done, but certainly by saying to the people who work in plant "A" "You cannot picket there," is not going to correct that situation.

I do hope that you will vote against this bill.

Mr. COLE. I rise to protest against the passage of this bill. This bill will make it an unfair labor practice for a member of a union that has industry wide bargaining contracts to go over and help out at the next plant, mine or mill. That right is one of the basic rights under our Constitution and bill of rights, and I do not believe that this Assembly should have the right to destroy those rights. The business of labor organizations is to organize men into collective bargaining units, and surely we have the right to use every legitimate means at our command to accomplish our purpose. Business has every right to use every economic means at their disposal to get what they want. So why should labor be denied the same right? Back in the mining industry we still would be serfs today if we had been denied the right to picket. In some of the mines we do not need any picketing, but over at the next mine they bring in strike breakers and they may need some help, and I think we have every lawful right as a labor union to go over there and help those boys out.

The history of the labor movements has shown that industry wide bargaining is the best way to peace in the industry because under industry-wide bargaining every employer in every plant must come under the same working conditions and pay the same rates of pay. Under that system you cut out the system of cut-throat competition. I remember back in the dark days before we had organization in the coal field, I know of a group of operators who held a meeting. They comprised half of one state, and in that meeting they decided that they would sell their coal for one dollar and sixty cents a ton, and that no man could sell under that price. Before that meeting was over the largest operator in the group went out and told his broker to sell coal at one dollar and fifty cents a ton. What was the result? The next company came along and sold its coal for one dollar and forty-five cents and the next one went down to one dollar and forty cents and so down along the whole line, and the first thing you knew they were selling coal below cost. Labor has to take the rap.

Mr. Speaker, the only way we corrected that condition was through the long struggle that the United Mine Workers put over during a good many years in trying to get the Bituminous Coal Act passed in the National Congress. Under that act and through the unionization of the industry on a nationwide basis, and the fact that we have industry wide bargaining contracts, that industry has become stabilized.

So, Mr. Speaker, if industry wide bargaining is the road to industrial peace, I see no reason why the laboring man or union man should not be allowed to go over there and help the man out at the next plant who is having trouble. I think it is only neighborly, it is only just, it is only right. I think the bill as a whole is un-American and I think it is one of that pattern of bills that have been introduced to go down the whole line to bust organized labor in America and once you do that you are going back to the same conditions that I pictured to this House the other day on another bill. Therefore I ask you to defeat this bill.

MR. BRUNNER IN THE CHAIR

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I simply want to say that I submit this bill is constitutional with the police powers and regulations wherein we have our greatest experiences involving breaches of the peace. This particular practice has been one just as obnoxious to the employees of one particular plant that do not desire it in the first instance, as it is to any other. Experience has shown that professional pickets are retained today usually from an entirely different vicinity and district. There is a very great tendency towards violence and for that reason I submit that this particular bill is constitutional under the police powers of the State.

Mr. ORBAN. Mr. Speaker, up to this point I have voted for all of the labor bills. So that the record may be clear I want to say that I am voting against this bill because I agree with the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, that the act is unconstitutional.

Mr. GOFF. Mr. Speaker, regarding this non-punitive measure, under Article I of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, Section 7 it is provided:

"The free communication of thoughts and opinion is one of the invaluable rights of man and every citizen may freely speak, write and print on any subject."

Mr. Speaker, I ask that this bill be opposed because if it did concern labor, it is an infringement on the constitutional rights of every citizen in the State of Pennsylvania for the dissemination of information, for the exchange of opinion and for the wearing of a placard, if that is his way of telling his story, and I ask you to oppose this bill because it is an infringement upon every citizen's rights.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I think we can possibly follow that theory to its logical conclusion. The right of assembly, that right of freedom of speech is a basic constitutional right, but to say that there are no exceptions whatsoever is a fallacy, because to say there are no exceptions to the right of assembly is to say that we could not stop a riot. To say that there is no exception to the right of free speech, is to say that we can commit libel and slander and nobody can stop us. This is one of those things which under the police powers can be established as an exception to the constitutional right.

Mr. BROWN. I must, Mr. Speaker, let the record show that we are cognizant of the statement that the gentleman from Elk makes. However, his statement is not correct, as stated, as a principle of law. This act abridges the right. The police powers of the state can only make reasonable rules and regulations, it cannot abridge the rights. This act abridges, it is a definite abridgement. It does not say anything in here about violence; it does not say anything in here about intimidation; it does not say anything in here about riots. It is a complete abridgement. I submit to him as a man of great legal training that what we are speaking about is not an abridgement of the rights, and not a regulation of the rights, but this act is silent as to when the pickets can be restrained or be declared to be guilty of unfair labor practice. The very act of doing it, though no violence may occur, though no intimidation may be the result, though no duress may result, in my opinion, and I think it is the opinion of every lawyer in this state, would be an abridgement rather than a regulation.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I had not intended to take the floor on this measure, but the Majority Leader has announced the most unique principle or conception of law that I have ever heard expressed by an attorney who is admittedly as learned as he is. He presents to this House the novel proposition that it is in order to punish the criminal before the crime is committed, and since he has written into the record his views on this bill; that this bill is soundly constitutional, I want to write into the record my prediction that this bill will not stand tests of the courts.

THE SPEAKER (Franklin H. Lichtenwalter) IN THE CHAIR

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 78, as follows:

An Act to further amend clauses (k) (s) and (y) of section four and to reenact and further amend section three hundred one of the act approved the fifth day of December one thousand nine hundred thirty-six 1937 (P. L. 2897) entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis requiring employers to keep records and make reports and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons providing procedure and administrative details for the determination payment and collection of such contributions and the payments of such compensation providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer and prescribing penalties" providing for modification of the manner in which employer contribution rates are determined and for a lag between the period on which contribution rates are based and the rate period and placing experience rating on a permanent basis

Section 1 Clauses (k) (s) and (y) of section four of the act approved the fifth day of December one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897) entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis requiring employers to keep records and make reports and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons providing procedure and administrative details for the determination payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer and prescribing penalties" as last amended by the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1145) are hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 4 Definitions The following words and phrases as used in this act shall have the following meanings unless the context clearly requires otherwise

* * * *

(k) "Employer's Experience" means a percentage obtained by dividing the "Wages of a Compensated Employe" as defined in subsection (y) of this section paid by an employer to all of his compensated employes during the [last three calendar years] first twelve (12) of the last fourteen (14) completed calendar quarters immediately preceding the calendar year which includes the calendar quarter to which the contributing rate is applicable less any credit for reemployment with respect to benefit years ending prior to the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and forty-five which was credited to the employer during such [three calendar years] twelve (12) calendar quarters by the total wages paid by the employer to all his employes during such [three calendar years] twelve (12) calendar quarters. Credit for reemployment previously allocated to a calendar year shall be deemed to have been allocated as of the last two calendar quarters of such calendar year

* * * * *

(s) "State Experience" means a percentage obtained by dividing the total amount of compensation paid from the Unemployment Compensation Fund less any refunds (including the repayment and recovery of compensation erroneously paid) made to such fund during the [last three completed calendar years] first twelve (12) of the last fourteen (14) completed calendar quarters immediately preceding the calendar year which includes the calendar quarter to which the contribution rate is applicable by the total wages of all compensated employes as defined in subsection (y) of this section for such [three calendar years] twelve (12) calendar quarters such percentage to be adjusted to the nearest multiple of one per centum

* * * * *

(y) "Wages of a Compensated Employee" with respect to each benefit year which begins prior to the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and forty-five means wages which were paid to the compensated employee by an employer of such employee in the base year immediately preceding the employee's benefit year and which wages shall be treated as though they had been paid in the calendar [year] quarter in which the first compensation of the employee's benefit year was paid and with respect to each benefit year which begins subsequent to the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and forty-five means the first one thousand three hundred and sixty-six dollars ($1,366) in wages which were paid to the compensated employee by an employer of such employee in the base year immediately preceding the employee's benefit year and which wages shall be treated as though they had been paid in the calendar [year] quarter in which that amount of compensation was paid which together with any amounts of compensation previously paid with respect to such benefit year equals at least three times the employee's weekly benefit rate

Section 2 Section three hundred one of said act as last amended by the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1145) is hereby reenacted and further amended to read as follows

Section 301 Contributions by Employers Experience Rating.

[(a) Each employer shall pay contributions equal to the following percentages of wages paid or payable by him or it with respect to employment occurring prior to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-two

(1) Nine-tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the calendar year 1936

(2) One and eight-tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the calendar year 1937

(3) Two and seven-tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the calendar years 1938 1939 1940 and 1941

(b) Each employer shall pay contributions equal to two and seven-tenths per centum of wages paid by him or it with respect to employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one. Provided That notwithstanding the provisions of this section prior to the effective date of this amendment with respect to wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-four for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one and with respect to wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-five for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one such percentage may be adjusted according to the provisions of this act prior to the effective date of this amendment and Provided further That with respect to wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-six for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one and with respect to wages paid during each calendar year thereafter for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one such percentage may be adjusted between a minimum rate of one per centum and a maximum rate of two and seven-tenths per centum in accordance with the following provisions of this section if the employer had paid contributions under this act for one or more quarters in each of the five calendar years immediately preceding the year for which the rate is applicable. Notwithstanding the provisions of section three hundred eleven any employer who prior to the enactment of this amendment may have paid contributions on wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred forty-four or one thousand nine hundred forty-five for employment occurring prior to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-four at a rate of two and seven-tenths per centum such employer shall not be entitled to a refund of any portion of such contributions paid on the basis that this amendment reduces the amount of contributions required to be paid with respect to such wages but such employer may make application for adjustment in connection with subsequent contribution payments as provided in section three hundred eleven of any amount which he has paid with respect to such wages which is in excess of the amount of contributions required to be paid with respect to such wages under the provisions of this act as amended. Except as specifically provided under section four hundred and four wages paid with respect to employment performed under Shipping Articles shall for the purposes of this act be considered as having been paid as of a date determined under rules and regulations of the department irrespective of when actual payment was made to the employee]

(a) Each employer shall pay contributions with respect to the calendar year one thousand nine hundred forty-eight and each calendar year thereafter at a rate equal to two and seven-tenths per centum of wages paid by him for employment provided however that such rate shall be adjusted in accordance with the following provisions of this section if the employer has paid contributions under this act for one or more quarters in each of the five calendar years immediately preceding the year for which the rate is applicable

(a.1) Except as specifically provided under section four hundred four wages paid with respect to employment performed under shipping articles shall for the purposes of this act be considered as having been paid as of a date determined under rules and regulations of the department irrespective of when actual payment was made to the employee

(b) Each employer with respect to any period prior to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-eight shall be liable for contributions in accordance with the provisions of this act applicable to each period in effect prior to the effective date of this amendment and for these purposes such provisions shall remain in force and effect

(c) The rate of contribution payable by an employer entitled to an adjustment between the minimum rate of one per centum and the maximum rate of two and seven-tenths per centum for each calendar year [commencing with the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-four] shall be determined prior to the due date of his first contribution for the year in accordance with the following table

(g) Successor-in-interest (1) Pursuant to rules adopted by the department an employer who prior to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-six acquires an organization trade or business in whole or in part from another employer shall immediately notify the department and for the purpose of ascertaining the rate of contribution of the succeeding employer his "Employer's Experience" shall include that of the prior employer as related to the whole or part of the organization trade or business acquired. Such a succeeding employer shall receive full credit for the years during which the former employer made contributions as to the organization trade or business acquired.

(2) An employer who subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-five transfers his or its organization trade or business in whole or in part to a successor-in-interest may jointly make application with such successor-in-interest for transfer of the "Employer's Experience" of the preceding employer to the successor-in-interest including credit for the years during which contributions were paid by the preceding employer. The department may allow such transfer of "Employer's Experience" pursuant to rules and regulations adopted by the department only if it finds that the "Employer's Experience" of the preceding employer with respect to the organization trade or business or part thereof as the case may be which has been transferred may be considered indicative of the future "Employer's Experience" of the successor-in-interest. In the event of a part transfer of an employer's organization trade or business only that portion of the "Employer's Experience" relating to the portion of the organization trade or business transferred shall be transferred and credit shall be given to the successor-in-interest only for the years during which contributions were paid by the preceding employer with respect to that part of the organization trade or business transferred. A transfer of "Employer's Experience" in whole or in part having been applied for and approved by the department the preceding employer thereafter shall not be entitled to consideration for an adjusted rate based upon his experience or part thereof as the case may be which has been thus transferred.

(h) The department shall promptly notify each employer of his rate of contributions for the calendar year determined as provided in this section and for each calendar quarter when modifications in rates are made in accordance with paragraph (f). The department shall furnish each employer with a statement showing the base year wages from such employer of each of his compensated employees and the benefit year to which such wages relate. The determination of the department shall become conclusive and binding upon the employer unless within thirty days after the mailing of notice thereof to the employer's last known post office address the employer files an application for review and redetermination setting forth his reasons therefor. The department may if it deems the reasons set forth by the employer insufficient to change the rate of contribution deny the application otherwise it shall grant the employer a fair hearing. The employer shall be promptly notified of the denial of his application or of the department's redetermination both of which shall become final and conclusive within thirty days after the mailing of notice thereof to the employer's last known post office address unless the employer shall appeal by petition from the action of the department to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County within such time.

(i) The petition filed in the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County shall set forth the reasons why the employer deems the rate of contribution determined by the department is incorrect. No questions shall be raised in any such petition except such as were set forth in the application for review and redetermination by the department. A copy of the petition shall be served on the secretary or his deputy. The court shall fix a time for hearing the petition and after hearing shall enter such order affirming or changing the rate of contribution determined by the department as to it appears just and proper. From the decision of the court an appeal may be taken by the department or the employer to the Supreme or Superior Court as in other cases.

(j) Pending the determination of the correct rate of contribution payable by an employer where an appeal to court has been taken the employer shall be liable to the payment of the contributions at the rate as determined by the department. But if the rate of contribution is changed by order of court then the department shall without application by the employer make an adjustment thereof in connection with subsequent contribution payments as provided in section three hundred eleven of this act or the employer may apply for a refund in accordance with said section.

(k) Each employer shall be given notice of the filing of applications for benefits by his former employes as provided in section five hundred one. Notice having been properly given as provided in such section no employer shall have standing in any proceeding involving his rate of contributions to contest the chargeability to his account of any wages of a compensated employe on the grounds that he was not given sufficient or adequate notice or opportunity to be heard.

[(1) The provisions of this section shall be effective only for the duration of the present war and thereafter until the end of the calendar year in which occurs the beginning of the first regular session of the Legislature which meets after the President of the United States declares that the present state of war no longer exists.]

(1) For purposes of determining whether or not an employer has paid contributions in each of the five calendar years immediately preceding the year for which a rate is applicable as provided in subsection (b) of this section in order to be eligible for consideration for an adjusted rate an employer who shall have served in the active military or naval service of the United States at any time after the sixteenth day of September one thousand nine hundred and forty and prior to the termination of the present war and who shall have been discharged or released from active service under conditions other than dishonorable shall be deemed to have paid contributions under this act during any calendar year any part of which is included in such period of military or naval service provided that he has actually paid contributions under this act for one or more quarters in either the calendar year in which he entered such military service or in the immediately preceding calendar year.

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-eight

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. RUSSELL E. REESE. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill 78, which makes permanent the merit rating system of the Unemployment Compensation Act, definitely works a hardship upon the men and women that are employed in industry throughout this Commonwealth.

The reason I make this statement is because this Merit Rating Act removes the burden of proof from the employer and places the responsibility of the burden of proof upon the employee.

I have personal knowledge that in most cases where an employee applies for Unemployment Compensation, that the employer, with rare exception, files a notice with the local employment office disputing the claim. The claim is ordinarily disputed upon general principles, but the objective of the employer is to prevent an increase in his Unemployment Compensation contribution rate.

I can cite you a glaring example of hardship and inequality of this legislation. Most of you recall that about a year ago an alleged strike occurred in the bituminous coal industry in western Pennsylvania. The alleged strike was caused indirectly by the attempted organization of the Mine Foremen, Assistant Mine Foremen and Fire Bosses. When these executive officials refused to perform the duties of their position their very act automatically prevented the rank and file of the membership of the United Mine Workers from entering the mines and performing the duties of their occupation, for had they entered the mines without them being duly inspected by competent and qualified officials as required by the bituminous mining laws of this Commonwealth each and every one of them would have been subject to indictment and prosecution. Therefore, the rank and file that mine the coal were deprived of their employment. They naturally applied for their unemployment compensation which was justly due them, and which I believe was justly due them, at the local unemployment office. The employer, without exception, objected to the payment of this unemployment compensation insurance and their objection was natural as they wanted to prevent any increase in their contribution rate.

The miners appeared at a hearing before a referee who was in most cases prejudiced in favor of the employer and they naturally received an adverse verdict from this tribunal which was set up by the Bureau of Employment and Unemployment Compensation. The miners then carried their appeal to the Board of Review, and many of them went to great expense to attempt to collect what was justly due them, but they were without success.

Now, here we are, here is the picture. The employee ordinarily and without exception must convince a prejudiced referee, face a barage of legal talent which is hired by the coal companies to protect their unemployment compensation rate, and we must all remember that the rank and file of the coal miners are ordinary laymen and without advantage of a higher or legal education and in order for them to collect what is justly due them they must engage the services of attorneys, and we must all assume that they are not going to the expense of hiring legal council to collect a mere $22 per week for unemployment compensation insurance.

I reiterate my position when I say that by passing this legislation you are in reality defeating the original intent of the Social Security Act and the Unemployment Compensation Insurance Act which was originally passed in Pennsylvania at the Special Session of 1937.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I sympathize with the boys in the House of Representatives, and I don't know why I should because you continually ask for this thing. I have insisted since I have been here that you do not do this very thing. You save these bills and you put them in here and you know that they are controversial and that we are going to take up the time of the House. It could have been just as easy to have scattered these bills throughout different days of the session of the Legislature and give everybody a fair break and nobody would have had to stay here any long period of time. Exactly what happens is this, that is part of the scheme and that is what is tearing down democracy. You fellows are continually "hollering" about democracy and why we have democracy. You create it right here in the House of Representatives when you stoop to this kind of maneuvering.

We could debate this bill for a half-a-day if we wanted to be unfair with the Members of this House. I realize that there are only a few on that side or on this side, when we are in control, that manipulates this kind of maneuvering. I know that there are men on this side of the House who are going to vote for Senate Bill 78. I realized that when I got up here, but I say honestly to you that we have a right to debate Senate Bill 78. We are sent here by our constituents to get up here and make our statements. It is not easy to get up. I have continuously asked you fellows on the other side and on this side, "Get up and have your say." I realize it is not popular. A lot of fellows here are hungry and they are tired. That is the game and that is what they want to do—they want to make you tired. I referred to Senate Bill 78 during a debate on one of the other bills. The labor unions are against Senate Bill 78 and they are against it for the same reason that I explained to you just a few minutes ago, that as long as you have merit rating this fund is not going to get too big, and even these fellows that would be better off, if we did not have the merit rating, at least they would be treated on an equal basis and they would not have to pay any more tax than anybody else. That is the reason why to my knowledge all labor organizations are against this particular Senate Bill.

Now Mr. Speaker, to my mind this is a social question—unemployment compensation. No man voluntarily lays men off. I have too much confidence in the manufacturers or the people who employ labor in Pennsylvania to think that these employers of labor just lay men off. I don't think that is true. If they do not do that then what is the need for the Bill?

I say to you on the other hand that they do not keep men when they do not have any work for them. That would be just as foolish.

Senate Bill 78 to my mind is an insurance proposition. You and I carry automobile insurance on our cars. We never want to have an accident and we are tickled to death if we never have one, but the money that we pay in, if we never have one, goes to benefit the one that does have one. You may belong to organizations in industrial plants in which you pay money for health and sick benefits. You are tickled to death to pay money into the fund and never receive any benefits as long as you benefit the man that does get benefits or the man that needs your help.

That is the reason, Mr. Speaker, why I oppose this bill. We are sending millions of dollars out of the country to foreign countries to build a democracy in those countries. I say to you that as long as the money stays in the United States I worry not, but when you send it out be careful. As long as the money goes into this fund and stays here in the United States for the protection of our people here, I have no worry, but when you send it out of the country that is different. So for the life of me I cannot see why there should be penny pinching on this little employer who keeps one or two people employed continuously, and you should not holler about the few miserable cents that he pays into the unemployment insurance fund to protect the employer who through no fault of his who cannot keep his employees working, because I say if he could he would keep them working.

For that reason we should not pass Senate Bill 78. I say to you that the revenues that are paid to the man that is unemployed help to keep the man employed who keeps his employees working continuously. After we passed this bill the first time—I was here in the session of the Legislature when we enacted unemployment compensation, I had a milkman in my community who said to me, "Why should I pay unemployment for my men? I never lay them off, I keep them working the year around." He said, "I haven't any need for this." I said to that gentleman, "do you deliver milk in this community?" He said, "yes." I said, "Suppose there is a little depression comes along and the plant down here lays off their employees." I said, "Do you get your check as long as they get unemployment compensation when you deliver the milk to the door?" "Well," he said, "I suppose I've got a better chance of getting it if they have unemployment compensation than I would if they didn't." There again I say to you that man benefits because he did get at least a part of his milk bill as long as the man was receiving unemployment compensation. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that the penny pinchers who refuse to pay an equal share into the unemployment compensation that we may keep the wheels of industry moving in Pennsylvania, are penny pinching and they are standing in their own light.

I hope that you can see the other side of this question. I have no fault to find if you enact legislation like the State of New York in which they gave to every employer after the fund got to a certain amount, but you do not see fit to do that in this legislation. You in Pennsylvania see fit not to equalize the payment into the fund after it gets to a certain point. Let me say to you that since this fund has been in existence there has never been a time when we had any test as to the amount of money and how far that amount of money would go if we would get a depression like we did in 1930 or 1932.

Under merit reading as we have passed it we haven't had unemployment, and you don't know, I don't know and nobody knows how much money will be needed in the unemployment compensation fund if we should happen to take a tail-spin, and it looks as though it is coming—we don't know just how far the unemployment compensation fund will go and how long it will last. I hope that does not happen and I say to you honestly that we should consider both sides of this question and treat all of the people fair and square and defeat Senate Bill 78.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am not particularly concerned how tired the members are. I am "tired" than they are. I swim against the current; they float with the tide. A great excuse they have for being tired. They don't have to think. All they do is vote. My God, what a good time I would have over here if all I had to do was vote.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Westmoreland spoke about penny pinching. In that one respect he was in error. We are now entering the realm of big business to the tune of hundreds of million of dollars. Now, relying upon that eminent economic authority, The Majority Leader, John Q. Public in the end pays. Now, you have got to take that, Members, because your Majority Leader says so. He says that all these levies in the end the public pays. So unemployment compensation taxes as they are called or contributions have not cost the employer a penny. They have been reflected in the price as a part of the cost of production, and the cost of production has been based upon 2.7. The prices charged by Pennsylvania producers are based upon the theory that compensation costs the employer 2.7. Now if in the case of particular employees you can reduce the rate from 2.7 to 1.7, that employer benefits. He charges just as much for his product and he benefits by that much because the 2.7 rate is in the fund.

Will newspapers reduce their advertising rates or their subscription prices because unemployment compensation is reduced? They will not but they will benefit to the tune of hundreds of thousands of dollars. Will banks reduce the cost of their services? Will any of the other business enterprises reduce the cost of their services because we reduced the cost of unemployment compensation? They will not. If we reduce the cost of unemployment compensation they simply put the money on the profit side of the ledger. How much money during the last three years have they as a result of a reduction in compensation costs placed upon the profit side of the ledger? They have placed over two hundred and fifty million dollars on the profit side of the ledger which is clear profit, and that is what this bill is worth to certain industries, which say they have stabilized their employment. To make it worse, these stabilized industries profit at the expense of the seasonal industries and the industries in which there is a pronounced labor turn over.

There are two theories with regard to unemployment compensation, as I pointed out. One is that the burden of unemployment compensation should be borne by society as a whole levying on society through industry. There is another theory that this burden should be sub-divided in small compartments, that the newspapers should be responsible only for their labor turnover, that the banks should be responsible only for their labor turnover, that professional people should be responsible for the turnover in their personnel, and that the heavy production industries or other industries should be responsible for their labor turnover. Any way you figure a reduction in unemployment compensation rates from the 2.7 level is a contribution to the employers' profit account. You cannot escape that theory.

Now, why do we have the proposal at all before this House? It is convenient to certain business enterprises in the state that they have received what is in effect a refund in the last three years totalling more than two hundred and fifty million dollars. That is convenient. It is a sizeable sum of money, but the real object is to prevent the unemployment compensation fund from reaching a level where there will be a legitimate excuse for demanding an increase in the unemployment compensation rate, from twenty to twenty-five dollars or twenty-six dollars.

Now, you say, "No, no, you must not go above twenty." I ask you where in your economy then you are going to store reserve buying power. If you don't store reserve buying power in the unemployment compensation fund you have got to store it somewhere else. In your economy at the present time the only place for storing reserve buying power is in the profit account of our substantial businesses, because you are not now storing a reserve buying power in the pockets of the employees of this Commonwealth.

Those, my friends, are the economic reasons why we oppose this bill. Other speakers have said that they hope that you will vote this bill down. I am under no illusion upon that point. You are going to vote this bill across. We will win this argument on the basis of the facts and we will lose it on the basis of the vote, but, thank goodness, whether the Democrats are in power or whether the Republicans are in power, there is always an appeal to a higher tribunal. So in all this program that you have enacted today we take our position, and in closing I can only say that if we in caucus had been deliberately planning your future confusion, we could have devised no program that would do more harm than the one which you have this day so successfully put across.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I just want to briefly state the reasons why we are going to vote for Senate Bill 78. This is not for the purpose of providing funds with which employers will have the possibility of reduced prices. We are only asking a continuance on the present cost basis, and if we do enact this particular measure there still won't be any millions of dollars with which to accomplish that purpose. We propose to maintain ourselves on the same basis.

The second reason we do so, is because there is one serious matter that we must take into consideration in dealing with our productive capacity in Pennsylvania, and that is the matter of competition. If our costs of production in Pennsylvania are going to be higher than in all of the other states that do have unemployment compensation, I don't know what is going to happen to us here in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, I want to state third, that there has not been any reference made to the safety factor in this particular measure. If the fund should become rapidly depleted, or if it gets to a point where it reaches the normal average necessary in the fund to meet a recession, then this merit rating provision automatically goes out. There is one more point there and one more reason which we desire to advance. There is at the present time one hundred and thirty-two million dollars more in the fund than is recognized by the federal social security authorities as a safety margin for said fund.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, we now come to the last series of proposals that have been placed before the House. We are now discussing a bill of goods that has been sold to the administration and to the membership on the other side of the House by the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association. I submit to the Membership that if there ever was a package bill presented this is that package.

Primarily of course I am interested in the measure that is before us as a social and humane measure, and I submit to the Majority Leader and to the Members on the Republican side of this House that in the event you are so interested in behalf of the worker of Pennsylvania, why not take cognizance of the action that was finally acted upon by the Congress of the United States in 1946 and liberalize the act under the setup as the employers contribute and give to the unemployed worker under this social measure that which he deserves, and give him what the federal act has set up for the railroad workers in this Commonwealth and for the entire nation. They have given to the railroad employes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania benefits for a period of 130 days at twenty-five dollars per week. They also have put into their act a provision which will become effective July 1st, of this year that they will receive 130 days additional benefits for sickness, and that of course is in answer to the Majority Leader's statement that he knew of no act wherein they give you the benefits that are derived due to sickness.

Then again, I say that in Senate Bill 78, you are penalizing the great basic industries that we have in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in order to subscribe to a program that has been offered by other industries within this Commonwealth that depend to a great extent on those great basic industries. The earning power of the workers depends for their existence on a business-like management of our economic system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I say to the membership of the House that the program that you have enacted so far, I believe, as the Minority Leader said that you will enact that proposal, but it will not do that which you claim it will perform, and you will create a confusion such as you have never seen before in labor circles of Pennsylvania. You will not destroy organized labor and our people of this Commonwealth and this nation, you will not deprive them of the freedom they so much desire, you or no one else can take it away from them. They will try to forge ahead despite the program that you are undertaking to put over through this bill that you are enacting.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. READINGER filed the following reasons for his vote:

I am voting "Aye" on Senate Bill No. 78, Printer's No. 338, for the reason that merit rating has not, during its operation in Pennsylvania, prejudicated the solvency of the Unemployment Compensation Fund, nor has it prevented the payment of compensation of any proper claim.

Research clearly indicates that the Fund, with the "safety valve" clause as included in the Bill, will remain solvent and adequate.

There seems to be no point to collecting many millions of dollars to be added to the Fund under a flat 2.7 rate, when it has been demonstrated that these funds are not necessary to carry out the purpose of the Fund.

When merit rating was new, many appeals were filed by employers under a mistaken idea of the meaning of the law. This misunderstanding has now been fairly well eliminated and appeals will, in my opinion, be restricted mainly to cases involving a factual dispute, in the future.

MR. STOCKHAM IN THE CHAIR.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. ANDREWS, CADWALADER, COSTA and CHARLES C. SMITH offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

In the House of Representatives, May 21, 1947.

Whereas, The party given last night by Speaker Franklin H. Lichtenwalter at the Moose Hall in this fair city was a lively evening's entertainment if ever there was one; and

Whereas, The buffet supper with accompanying liquid refreshments satisfied palates and thirsts of all and sundry; and

Whereas, The music furnished by the eight piece Kulowitch-Reinsmiths orchestra, featuring Marine veteran Norman Flores as vocalist and piano player, "Tiny" Kulowitch as M. C., and Pennsylvania Dutch songs, kept the party in a mellow mood; and

Whereas, The added attraction of the delivery by the host himself of a special colloquial song dedicated to and sung for the benefit of Hi Andrews not only further enlivened the affair but will keep many in suspense to the end of their days as to what sweet message it contained; and

Whereas, The party's success was further assured by the personage in attendance, among whom were no less than Governor James H. Duff and Miss Florida of 1938 (now Mrs. John J. Vaughan); and

Whereas, Everybody had a hilarious good time; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of this House of Representatives hereby extend to their Speaker their thanks and appreciation for the party given in their honor and compliment the program of music and entertainment arranged therefor; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted to both Speaker Lichtenwalter and the "Tiny" Kulowitch of Allentown on behalf of his orchestra.

THE SPEAKER (Franklin H. Lichtenwalter)
IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Philadelphia and the Members of the House for their kind consideration in presenting this resolution and having it adopted.

I want to state that if the Members of the House and employees and friends who were present had a good a time as the Speaker had in arranging it, then everybody had a very enjoyable evening.

I might say also to the Members that they will recall on the passage of one bill where all of the Members of the House, because of their unanimous vote, were all made members of the Democratic Clubs throughout the State of Pennsylvania over the signature of the Minority Leader and the Democratic Leaders of Pennsylvania. I wish to state here and now that all of the Members who were present last night, particularly the Minority Leader, to whom we dedicated the Pennsylvania Dutch Song are hereby made members of the Pennsylvania Dutch Society of Pennsylvania.

The Chair thanks the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham, for presiding.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, after that mention perhaps I should start singing "Old Frank Lichtenwalter had a farm, and on that farm there was a cow". But Mr. Speaker, I wish to express my appreciation to the Majority Leader and the Members of the majority group and to the Speaker for the consideration accorded the minority during the discussion of the program which has just been enacted.

No one is more conscious than I of the powers of the majority to limit discussion. I am glad that you did not exercise that power. This has been a really creditable afternoon. No tempers were snapped, there has been no belligerency; we have approached these problems from our respective party standpoints, so again I wish to express my appreciation to the leadership of the House for the privileges and consideration that have been accorded a very small, but sometimes extremely vocal minority.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. DALRYMPLE asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Elections and Apportionment to meet during the session of the House.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 643, as follows:

An Act to amend sections four hundred two four hundred nine four hundred fifteen and four hundred nineteen of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1225) entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals and amending revisor: consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by increasing the fee for nonresident fur buyers' permits revising the requirements with reference to tags attached to shipments of propagated game and propagated furbearers and changing penalties.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

Senate Bill No. 152, Printer's No. 245 was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 318, as follows:

An Act validating and confirming titles to real estate conveyed by cities of the third class, unless proceedings to attack such sales are instituted within one year after the effective date of this act.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 1, last line of title, by striking out the words "one year" and inserting in lieu thereof "six years".

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out the word "one year" and inserting in lieu thereof "six years".

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

Senate Bill No. 334, Printer's No. 354

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 338, entitled:

An Act to further amend clause (c) of section three of the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1168) entitled "An act to protect the right of employes to organize and bargain collectively creating the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board officers of the State government and courts providing for the right of employes to organize and bargain collectively declaring certain labor practices by employers to be unfair further providing that representatives of a majority of the employes be the exclusive representatives of all the employes authorizing the board to conduct hearings and elections and certify as to representatives of employes for purposes of collective bargaining empowering the board to prevent any person from engaging in any unfair labor practice and providing a procedure for such cases including the issuance of a complaint the conducting of a hearing and the making of an order empowering the board to petition a court of common pleas for the enforcement of its order and providing a procedure for such cases providing for the review of an order of the board by a court of common pleas on petition of any person aggrieved by such order and establishing a procedure for such cases providing for an appeal from the common pleas court to the Supreme Court providing the board with investigatory powers including the power to issue subpoenas and the compelling of obedience to them through application to the proper court providing for service of papers and process of the board prescribing certain penalties" excluding municipal authorities from the definition of employer.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, is this Senate Bill 338?

The SPEAKER. That is correct. Does the gentleman desire to discuss the bill?

Mr. LOVETT. I am just kind of confused again. I don't know what it is all about.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I think I can explain it very simply to the gentleman from Westmoreland. Under the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Act municipalities and employees of political subdivisions, or political subdivisions and municipalities are excluded from the definition of employers. There has therefore been an ambiguity in the act, whether the municipality, authority or municipal authority is outside of the definition of employer, some holding under the case that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, cited yesterday as to the Western Pennsylvania Hospital case, whether as an agency of the Commonwealth it would not come within that definition. To clarify that Messrs. Becker and Dent introduced this bill in the Senate to clarify the definition. In other words this would put the employees of municipal authorities in the same category.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, in order to clarify my own thinking I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman says that there is now some misunderstanding as to whether employees of authorities are in or out of the Labor Relations Act?

Mr. TURNER. It was because of this ambiguity in the clause.

Mr. ANDREWS. This bill resolves the doubt by saying that they are not in the act?

Mr. TURNER. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. And it would have been equally possible to say by statute that they are under the act?

Mr. TURNER. Yes, Mr. Speaker, but all employees of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and any political subdivisions of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are outside of the act.

Mr. ANDREWS. But, Mr. Speaker, I imagine that if we are drawing a bill to the effect that they are not under the act, it would be possible to draw a bill that they are under the act?

Mr. TURNER. I think it would.

Mr. ANDREWS. At the present time, I think, Mr. Speaker, we should ask for at least until Monday to determine whether we here in the House are in agreement with the position arrived at in the Senate.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

Senate Bill No. 338, Printer's No. 98 and

Senate Bill No. 478, Printer's No. 244

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 652, as follows:

An Act terminating the existence of the Pennsylvania Nautical School

Section 1 The affairs of the Pennsylvania Nautical School for the education and training of pupils in the science and practice of navigation shall be wound up and its existence terminated as soon as practicable by the Department of Forests and Waters under such rules and regulations as it shall promulgate with the approval of the Governor

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections." further providing for payment of filing fees in certain cases.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Mr. LAYER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 21, 1947.

Recently, United States Senator Edward Martin was called from the floor of the Senate to meet a delegation of Pennsylvania Communists attending that party's veterans' convention. Since they were Pennsylvanians, Senator Martin heard what they had to say.

At the same time, the Senator impressed upon this group his beliefs as to certain of their activities.

Emphatically, he stated that he would at no time discuss the welfare of American veterans with any group upholding or representing the communistic philosophy, and that he would seek advice concerning veterans' needs only from recognized veterans' organizations and patriotic affiliated groups.

In short, Senator Martin condemned the use of the uniform or veteran status as a cloak behind which to advance communistic ideas in the guise of aid to veterans, and inferentially pointed out the infiltration tactics used as a common weapon by communists; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania commends and congratulates Senator Edward Martin for the forthright stand he has taken on the above occasion; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to United States Senator Edward Martin.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. O'NEILL offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 21, 1947.

The Members of this House of Representatives are saddened to learn of the recent death of Paul A. Barrett, editor and publishing executive of Dunmore, Lackawanna County, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Barrett was a lifelong resident of Dunmore. He was a graduate of St. Paul's High School, Green Ridge, and St. Thomas' College. During World War I, he served in the armed forces, during World War II he was a member of County Draft Board No. 6, Dunmore.

In 1921, Mr. Barrett and William F. Grady formed the Barrett Publishing Company and purchased the Olyphant Gazette. Mr. Barrett was the editor of both the Dunmorean and the Olyphant Gazette and president of the publishing company bearing his name.

Paul A. Barrett was a conscientious citizen active in the civic, political, religious and business life of his community. At the time of his death, he was secretary of the Olyphant Rotary Club, of which he was a charter member and past president. He was also active in the Olyphant Business and Professional Men's Club. He was a member of Local No. 112, International Typographical Union. He was a director of the Fidelity Deposit and Discount Bank of Dunmore. His interest and ability were always solicited in community affairs and will be sorely missed by the members of his community, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the passing of Paul A. Barrett, the Commonwealth and his community of Dunmore lose a son who served them long and well, and be it further

Resolved, That in token of the heartfelt sympathy felt for them by the Members of this House of Representatives, a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted to his widow Mildred Padden Barrett, and their children, Dorothy, Marie, Paul Adrian and Girard.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. LAUGHNER.

The House resumed the consideration on second reading of House Bill No. 982, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the twenty-first day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 51), entitled "An act defining and regulating the practice of Chiropody and providing penalties," by further defining chiropody.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. LAUGHNER offered the following amendments:

Amend sec 1 (Sec. 1), page 2, line 9, by striking out the bracket after the word "skin" and inserting immediately thereafter "the padding, dressing and strapping of the feet; the making of models of the feet and palliative and mechanical treatment of functional disturbances of the feet."

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 1) page 3, lines 12 to 18, by striking out all of said lines.

They were agreed to.

The second section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

be recalled from the Governor for further consideration.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House, which was twice read as follows:

COMMENDING UNITED STATES SENATOR EDWARD MARTIN FOR HIS VIEWS AGAINST COMMUNISM

In the House of Representatives, May 21, 1947.

Recently, United States Senator Edward Martin was called from the floor of the Senate to meet a delegation of Pennsylvania Communists attending that party's veterans' convention. Since they were Pennsylvanians, Senator Martin heard what they had to say.

At the same time, the Senator impressed upon this group his beliefs as to certain of their activities.

Emphatically, he stated that he would at no time discuss the welfare of American veterans with any group upholding or representing the communistic philosophy, and that he would seek advice concerning veterans' needs only from recognized veterans' organizations and patriotic unaffiliated groups.

In short, Senator Martin condemned the use of the uniform or veteran status as a cloak behind which to advance communistic ideas in the guise of aid to veterans, and inferentially pointed out the infiltration tactics used as a common weapon by communists; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania commends and congratulates Senator Edward Martin for the forthright stand he has taken on the above occasion; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to United States Senator Edward Martin.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Which was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, who is the man who introduced this resolution.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is advised by the desk that the resolution was introduced by Representative Layer, of Delaware County.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I think all of us are in opposition to any group which wishes to overthrow our government, preaching and giving foreign ideas and foreign ideologies, but I also want to point out that at the present time in Washington the action of the United States Senate, the United States Congress, is such that more communists will be created in America than ever before.

Due to the type of legislation that has been before the Congress and voted upon by the Senator from Pennsylvania, Mr. Martin, I would say that he is not contributing anything to industrial peace in Pennsylvania or in America. He has been a great advocate, before the election and since elected, of being a great friend of labor, and I believe that he accepted time and time again the support of certain branches of labor and told them that at no time would he ever do anything to disturb or affect collective bargaining in the United States. His very votes on labor legislation while in Congress have proven that he is no friend of labor and that he is doing all he can to serve the interests who gave the greatest contribution to his political campaign, the Manufacturers Association of Pennsylvania. He has not shown the interest in the workers of Pennsylvania that he professed during his campaign and I say to Mr. Martin that his type of thinking, his desire to go back to the old days when he was chairman of the Republican party, in the old days of the coal and iron police and when the paid deputy sheriff system was in force in Pennsylvania, he has shown his desire to go back to those days by his votes in the very short time he has been in the Senate at Washington.

I hear nothing from Senator Martin about the profiteers, the people who are taking food out of the mouths of workers and causing unrest. I have heard nothing of Senator Martin trying to put through the Wagner-Allen-Taft Bill, for housing for the returned veteran he loved so much during his campaign, and I say to you, although all of us are in accord with the stand on communism I say to you that unless Senator Martin does something he shall be responsible for creating more communists in America, unless he goes and gets at the source that creates communism, high prices, low wages, people living in filth and squalor and in the slums of Pennsylvania. Yes, we have, to have high wages and low prices and someone will say immediately that the cause of high prices is because wages have been increased. I say to you that the Taft Survey has proven that our profits are out of proportion to wage increases given to the workers of America and that in cases where they should have increased profits 1.6 per cent they jumped as high as ninety per cent, as, for instance, the Armour Company made 245 per cent more profit in 1946 than in 1945. Those who make foods for children have jumped their profits 290 per cent more in 1946 than they had in 1945.

And, Mr. President, I say to you that this Senate should be sending a resolution to Senator Martin to tell him to destroy the causes that create communism, instead of waving the flag and doing nothing about the high cost of living and of housing and, yes, the squalor that our returned veterans must live in because there are no homes for them on their return after winning the war.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

H. B. 1108 REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE AND RE-REFERRED

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am instructed by the Committee on Judiciary General to report, as committed, House Bill 1108, which was just referred to committee yesterday. In explanation I should like to say that House Bill 1108 is a companion bill to House Bill 1107 which was referred to the Senate Committee on Banking; therefore House Bill 1108 is being reported from the Committee on Judiciary General, in order that it may be re-referred to the Committee on Banking, so that they can be together.

Mr. WALKER, from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed, (House Bill No. 1108), entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (a) of section seven hundred nineteen, and section one thousand seven hundred two of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "Fiscal Code," by changing the times for filing returns and for payment of the tax due in certain cases providing penalties.

which was re-referred to the Committee on Banking.

Mr. HARE, from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1112, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (b) of section two of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of September, one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight (P. L. 53), entitled as amended "An act relating to institutions of counties, cities, wards, boroughs, township, institution districts and other political subdivisions, for the care, maintenance, and treatment of mental patients; providing for the transfer to the Commonwealth for the care, maintenance and treatment of mental patients of such institutions, and all grounds, lands, buildings and personal property of such political subdivisions used for the care and maintenance of indigent persons connected with mental institutions providing for the management and operation or closing and abandonment thereof; and the maintenance of mental patients therein; including the collection of maintenance in certain cases; providing for the retransfer of certain property to counties, cities, wards, boroughs, townships, institution districts and other political subdivisions under certain circumstances; conferring and imposing upon the Governor, the Department of Welfare, the courts of common pleas and counties, cities, wards, boroughs, townships, institution districts and other political subdivisions from maintaining and operating institutions, in whole or in part, for the care and treatment of mental patients; and repealing inconsistent laws," authorizing the Department of Welfare, with the approval of the Governor, to transfer to institution districts for the care and maintenance of indigent persons property no longer required by the Commonwealth for mental hospitals.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WALKER (By Request) read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 788, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six of the act, approved the thirtieth day of March, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 21) entitled "An act defining optometry; and relating to the right to practice optometry in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and making certain exceptions; and providing a Board of Optometrical Education, Examination, and Licensure and means and methods whereby the right to practice optometry may be obtained; and providing for the means to carry out the provisions of this act; and providing for revocation or suspension of licenses given by said board and providing penalties for violations thereof; and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith," further providing for examinations to be given applicants for licensure.

which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. FRAZIER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 789, entitled:

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1035, as follows:

An Act to amend section forty of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1050) entitled "An act relating to the collection of taxes levied by counties county institution districts cities of the third class boroughs towns townships certain school districts and vocational school districts conferring powers and imposing duties on tax collectors courts and various officers of said political subdivisions and prescribing penalties" by providing that the surety on the executor or administrator has been appointed shall have the sole right and power to take over the tax duplicates in which said surety is interester and to proceed to make collections thereon in accordance with the provisions of this section

Section 1 Section forty of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1050) entitled "An act relating to the collection of taxes levied by counties county institution districts cities of the third class boroughs towns townships certain school districts and vocational school districts conferring powers and imposing duties on tax collectors courts and various officers of said subdivisions and prescribing penalties" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 40 Collection of Taxes by Sureties of Defaulting or Deceased Collectors (a) When any tax collector shall default in the payment of the taxes charged on the duplicates either by embezzlement negligence or failure to collect such taxes within the time prescribed by this act it shall be lawful for the surety or sureties on his bond to demand from the tax collector the tax duplicates in which said sureties are interested and the tax collector shall turn over to his said sureties such duplicates of the various taxing districts for which he is collector

(b) If the tax collector shall fail neglect or refuse to turn over such duplicates upon demand made by his surety or sureties it shall be lawful for the surety or sureties to present a petition to the court of common pleas of the county in which such tax collector resides setting forth the fact that such collector has defaulted in making collections The court being satisfied that such default has been made shall make an order to compel the tax collector to turn over his sureties the tax duplicates upon which the sureties are liable

(b-1) When any tax collector shall have died and no executor or administrator within fifteen (15) days thereafter has been appointed to administer his estate the surety or sureties on his bond shall have the right and power after petitioning the court of common pleas of the county in which such deceased tax collector resided and after the said court has entered an order granting the prayer of the said petition to take over the tax duplicates in which said sureties are interested and to proceed to collect the taxes remaining unpaid such duplicates in accordance with the provisions of this section until such time as executor or administrator of the estate of the deceased tax collector shall be appointed at which time the said surety or sureties shall file an accounting of such collections in the court where the said order was entered and shall pay such undistributed fund to said executor or administrator

(c) The holders of such duplicates shall have the right to appoint a collector for such period of time as herein provided to collect the taxes remaining unpaid upon such duplicates any collector so appointed shall have all the authority and power under the warrant issued to the original collector vested by this act The authorities issuing said warrents may issue an additional warrant to the collector of such delinquent taxes upon request of such sureties

(d) The provisions of any law extending the time or any warrant for the collection of taxes on duplicates shall likewise extend to the collection of taxes on such delinquent tax duplicates

(e) Whenever the surety or sureties on the bond of any defaulting or deceased tax collector shall under the provisions of this section undertake to collect delinquent taxes charged in any duplicate delivered to such defaulting tax collector by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the delinquent or shall distrain on the goods and chattels of any person who shall allege that the taxes with which he stands charged have actually been paid or that such person whose goods and chattels have been distrained upon shall deny liability for such taxes then in either event the taxpayer may petition the court of quarter sessions of the county for a stay of any such sale of goods and chattels distrained upon setting forth the reasons therefor

The court shall have to stay such sale pending a hearing of the matter The court shall have power to fix a day for hearing of which due notice shall be given the surety or sureties of such defaulting or deceased tax collector as the court may prescribe

(f) If the court after hearing shall be of the opinion that a taxpayer has actually paid such taxes or is not liable for the taxes with which he stands charged on the duplicate it shall direct satisfaction to be entered on such duplicate by the surety or sureties

(g) The surety or sureties on the bond of any such defaulting or deceased tax collector or any taxpayer shall have the right upon demand made to have a jury pass upon the question whether or not a taxpayer has paid taxes with which he stands charged and if the jury shall find such taxes have been so paid the court shall direct the surety or sureties to enter satisfaction on the duplicate

SENATE MESSAGES

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 10, 1947.

Whereas, Under Resolution, Serial Number 15 of the General Assembly of 1945, the Joint State Government Commission was directed to investigate, survey and consider all penal laws of the Commonwealth and to revise and restate such penal laws in codified form and to report its findings and conclusions at the next regular session of the General Assembly, and

Whereas, The laws of criminal procedure of the Commonwealth to better serve the efficient administration of justice are in need of similar study and codification, and

Whereas, Because of the great importance attached to both the proper study and codification of the penal laws and the laws relating to criminal procedure it would be advisable and advantageous to make further study of the penal laws in conjunction with a study of the laws relating to criminal procedure, therefore be it,

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to continue its survey, investigation and consideration of all the penal laws of the Commonwealth and in connection therewith to survey, investigate and consider the laws of the Commonwealth relating to criminal procedure and to completely revise and restate such penal laws and laws relating to criminal procedure into codified form and to report its findings and conclusions to the next regular session of the General Assembly with a bill or bills embodying a codification of the penal laws and laws relating to criminal procedure of the Commonwealth to be introduced at the next regular session of the General Assembly:

The Legislative Reference Bureau shall prepare the necessary drafts of all bills agreed on by the commission and shall furnish such advice and assistance as it may be called on to furnish.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

HOUSE BILL No. 57.

An Act to add section three thousand seven hundred twenty-two to the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" authorizing the sale of unused and unnecessary land and buildings dedicated to park purposes.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.
The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 1, page 2, line 9, by inserting after the word "purpose," the words "by public auction upon sealed bids or at private sale with approval of the court of common pleas provided nevertheless that before any such sale is made counsel shall advertise said proposed sale in accordance with the publication required under the contract sections of the third class city code" and by striking out on lines 15 through 20; page 3, lines 1 through 9; page 4, lines 1 through 20 and page 5, lines 1 through 5, as follows: "by any of the following methods and subject to the following provisions

(1) By public auction conducted by a licensed auctioneer either on the premises to be sold or at places selected by the council after due notice by publication in or on more newspapers of general circulation published within the city and in the legal newspaper in the county if any once a week for three successive weeks before the date fixed for said sales and by hand bills one or more of which shall be posted on the property proposed to be sold and at least five of which shall be posted at conspicuous places within the vicinity of said real estate. The terms and conditions of the sale shall be fixed by the council in the ordinance authorizing the sales.

(2) Upon sealed bids requested by the council notice of the request for sealed bids to be given as in clause (1) of this section. The terms and conditions of the sale shall be fixed by the council in the ordinance authorizing the request for sealed bids.

(3) At Private Sale

(4) Any sale by whatever method made shall be subject to the approval of the court of common pleas of the county in which the city is located. Such authority shall be secured from the court upon petition of the city. The petition shall be executed by the proper officers and shall contain a full and complete description of the land proposed to be sold, a brief description and character of the building or buildings erected thereon if any, the name of the prospective purchaser, the amount offered for the property and shall have attached thereto an affidavit of at least two persons who are familiar with the values of real estate in the locality in which the land and buildings proposed to be sold are located to the effect that they have examined the property that the price offered therefor is a fair and reasonable one and in their opinion a better price than could be obtained at public sale and that they are not interested either directly or indirectly in the purchase or sale thereof. The court shall fix a time for the hearing of the petition and direct that public notice thereof be given as provided in clause (1) of this section. A return of sale shall be made to the court after the sale has been consummated and the deed executed and delivered.

(5) The council may at its discretion when selling real estate sell and convey such real estate to the purchasers for the accepted consideration payable partly in cash and partly in the form of a purchase money mortgage (and bond) to be paid in not more than five years from the date thereof and bearing interest at the rate of not less than five per centum. Such mortgage and bond shall contain the customary provisions having to do with fire insurance and the payment of taxes, water rents and assessments by the mortgagor and obligor.

(6) The council when selling property at private sale may engage the services of licensed real estate brokers to secure prospective purchasers and pay them the customary real estate agents' commission charged within the city but only in the event the sale is actually consummated by said brokers.

(7) The moneys derived from the sales of real estate shall be used for debt service or for capital expenditures.

On the question,

SENATE BILL NO. 652.

An Act terminating the existence of the Pennsylvania Nautical School

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

RESOLUTION

PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM

Mr. McMILLEN offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 22, 1947.

Whereas, A commission to study and investigate the public school system of this Commonwealth was created by the 1943 session of the General Assembly, and extended in 1945; and

Whereas, An appropriation of $50,000 was made to said commission to conduct such study and investigation and make a report of its findings and recommendations to the 947 session of the General Assembly; and

Whereas, The Commission to Study the Public School system, to date, has not filed a final report of its findings and recommendations; and

Whereas, This present session of the General Assembly is faced with a crisis in Public Education which must be solved; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Executive Secretary of the said commission be directed to file with the membership of the House of Representatives, not later than Monday, May 26, 1947, at 10:00 o'clock a. m., D. S. T., (a) a statement of the reports filed to date, (b) a statement of the reports in preparation, and (c) a summary statement of the commission's recommendations on such topics as teachers' salaries, schedules, subsidies, and taxes relative thereto, as they were discussed or adopted in the regular meetings of the commission held subsequent to the close of the 1945 session of the General Assembly.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I don't know what the hurry is, but somebody seems to be in a great rush. I do not rise to oppose this resolution; indeed I rise to commend it. I am very much in favor of a disposition on the part of the majority to seek information as a basis of its action on facts.

I have pending in the Rules Committee a resolution asking the Chairman of the Education Committee to submit to this House certain definite data regarding teachers' salaries and taxes in other states. It has been comfortably reposing in that Committee for some time, although the information sought is very essential.

I have a resolution pending in committee dealing with the deplorable level of professional salaries in this State, and I just desire to call the attention of the House this morning to a statement carried in one of our Pittsburgh papers as follows:

"Empty Beds with Surplus of Patients—State lacks doctors and nurses in fight on tuberculosis.

"Empty beds in state tuberculosis hospitals, and people with tuberculosis trying to get into them—this is the grim picture facing state health authorities."

The statement is made by the Chief of the Bureau of Tuberculosis in the State Department of Health that there are fourteen hundred idle beds in this State and patients wanting to get into them. The reason for those beds being vacant is the deplorable salaries paid to professional personnel in our state institutions. I have a resolution designed to bring that fact out and to the attention of this House.

There are several other resolutions that are pending that will bring out information essential to the operation of this House, so I commend the gentleman from Indiana in his quest for facts, and I hope that other Members of this General Assembly will be equally diligent.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 438 FROM GOVERNOR

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 22, 1947.

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), that House Bill No. 438, Printer's No. 274, entitled "An act to further amend section three of and add section four to the act approved the twenty-fourth day of May one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (P. L. 129) entitled 'An act to empower boroughs and cities to establish a police pension fund to take property in trust therefor and regulating and providing for the regulation of the same' deleting provisions relating to termination of right to participate in the fund and regulation thereof and providing that compensation or pension is not to be subject to attachment execution assignment or transfer and payable to beneficiary designated in Pennsylvania," be recalled from the Governor for further consideration.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. LAYER offered a resolution which was laid over under the Rules.

Mr. DeLONG offered a resolution which was laid over under the Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on Monday I shall desire to interrogate the leadership regarding the status of the electrical roll call contract, as to whether there is a probability of cessation of work under that contract and whether or not the electrical roll call is something that is likely to come in the future or is a factor that is fast vanishing from our horizon.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. POLASKI. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, May 26, 1947 at 3:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11:00 a. m. EST) the House adjourned.

SENATE

MONDAY, May 26, 1947

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. W. MURRAY YOUNG offered the following prayer:

O Thou who art the Grand Architect of the Universe and our Very God, we thank Thee for all high moments of faith, in Thee, in our fellowmen and in ourselves. When faith is present, moods of doubt seem treason to that changeless world where Thou dost hold forth in the uninvaded and unspoiled realm of the excellent and the true. As another day of service presents itself, may we breathe the pure air of high motive and resolute purpose. Help us to soar far above the dusty and musty planes of the base and trivial. Help us, like Abraham of old, to build an altar of pardon and peace, and may the memories of Thy past mercies kindle a fire of strength, of soul and body, so that in all our deliberations and in all our counselling, we may exhibit the true spirit of justice, equity and beneficence.

Make this historic chamber of our state life a place of vision, a lighthouse of hope, and a citadel of political economy. To this end inspire and challenge these honorable gentlemen of the Senate Body as they seek to effect the highest good for our state and nation.

Send us all forth to waiting tasks, grateful for a sacred heritage worth living and dying for. In His Holy name we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. TALLMAN and Mr. DONLAN, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE STUDY OF PUBLIC LIBRARY SERVICES

Mr. HOMSHER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 26, 1947.

Whereas, There are approximately 2,900,000 citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or 30% of its total population that do not have access to free public library service; and

Whereas, Free public library service in Pennsylvania has not kept pace with other educational services, and great inequality of educational opportunity exists; and

Whereas, The Pennsylvania Library Association has long recognized this situation, and in the hope of remedying the inequalities needs the services of an expert, authoritative and governmental survey that may involve recommended fundamental changes in the basic library laws and financial theory of support; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby requested to make a complete study of public library services throughout the Commonwealth and to report and recommend to the next regular session of the General Assembly such changes in the legal structure, organizing, supervising, and financing of such services as are desirable to promote the establishment of additional libraries, and the adequate maintenance of all public libraries throughout the Commonwealth.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I call from the table House Concurrent Resolution No. 27, Serial No. 32, Printer's No. 130.

The resolution was twice read as follows:

ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY AND POWER PROJECT

In the House of Representatives, March 18, 1947.

Whereas, The St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project will produce no practical benefits for the people of the two countries it is designed to serve and

Whereas, The General Assembly and the citizens of this State are greatly concerned about the effect the completion of this project would have upon them; and

Whereas, The construction of the project would burden the taxpayers of this Commonwealth, and the United States, with an initial sum estimated at from $543,000,000 to $1,350,000,000, and experience in similar public works would indicate that this project would cost much more; and

Whereas, Existing facilities, the Welland Canal, which by-passes Niagara Falls, and the Great Lakes Channels, amply provide for the present lake traffic. The railroads on both sides in the United States and Canada have demonstrated that they are prepared to handle all through traffic offered; and

Whereas, With its channels closed to navigation for about five months of the year, due to ice and weather conditions, it would be unreasonable to expect the railroads to perform the required service during the period that navigation is closed and to be in a position to handle the peak load. The railroads would be required to maintain equipment that would be idle or little used for sixty per cent of the time, and have the added problem of maintaining the personnel organization. Great numbers would have to seek employment elsewhere while tonnage was moved by government subsidized competitors. This situation would greatly affect the ports of Erie and Philadelphia; and

Whereas, Sea-going boats cannot travel this great distance for nothing, and the saving in transportation costs would be exceedingly small, if any; and

Whereas, It would be disastrous to Great Lake shipping, injurious to American rail, highway and inland waterways services, and seriously harmful to the American coal and iron ore industries; and

Whereas, Electrical energy that would be generated could only be used at nearby points, as it has been demonstrated that the cost of transmission over long distances greatly exceeds that generated locally; and

Whereas, Such an agreement, if ratified, would reduce the expectation of manufacturing, mining and agricultural products of this Commonwealth, and result in loss of employment and contribute to increased taxation; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States not to approve the agreement for the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, this resolution is called the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project Resolution.

Every two years this same type of resolution appears before the Senate and the House of Representatives. Two years ago it was passed, but at that time the Federal Congress was made up of a majority of democratic members. The interests behind this type of resolution, which is a restrictive resolution, would necessarily feel, two years ago, that they had to do something to try to call the attention of the Democratic House and Senate to this particular agreement between Canada and the United States, but this time the Federal Congress is made up of a majority of Republicans in the House and Senate, and it seems to me, if the leaders of the Republican party are together at all upon this problem, they need not go before the Senate or the House of Representatives with a memorializing resolution.

Apropos to this particular subject, the Republican Congressmen from Western Pennsylvania recently reprimanded the General Assembly of the state of Pennsylvania because they stated we were taking an interest in matters that are entirely foreign to any knowledge we may have on subjects before the United States Congress.

I might say to the members of the Senate that they should read this resolution before they vote upon it, because there are statements of fact made in this resolution that I doubt if any person in this Senate can verify.

For instance, in the fifth whereas clause, we find this statement:

"The railroads would be required to maintain equipment that would be idle or little used for sixty per cent of the time, and have the added problem of maintaining the personnel organization. Great numbers would have to seek employment elsewhere while tonnage was moved by government subsidized competitors. This situation would greatly affect the ports of Erie and Philadelphia."

Mr. President, I do not want to go into the merits or demerits of the St. Lawrence Seaway plan, but I could give a very accurate picture, I believe, of the situation as it relates to utilities. The basis of the argument against the signing of this agreement is not railroad tonnage, but it is really a question of whether or not there would be for public consumption public power at a much lower rate than now being provided by the utilities in that region.

Mr. President, further than that, I think the language in the sixth whereas clause is particularly informative, if you will listen for just a moment.

"Whereas, sea-going boats can not travel this great distance for nothing, and the savings in transportation costs would be exceedingly small, if any."

Who knows what the savings would be in transportation costs? How many persons in this room know the real reason for the St. Lawrence Seaway is to open up Eastern markets to the great Mid-West, with its vast multitude of products that could be moved to the Eastern markets, in order that the Eastern markets would receive goods they do not now receive because of the fact that they can not be brought to the markets on account of transportation facilities.

Mr. President, this Senate should not be asked to vote upon an important agreement such as this; because we are definitely casting our votes for or against an agreement between two nations, not between two counties, not between two states, but two separate nations, and the members of this assembly are not—I am sure that I, for one, am not acquainted with the international situation well enough to state upon the Senate floor whether or not this agreement should be consummated between the Dominion of Canada and the United States of America.

I leave that problem to people who are conversant with our foreign relations and who are conversant with the problems that arise between the United States and the Dominion of Canada.

Therefore, Mr. President, I believe this resolution should either be sent back to committee or re-laid upon the table.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. MOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HOLLAND and were as follows, viz:

Becker,	Frazier,	Mahany,	Wade,
Berger,	Geltz,	Mallery,	Wagner,
Blass,	Hare,	Snowden,	Walker,
Crider,	Heyburn,	Stevenson,	Watson,
Crowe,	Homsher,	Tallman,	Wilson,
Doehla,	Kephart,	Taylor,	Wolfe,
Donlan,	Letzler,	Tyler,	Wood, T. N.,
Farrell,	Lord,

NAYS—9.

Barr,	Jaspan,	Leader,	Tarr,
Dent,	Klein,	Ruth,	Woodring,
Haluska,

PRESENT—5.

DiSilvestro,	Margie,	Rahauser,	Stiefel,
Holland,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to announce from now on, that on any resolution memorializing Congress I will attempt to give a review, a full review, of the question that is before Congress, because it is embarrassing to members of the Senate, particularly conscientious members on this side of the Senate, who are interested in this problem, in keeping it from becoming a political football, when it means so much to the future welfare of the nation, and therefore these other problems that are purely Congressional problems, shall be reviewed in the Senate, on any question from now on, where there is a resolution memorializing Congress before this Senate Body.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, the record will show that throughout the few sessions that I have been in this body, I have risen in my place on a number of occasions to discuss bills of great importance. Because of the number of bills that are still in committee and which have not come out, that is one reason why I have not so far taken an active part throughout this present session.

There are a number of bills that I am interested in and, if I am permitted to discuss them throughout the dying days of this session, I shall do so.

But today, Mr. President, I have one bill that I am very much interested in, and I believe that every member in this chamber should be interested in.

On the third day of February I offered Senate Bill No. 69, with reference to the salaries of members of the General Assembly. Mr. President, we are called upon throughout this session to adjust salaries of school teachers, labor, employees of the state and other people who are interested in making a livelihood, and yet we find that our own salaries are the same today as they were back in the early twenties. I realize that any increase in salary will not affect any member who is now serving in this body, unless he may be re-elected again.

But, Mr. President, permit me to take you back to 1941, and I know that many of the members will recall that session, when members of the House of Representatives were compelled to sleep in their automobiles, because they could not afford to stay in hotels throughout that long session of 1941.

Today again, Mr. President, we find members of the House of Representatives who can not make both ends meet. We are coming to the place now, Mr. President, where only men who may be wealthy can afford to seek the office of State Senator or to become a member of the House of Representatives; unless a man back home has an income, and a good income, he can not come to this chamber and stay five, six or seven months and hope to go back home and keep his family. This may be a minor thing to some men but I think it is a major problem.

We find that members of Congress today, Mr. President, are receiving in a biennium upwards of $50,000. With all the money paid to a member of Congress he receives upwards of $50,000 in two years, and yet, we, here in this chamber, in this body, receive the meager sum of $3,000 in a biennium. We pay our own expenses, we try to keep ourselves fit here, somewhat in dignity, and at the same time keep our own families back home. I think we should have the courage to tackle this problem, since we are called upon to tackle the problems of other people.

My bill is not a radical bill. Under Senate Bill 69 I set up a salary schedule of $200 per month for each member of the General Assembly, to be paid on the first day of each month as long as that member is in office. A special session would be without pay, and the members would be subject to call by the Governor to act upon any matter that he may deem necessary, without any extra pay. I also set up in that bill a mileage schedule of ten cents a mile. With that we pay our own expenses.

Our neighboring state of New York today pays $5,000 per biennium. We pay $3,000.

The only advancement that has taken place since I have been here, which now is fourteen years, was in this session, when the leadership of this Senate—and with much credit to them, that is, the Republican leadership—provided that each Senator would have a secretary throughout the session. That was the only advancement made within the last fourteen years since I have been a member of both this body and the House of Representatives. They stopped—they did not go far enough, of course.

Serving in this body, Mr. President, is a three hundred sixty-five day a year job, and certainly every member should be provided with a secretary to do his work, if he is sincere and honest throughout the time he is in public office, because after we leave here, within the next few weeks, our work is not completed, as we are called upon daily—not I myself only, but every member of this body is called upon daily to serve his constituents; day and night we have requests, and certainly we should provide each member of the Senate at least with a full-time secretary throughout his tenure of office.

My bill, Mr. President, is in the Committee on State Government. I do not care whether it is my bill or somebody else's bill, but I do hope before we adjourn this session we will have the courage of our convictions and bring out some type of bill which adjusts salaries of the members of the General Assembly.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. MALLERY, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 26, 1947.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, June 2, 1947, at three o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, June 2, 1947, at three-thirty o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

IN MEMORIAM, ROY GRIER BOSTWICK

Mr. WALKER on behalf of Messrs. BARR, DOEHLA, GELTZ, HOLLAND, RAHAUSER, WOLFE and himself, offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 26, 1947

The Members of this Senate are grieved to learn of the death of Roy Grier Bostwick, Esquire, prominent citizen and attorney of Pittsburgh, on May 23, 1947.

A native of Dubois, he was educated in the public schools there: In 1905, he was graduated from Bucknell University where he attained Phi Beta Kappa and in 1908 from the University of Pittsburgh Law School. He was admitted to the Allegheny County Bar in 1909.

During World War I he served with the War Labor Board in Washington, D. C. holding the rank of Major. In World War II he was Chief of the blood bank donor service in the Pittsburgh area.

Mr. Bostwick held no public office, but served his community through a variety of social agencies. He was particularly active in the affairs of the Family Service Association, the Federation of Social Agencies of Pittsburgh, the Boy Scouts of America, and was an elder of the First Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg. He was a member of the Allegheny Board of Assistance. Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 314, as follows:

An Act to further amend sections five and six of the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 566) entitled "An act requiring cities of the first class to establish a pension fund for employees of said cities and all county or other public employees if any paid by appropriation of the city councils thereof and out of the treasury of said cities and regulating the administration and the payment of such pensions" by further prescribing the employees that are required to become members of the pension system of such city and removing optional rate of contribution

Section 1 Section five of the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 566) entitled "An act requiring cities of the first class to establish a pension fund for employees of said cities and all county or other public employees if any paid by appropriation of the city councils thereof and out of the treasury of said cities and regulating the administration and the payment of such pensions" as last amended by the act approved the eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 443) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 5 The city county or other public employees if any herein mentioned shall after the passage of this act pay unto the board of pensions monthly an amount equal to two per centum of their monthly salaries or wages—in no event however except as herein provided shall such employe be required to pay at a rate greater than four dollars a month—which shall be applied to the purposes of this act Whenever two per centum of the monthly salary or wages of any such employe shall exceed the sum of four dollars a month [and] then such employe [after signifying his or her consent in writing to the board of pensions] shall [be permitted to] pay unto the board of pensions four per centum of the portion of his or her salary or other compensation which is over and above the amount of salary or other compensation which is sufficient to require the monthly payment of four dollars a month at the rate of two per centum of such salary or other compensation and he or she shall thereafter be required to pay such increased monthly rate without regard to the limit of four dollars a month [which is herein imposed upon compulsory payments] Provided That such additional monthly payments shall not exceed eight dollars a month and the total monthly payment shall not exceed twelve dollars a month [Payments at a rate of more than four dollars a month shall not be made prior to September first one thousand nine hundred forty-five but shall begin immediately thereafter for all employees who on that date are members of the pension fund and who are eligible and have consented to make such increased monthly payments On and after September first one thousand nine hundred forty-five any employee who shall enter the pension fund and whose salary is sufficient to make him or her eligible to make monthly payments of more than four dollars a month shall at the time of entrance into the pension fund elect in writing whether his or her monthly payments shall be four dollars a month or at the increased rate hereinbefore provided Any employee who is a member of the pension fund on September first one thousand nine hundred forty-five and whose salary or other compensation is such as to require a monthly payment of four dollars or less unto the pension fund shall continue to make such payment but if and when his or her salary or other compensation shall be increased to an extent making such employe to make monthly payments of more than four dollars then such employe on the beginning date of such increased salary or compensation shall elect in writing whether his or her monthly payment shall be four dollars a month or at the increased rate hereinbefore provided] Payment of the monthly amount or contribution herein mentioned shall cease and be discontinued at the time the beneficiary receives the pension herein provided if such beneficiary has so contributed to the pension fund during a period of twenty years If at the time the beneficiary receives the pension herein provided he or she shall not have been a contributor to the pension fund during a period of twenty years such persons shall be required to pay unto the board of pensions an amount equal to four per centum of his or her monthly pension until such time as his or her contribution shall have extended during a period of twenty years If for any cause an employe contributing to the pension fund shall cease to be an employe of any such cities of the first class or other county or public employes paid out of the treasury of such cities before said employe becomes entitled to the pension conferred by this act the total amount of the contributions paid into the pension fund by such employe shall be refunded to him in full, without interest. Provided however If any such employe shall have returned to him or her the amount contributed as aforesaid and shall afterward re-enter such public employment said employe shall not be entitled to the pension designated until twenty years after the said reemployment unless he or she shall return to the pension fund the amount withdrawn in which even the period of twenty years shall be computed from the time said employe first entered the such public service. In the event of the death of any employe before the said employe becomes entitled to the pension aforesaid the said total amount of contributions aforesaid shall be paid over to the state of said deceased employe.

Section 2 Section six of said act as amended by the act approved the fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 689) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 6 Should any person holding a position in [said cities] any city of the first class or any county or other public [employes] employe paid out of the treasury of any such [cities] city as aforesaid be [paid a per diem wage on a salary at a rate of three hundred and sixty dollars each year or less he or she] employed at temporary work with the understanding that it probably will be for a period of not more than three months such employe shall not be compelled to pay or contribute toward the pension fund herein provided for but shall have the option or choice of so doing and in that event only becoming entitled to the pension provided by this act

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 542, as follows:

An Act creating as bodies corporate and politic "Parking Authorities" in cities of the second class prescribing the rights powers and duties of such authorities authorizing such authorities to acquire construct improve maintain and operate parking projects to conduct research of the parking problem and to establish a permanent coordinated system of parking facilities and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor providing for the payment of such bonds and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof conferring the right of eminent domain on such authorities empowering such authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government State political subdivisions of the State or any agency thereof exempting the property and securities of such parking authorities from taxation and conferring exclusive jurisdiction on certain courts over rates

Section 1 Short Title

This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Parking Authority Law"

Section 2 Findings and Declaration of Policy

It is hereby determined and declared as a matter of Legislative finding

(a) That residential decentralization in cities of the second class has been accompanied by an ever increasing trend in the number of persons entering the business sections by private automobile as compared with other modes of transportation

(b) That the free circulation of traffic of all kinds through the streets of cities of second class is necessary to the health safety and general welfare of the public whether residing in the city or traveling to through or from the city in the course of lawful pursuits

(c) That the greatly increased use by the public of motor vehicles of all kinds has caused serious traffic congestion on the streets of cities of the second class

(d) That the parking of motor vehicles on the streets has contributed to this congestion to such an extent as to interfere seriously with the primary use of such streets for the movement of traffic

(e) That such parking prevents the free circulation of traffic in through and from the city impedes rapid and effective fighting of fires and the disposition of police forces in the district and endangers the health safety and welfare of the general public

(f) That such parking threatens irreparable loss in valuations of property in the city which can no longer be readily reached by vehicular traffic

(g) That this parking crisis which threatens the welfare of the community can be reduced by providing sufficient off-street parking facilities properly located in the several residential commercial and industrial areas of the city

(h) That the establishment of a parking authority will promote the public safety convenience and welfare

(i) That it is intended that the authority cooperate with all existing parking facilities so that private enterprise and government may mutually provide adequate parking services for the convenience of the public

Therefore it is hereby declared to be the policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to promote the safety and welfare of the inhabitants thereof by the creation in second class cities of bodies corporate and politic to be known as "Parking Authorities" which shall exist and operate for the purposes contained in this act Such purposes are hereby declared to be public uses for which public money may be spent and private property may be acquired by the exercise of the power of eminent domain

(b) The first return made by a taxing district under the provisions of this act shall also include all taxes for any year or years preceding the year provided for by this section if the lien of such taxes has continued under existing law but a claim for such taxes has not been reduced to judgment and for such purpose the lien of such taxes shall be further continued for the purpose of making return of such taxes and the making of the claim therefor absolute under the provisions of this act

(c) No taxes shall be returned by any taxing district where the owner is paying his delinquent taxes under the provisions of any act of Assembly abating penalties interest and costs unless there has been a default in payment by the owner in which case or at any time when a yearly return is being made after any such default return shall be made of the balance due as fixed by the Act of Assembly abating penalties interest and costs or either The lien of all such taxes shall be continued for the purpose of making a return thereof and collecting the same under the provisions of this act

(d) The taxing district shall have power to require its tax collector to adjust his duplicate from time to time as may be required by the taxing district and to finally settle and adjust the tax duplicate in his possession within such time as will enable it to make the return herein provided for within the time required All laws providing for the adjustment and settlement of duplicates prior to the time fixed by the taxing districts as herein provided are hereby repealed insofar as they apply to the time fixed for the settlement of duplicates

Section 307 Filing Claims Testing Validity of Old Claims Joinder of Claim of Taxing Districts (a) Claims for taxes against property so returned must be entered by the bureau in the office thereof in suitable dockets

(b) Claims for taxes due on property heretofore returned to the county commissioners and certified to the county treasurer for tax sale purposes under existing law must if no sale on such claims has been held be transferred to the bureau from the office of the county treasurer on or before the first Monday of May one thousand nine hundred forty-eight In cases where an owner is paying taxes under the provisions of any act of Assembly abating penalties interest and costs or either the claims must likewise be transferred as herein provided but no costs involved in such transfer shall be chargeable to the owner so long as he is not in default in his payments Such costs shall be payable by the county except where there is a default

(c) Before the bureau makes any transfer of tax claims from the office of the county treasurer and enters the same in the proper dockets the director shall examine such returns and determine in writing those claims if any the liens of which in his opinion have been lost or the returns of which are invalid on their face and which cannot be corrected The director shall file his findings in the office of the bureau and copies thereof shall be furnished to any taxing district having an interest in any claims determined by the director to have been lost or invalid The director shall within ten (10) days after such filing give notice once a week for two (2) consecutive weeks in two (2) newspapers of general circulation if so many are published in the county and in the legal journal if any designated by the court for the publication of legal notices (1) of the date of his filing of such findings (2) where a copy of the findings may be secured and (3) that any taxing district having objection to the findings may file exceptions with the bureau within fifteen (15) days from the date of the filing of the findings If after hearing thereon the exceptions are disallowed by the bureau the taxing district may within fifteen (15) days thereafter appeal by petition to the court of common pleas specifically setting forth the findings to which objection is made the reasons therefor and the refusal of the bureau to sustain their exceptions Upon the filing of the petition in open court the court shall order the petition and the findings of the director and any other petitions filed docketed to the same number and shall fix a day for hearing the petitions of which such notice shall be given to all parties interested as the court may direct. After hearing the court shall enter its order either affirming, modifying or reversing the findings of the director as to it shall appear just and proper. The claims held lost or invalid by the findings of the director where there has been no appeal or after affirmation or modification of such findings by the court or in the opinion of the court reversing the findings of the director shall not thereafter be further proceeded with. The decisions of the court shall be final.

(d) Not later than the thirtieth day of June each year the bureau shall make up from the tax returns received from the taxing districts as aforesaid a claim for each property returned which shall contain the unpaid taxes against such property which are due all taxing districts as found in the various returns. Such claims shall be entered by the bureau in a suitable claim docket and may be in the form of written or typewritten lists. A claim shall cover the unpaid taxes due all taxing districts but the amount due each taxing district shall nevertheless be shown separately. A number of years' taxes of different kinds may be included in one claim. Any claim shall be amendable by leave of the bureau upon notice to the defendant as the bureau may require.

Section 308 Notice of Filing of Returns and Entry of Claim

(a) Not later than the thirtieth day of June of each year the bureau shall give notice of the return of said taxes and the entry of such claim to each delinquent taxable by United States registered mail return receipt requested postage prepaid addressed to the owner at his last known post office address. If no post office address of the owner is known or if a notice mailed to an owner at such last known post office address is not delivered to him by the postal authorities then notice as herein provided shall immediately be posted on the property affected. Each mail and posted notice shall (1) show all the information shown on the claim entered (2) state that if payment of the amount due the several taxing districts for said taxes is not made to the county treasurer on or before the thirty-first day of December next following or no exceptions thereto filed the said claim shall become absolute (3) state that on July first of the year in which such notice is given the one (1) year period of redemption shall commence to run and that if redemption is not made during that period as provided by this act the property shall be sold at judicial sale and there shall be no further redemption after such sale.

(b) In the case of claims for taxes heretofore filed in the office of the prothonotary which have not been heretofore reduced to judgment where the lien of such claim has not been lost the respective taxing districts shall return to the bureau on or before the first Monday of May one thousand nine hundred forty-eight a complete list of such claims and the properties against which the same are filed and the bureau shall give such owners the same notice as above provided.

(c) Notice given in the manner provided by this section shall constitute proper service on the owner. A statement in the claim entered that due notice of the same was given shall be conclusive evidence that notice was given as required by law.

(d) The costs of such mail and posted notices shall be taxed as part of the costs of the proceedings and shall be paid by the owner the same as other costs.

Section 309 Contents of Claims Entered. All claims for taxes returned made up as a claim and entered in the claim docket in the bureau shall set forth

(a) The names of the taxing districts for which filed
(b) The name of the owner of the property against which it is filed

(c) A description of the property against which the claim is filed sufficient to identify the same. A description of the property shall be deemed sufficient if it contains (1) a reference to a record of a deed or other instrument of conveyance which describes the property or (2) a reference to the number or numbers and block of the property in a plan recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county and the record of such plan or (3) a reference to the number on any lot and block plan officially adopted by a taxing district or (4) a statement of the street and number of the property as officially designated by public authorities of a taxing district as of the time the property was assessed or (5) where the property is not identified by reference to the record of a deed or other instrument of conveyance and may not be identified by street and number or by recorded plan or by a lot and block plan a statement of the approximate acreage of the property and the name of at least one (1) owner of adjoining property if such statement is accompanied by information showing the character of and use to which the property is devoted as for instance "dwelling and lot" "vacant lot" "vacant land" or "hotel restaurant apartment house office building bank building manufacturing plant industrial plant and the lands belonging thereto" or "farm and the buildings thereon" or "plant nursery and buildings thereon" or "forest or woodland" or "wasteland" or "coal oil or other mineral severed from the surface" etc or intelligible abbreviations thereof. A variation in the description of the property given in the claim filed from that shown on the assessment for tax purposes shall not constitute an irregularity and shall not invalidate the claim. The aforesaid description shall not be deemed exclusive.

(d) The year or years period or periods for which the respective taxes were levied and the amount of taxes due for each year or period and the penalties and interest due thereon at the time of filing.

(e) That due notice of the returns of such taxes the entry of the claim and that the same would become absolute if no exceptions were filed was given to the owner in the manner required by law.

Said claim shall be entered in the office of the bureau in the proper claim docket and be signed by or have stamped thereon a facsimile signature of the director.

Section 310 Property Included in Claims. The property described in tax claims shall include the whole property against which the tax was levied. In all cases where a tax is levied on separate and distinct properties as one estate the taxing district shall upon request before a claim therefor is entered in the claim docket apportion the same rateably upon the separate and distinct properties. The bureau to which any such tax has been returned on proof that the properties were separate and distinct at the time the tax was levied shall apportion the charge against such properties. When apportioned they shall be treated and considered in all respects as if separate and distinct claims had been entered. Payment and satisfaction of any one portion may be made without prejudice to the claim as against the rest.

Section 311 Claims Become Absolute. On the first day of January next following the notice hereinbefore prescribed if the amount of the tax claim referred to in the notice has not been paid or no exceptions thereto filed the claim shall become absolute. Every such claim shall bear interest as hereinbefore provided to the date of payment or date of sale held under the provisions of this act except in the case of claims where the owner is paying his taxes under the provisions of any law abating penalties interest and costs or either in which case the claim shall bear no interest and costs unless there is a default in payment in which case interest shall run on the amount due on the claim at the time of default and penalties interest and costs abated shall be added as provided by the act of Assembly abating the same.

Section 312 Lien Lost if not Returned or Transferred to Bureau. Any such claim for taxes if such taxes were returned to the bureau or transferred from the office of the county treasurer to the bureau within the time required by this act shall remain a lien upon said property until fully paid and satisfied or until said property shall be sold as provided in this act. If a tax is not returned or transferred to the bureau within the time required by this act its lien on the property shall be wholly lost. But where a tax has not been returned or transferred as required by this act a taxing district may nevertheless proceed by action in assumpsit to recover the amount of any taxes due and owing by an owner at any time within six (6) years after the taxes first became due

Section 313 Substitution of Defendants Any taxing district may before or after return of a claim to the bureau but before such claim shall become absolute on its own motion strike off the name of any defendant in any claim filed and may substitute as a defendant any person who may have an interest in the property as owner or who is the personal representative of an owner who has died but such substitution shall always be without prejudice to any intervening rights and in such cases notice of the proposed substitution shall first be given by the taxing district to all parties in interest

Section 314 Proceeding to Attack Validity of Claim

(a) Any claim for taxes may prior to the time it becomes absolute be set aside or reduced in amount by the bureau in which it is filed if the claim is found invalid in whole or in part by reason of the fact that the taxes for which the claim was entered were paid in whole or in part to a proper officer or agent of the taxing district

Any such claim prior to the time it becomes absolute may be set aside or reduced in amount by the court of common pleas on appeal as hereinafter provided for any reason which constitutes a just sufficient and valid defense to the claim in whole or in part except want of notice of the return and entry of the claim by the bureau or for any dispute in the amount of the claim which involves the amount of the assessed valuation of the property or the validity of the tax levied

(b) Any defendant in any such claim at any time before the first day of January next following the notice as aforesaid may file with the bureau exceptions to the claim as entered or to any part of the claim. The bureau after giving due notice to the taxing districts interested shall hold a hearing thereon and either disallow the exceptions or allow the exceptions in whole or in part and strike off or reduce the claim in accordance with the evidence produced and the powers of the bureau as hereinbefore prescribed

If the defendant is aggrieved by the decision of the bureau he may within fifteen (15) days after notice thereof of appeal by petition to the court of common pleas of the county setting forth the defense he has to the claim or any part thereof and the refusal of the bureau to allow his exceptions and strike off or reduce the amount of the claim. Thereupon the court shall grant a rule on the taxing district or districts to show cause why the claim should not be set aside or reduced in amount as prayed for in the petition. The petitioners shall give notice of such proceeding to the bureau

(c) The issues raised by the petition and the answer thereto by the taxing district or districts shall be tried by the court or a jury

(d) The petition and the answer or answers thereto if an issue of fact is raised shall be endorsed with a statement signed by the party or his attorney in the following form

"Jury trial demanded" or

"Jury trial waived"

The endorsement of "jury trial waived" on both petition and answer or answers shall be deemed a waiver of a trial by jury of every issue in the proceeding

(e) No taxpayer shall have the right to proceed to open a claim absolute under the provisions of this act except on the ground of payment of the tax involved or failure to receive notice. The remedy provided by this section to contest a tax claim entered shall be deemed exclusive except as herein otherwise provided

(f) After verdict by the court or the jury the court shall by its final order either affirm or set the claim aside or reduce the amount of the claim and fix the proper amount thereof in accordance with the verdict and shall assess the costs of the proceedings as it shall determine. Any party aggrieved by the final order entered in the proceeding may appeal to the Superior or Supreme Court as in other cases. Upon final order of the court or upon final disposition thereof upon appeal to the Supreme or Superior Court if the entire claim has not been set aside such return shall become absolute

Section 315 Entry and Indexing of Claims Satisfaction Every return made to and every claim made up by the bureau and the result of every proceeding thereon entered in accordance with this act shall be docketed in appropriate dockets in the office of the bureau and entered in suitable indexes and when so entered shall continue the lien of the tax against the property charged with the tax

When a claim is stricken off or reduced or satisfied by payment or a sale has been held of the property covered by the claim the director shall cause a note thereof to be made on such docket and index and shall authenticate the same

Article IV

Sequestration

Section 401 Petition for Sequestrator After the expiration of twenty (20) days from the time the claim becomes absolute except in cases where the property is essential to business of a quasipublic corporation the court shall on the petition of the bureau appoint it as sequestrator of the rents issues and profits of the property bound by the claim

Section 402 Authority for Petition The bureau may present any such petition on its own motion and shall do so at the request in writing of any taxing districts

Section 403 Procedure to Obtain Possession If either the owner against whom the claim is entered being in possession of the property sequestered or the party in possession refuse to pay a fair rent to the sequestrator the court shall upon the petition filed grant a rule on the property owner or party in possession to show cause why possession of the property should not be delivered to the sequestrator. The petition and rule shall be served on the owner or party in possession in such manner and within such time as the court may direct. If the rule is made absolute the court shall award a writ in the nature of a writ of habere facias possessionem directed to the owner or party in possession commanding him to deliver possession to the sequestrator within fifteen (15) days thereafter unless such property is occupied by the owner and his family for a home in which case he shall be commanded to deliver possession within thirty (30) days thereafter

Section 404 Powers of Sequestrator A sequestrator shall have power to retain possession of the property as sequestrator until all taxes owing to the several taxing districts shall have been collected or paid. He shall have power (a) to lease the property for a period not exceeding one (1) year with the usual privilege of renewal or termination thereof upon three (3) months' notice but not for the purpose of extracting any minerals or oil or the cutting of timber (b) to make such repairs to the property as may be reasonably necessary to restore and maintain it in a tenable condition and to carry insurance on such property (c) to advertise the property for rent (d) to collect the costs of repairs advertising and commissions of rental agents from rentals collected or from a redeeming owner (e) to sell and dispose of growing crops and (f) to appoint a licensed real estate broker or agent as agent to collect the rentals of the property and pay such agents the customary commissions for rent collections. The bureau shall not in any case without prior approval of the county commissioners or in case of cities of the first class the city council incur any expense for the maintenance repair or alteration of any property in excess of eighty per centum (80%) of the amount of rental to be received from such property within a period of one (1) year under a lease entered into at or before the time such expense is incurred. All commissions costs and necessary expenses shall be deducted from the rents collected before paying the net balance towards taxes

Section 405 Return of Possession Any owner of the property may redeem it from the sequestrator and be again entitled to possession thereof upon payment of the amount of taxes then owing upon the property after the payment of commissions costs and expenses of the sequestration proceedings Upon payment of all taxes and costs or the satisfaction of the taxes and costs by collection of rentals the sequestrator shall transfer possession of the property to the owner subject to any existing lease given by the sequestrator which lease shall be assigned to the owner The sequestrator shall in such cases enter satisfaction on the record of the tax claim

In any case where it appears to the sequestrator that property taken into possession does not yield any revenue or not sufficient revenue to continue in possession thereof he may with the consent of the court return possession of the property to the owner subject to any existing lease given by the sequestrator and thereafter such property may be sold at the next sale held at least ninety (90) days after such return of possession in the manner provided by this act

Section 406 General Powers and Remedies of Sequestrator Sequestrators appointed under this act shall have and exercise all the powers and shall be entitled to use all remedies conferred by law upon sequestrators in other proceedings so far as applicable

Article V

Section 501 Redemption of Property From Effects of Tax Claims

(a) Any owner his heirs or legal representatives or any lien creditor his heirs assigns or legal representative or other person interested may within one (1) year after the first day of July of the year in which the claim was filed and notice given redeem such property for the benefit of the owner by payment to the bureau of the amount of the aforesaid claim and interest thereon the amount of any other tax claim or tax judgment due on such property and interest thereon and the amount of all accrued taxes which remain unpaid the record costs including pro rata costs of the notice or notices given in connection with the returns or claims

The bureau shall receive and receipt for said payments and shall make distribution thereof through the county treasurer to the taxing districts entitled thereto The bureau shall forthwith acknowledge the receipt of the redemption moneys by entering satisfaction on the record of the claim in the office of the bureau which shall be signed by the director

(b) When any property is so redeemed by a lien creditor or his heirs assigns or legal representatives or by any person interested for the benefit of the owner the bureau shall issue to the person redeeming such property a certificate stating the fact of such redemption a brief description of the property redeemed and the amount of the redemption money paid which certificate may be entered in the office of the prothonotary of the county as a judgment against the owner of the property for the amount stated therein The lien of any such judgment shall have priority over all other liens against such property in the same manner and to the same extent as the taxes involved in the redemption

(c) There shall be no redemption of any property after the sale thereof

Article VI

Sale of Property

Section 601 Date of Sale (a) Commencing on the second Monday of July of each year or on any day to which a sale may be adjourned or readjourned such adjournment not to be for a longer period than sixty (60) days or any day to which a sale may be continued the bureau shall sell such property (except where the property is essential to the business of quasi-public corporations) against which a tax claim has become absolute and the period of redemption has expired (without the property having been redeemed) or against which a tax judgment has heretofore been entered under any other law which judgment has not been satisfied and on which a sale has not been stayed by agreement in the manner hereinafter provided and where the property subject to the claim or judgment is not or no longer remains in possession of the sequestrator The bureau may for convenience and because of the number of properties involved schedule sales of property in various taxing districts or wards thereof on different dates but all sales except as herein otherwise provided shall be held by the bureau by the end of the said calendar year Taxing districts shall notify the bureau of tax judgments which have prior to the effective date of this act been entered under any other law in order that properties subject to the lien of such judgments may be included in the sale

(b) No property shall be exposed to sale where the delinquent taxes involved in a claim are being paid by the owner under any law abating penalties interest and costs or either unless there has been a default by the owner in payment in which case the sale of the property shall be proceeded with as herein provided at the time fixed for the next scheduled sale occurring at least (90) days after such default

Section 602 Notice of Sale Prior to any scheduled sale the bureau shall give notice thereof once a week for three (3) consecutive weeks in two (2) newspapers of general circulation in the county if so many are published therein and once in the legal journal if any designated by the court for the publication of legal notices Such notice shall set forth (a) the purposes of such sale (b) the time of such sale (c) the place of such sale (d) the terms of the sale including the approximate upset price (e) the descriptions of the properties to be sold as stated in the claims entered each description commencing with "....."

Name of Owner

Description

The description may be given in intelligible abbreviations

Such published notice shall be addressed to the "owners of properties described in this notice and to all persons having tax liens tax judgments or municipal claims against such properties"

In addition to such publications notice of the sale shall also be given by the bureau by United States registered mail return receipt requested postage prepaid to each owner at least ten (10) days before the date of sale addressed to his last known post office address or if no post office address is known or if the notice addressed to the owner is not delivered to the owner by the postal authorities such notice shall be posted on the property

The published notice the mail notice and the posted notice shall each state that the sale of any property may at the option of the bureau be stayed if the owner thereof or any lien creditor of the owner on or before the date of sale enters into an agreement with the bureau to pay the taxes in instalments in the manner provided by this act and the agreement entered into

In case the property of any corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association is advertised for sale the bureau shall give to the Department of Revenue the notice required by section one thousand four hundred two of the Fiscal Code of the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343)

No sale shall be defeated and no title to property sold shall be invalidated because of proof that mail notice as herein required was not received by the owner

The costs of such advertisement and notices shall be taxed as part of the costs of such proceedings and shall be paid by the owner the same as other costs

Section 603 Agreements to Stay Sale Any owner or lien creditor of the owner may at the option of the bureau prior to the date of any scheduled sale enter into an agreement in writing with the bureau to stay the sale of the property upon the payment of twenty-five per centum (25%) of the amount due on all tax claims and tax judgments filed or entered against such property and the interest on the taxes returned to date as provided by this act and agreeing therein to pay the balance of said claims and judgments and the interest thereon in not more than three (3) instalments (the last instalment to include all costs due) all within one (1) year of the date of said agreement the agreement to specify the dates on or before which each instalment shall be paid and the amount of each instalment and the costs So long as said agreement is being fully complied with by the taxpayer the sale of the property covered by the agreement shall be stayed But in case of default in such agreement by the owner or lien creditor the bureau after written notice of such default given by United States mail postage prepaid to the owner or lien creditor at the address stated in the agreement shall proceed with the sale of such property in the manner herein provided at the next scheduled sale of property to be held at least ninety (90) days after such default

Section 604 Sales of Property of Quasi-Public Corporation Where a claim becomes absolute and the property covered thereby is essential to the business of a quasi-public corporation the bureau shall have the right of execution thereupon as in cases of judgments against such corporations Upon the distribution of any fund realized by a sale of the franchises and the whole or any part of the property and assets of the corporation the court shall determine the actual value of the property bound by the tax claim and the claim shall be preferred with other like claims to the extent of the value of the property thus determined

Section 605 Upset Sale Price The bureau shall fix as the upset price to be realized at the sale of any property upon a claim absolute the sum of (a) the tax liens of the Commonwealth (b) the amount of the claim absolute and interest thereon on which the sale is being held (c) the amount of any other tax claim or tax judgment due on such property and interest on the judgment to the date of sale (d) the amount of all accrued taxes whether or not returned a record of which shall be furnished to the bureau by tax collectors receivers of taxes and taxing districts (e) the amount of the municipal claims against the property and (f) the record costs and costs of sale including pro rata costs of the publication of notice and costs of mail and posted notices in connection with the return of the claim and mail and posted notices of sale

It shall be the duty of all taxing districts having municipal claims against any such property to certify the amount thereof to the bureau for the purpose of including the same in the upset price

No sale of property shall be made by the bureau unless a bid equal to the upset price is made and where sufficient is not bid the sale shall be continued from month to month without further advertisement for not more than three (3) months in order to give the bureau a chance to sell the property at private sale or to petition court for an order to sell the same freed and discharged of all liens as hereinafter provided

Section 606 Payments by Purchasers at Sales The purchaser of any property at any such sale shall as soon as the property is struck down pay to the bureau the entire purchase money In case said amount is not so paid the sale shall be voided and the property shall be put up again at the same sale

Section 607 Bureau's Return to Court Notice Confirmation Appeal (a) It shall be the duty of the bureau not later than sixty (60) days after a scheduled sale was held to make a consolidated return to the court of common pleas of the county wherein it shall set forth (1) a brief description of each property exposed to sale (2) the name of the owner in whose name it was assessed (3) a reference to the record of the tax claim on which the sale was held (4) the time when and the newspapers in which the advertisement for sale was made with a copy of said advertisement (5) the time of sale (6) the name of the purchaser if any and (7) the price for which each property was sold or that no bid was made equal to the upset price and the property was not sold Upon the presentation of said return if it shall appear to said court that such sale has been regularly conducted under the provisions of this act the said return and the sales so made shall be confirmed nisi

(b) The bureau shall at the expense of the county within ten (10) days after confirmation nisi of the return publish a general notice once in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county and in the legal journal if any designated by rules of court for the publication of legal notices stating (1) that the return of the bureau with respect to any such sale for taxes has been presented to the court (2) giving the date of such presentation and (3) that objections or exceptions thereto may be filed by any owner or lien creditor within sixty (60) days after the date of return otherwise the return will be confirmed absolutely

(c) In case no objections or exceptions are filed to any such sale within sixty (60) days after the date of return a decree of absolute confirmation shall be entered as of course by the prothonotary

(d) Any objections or exceptions to such a sale may question the regularity or legality of the proceedings of the bureau in respect to such sale but may not raise the legality of the taxes on which the sale was held or of the return thereof to the bureau or the claim entered therefor In case any objections or exceptions are filed they shall be disposed of according to the practice of the court If the same are overruled or set aside a decree of absolute confirmation shall be entered by the court

(e) If such objections or exceptions are sustained and the court deems the defect not amendable it shall by its order or decree invalidate the sale and order another sale to be held in conformity with this act at such time and under such conditions as it shall fix

(f) From the decision of the court of common pleas any party interested may appeal to the Supreme or Superior Court as in other cases

(g) If no objections or exceptions are filed or where objections or exceptions are finally overruled and the sale confirmed absolutely the validity of the tax its return for nonpayment the entry of the claim or the making of such claim absolute and the proceedings of the bureau with respect to such sale or the time of holding the sale or of petitioning court for an order of sale shall not thereafter be inquired into judicially in equity or by civil proceedings by the person in whose name such property was sold his or her or theirs or his her of their grantees or assigns or by any lien creditor or other person whatever There shall be no period of redemption after such sale and the sale shall be deemed to pass a good and valid title to the purchaser free from any liens or encumbrances whatsoever except such liens as are hereafter specifically saved and in all respects as valid and effective as if acquired by a sheriff's deed

Section 608 Deed When the purchaser has paid the amount of his bid it shall be the duty of the bureau to make to the said purchaser his or their heirs or assigns a deed in fee simple for the property sold Each such deed shall be duly acknowledged before the prothonotary by the director and a notation of such deed and acknowledgment shall be duly entered on the proper records The deed shall before delivery be recorded in the office for the recording of deeds at the cost of the purchaser

Section 609 Certain Liens Divested by Sale Every such sale shall discharge the lien of every obligation claim lien or estate with which said property may have or shall become charged or for which it may become liable except no such sale shall discharge the lien of any ground rent or mortgage which shall have been recorded before such taxes became liens and which is or shall be prior to all other liens except other mortgages and ground rents

Section 610 Proceedings When Upset Price Not Bid In cases where the upset price shall not be bid at any such sale the property shall not be sold at that time and the sale shall be continued from month to month for not more than three (3) months without further advertising and the bureau shall sometime within one (1) year from the date of such sale file its petition in the court of common pleas of the county setting forth the tax claim upon which the property was exposed for sale that neither the owner his heirs or legal representatives or any lien creditor his heirs assigns or legal representatives or other person interested has redeemed the property that the property was exposed to public sale and the date of such sale that before exposing the property to public sale the bureau fixed an upset price as herein provided and that it was unable to obtain a bid sufficient to pay said upset price Upon the presentation of such petition accompanied with searches showing the state of the record and the ownership of the property and all tax and municipal claims liens mortgages and ground rents against the same the court shall grant a rule upon all parties thus shown to be interested to appear and show cause why a decree should not be made that said property be sold freed and cleared of their respective claims liens mortgages and ground rents The rule shall be made returnable in not more than thirty (30) days from the date the petition was presented

Section 611 Service of rule Service of the rule shall be made in the same manner as writs of scire facias are served in this Commonwealth When service cannot be made in the county where the rule was granted the sheriff of the county shall deputize the sheriff of any other county in this Commonwealth where service can be made If service of the rule cannot be made in this Commonwealth then the rule shall be served on the person named in the rule by the sheriff by sending him by registered mail return receipt requested postage prepaid at least fifteen (15) days before the return day of the rule a true and attested copy thereof addressed to such persons last known post office address The sheriff shall attach to his return the return receipts and if the person named in the rule has refused to accept the registered mail or cannot be found at his last known address shall attach evidence thereof This shall constitute sufficient service under this act

Section 612 Hearing and Order If upon hearing the court is satisfied that service of the rule has been made upon the parties named in the rule in the manner provided by this act and that the facts stated in the petition are true it shall order and decree that said property be sold at a subsequent day to be fixed by the court freed and cleared of all tax and municipal claims mortgages liens charges and estates of whatsoever kind to the highest bidder and that the purchaser at such sale shall take and thereafter have an absolute title to the property sold free and clear of all tax and municipal claims mortgages liens charges and estates of whatsoever kind except ground rents separately taxed Out of the proceeds of such sale shall be paid the costs set forth in the upset price at the prior sale and the additional costs incurred relative to this sale including the fee for title search not to exceed fifteen dollars ($15) The remainder of said proceeds shall be distributed by the county treasurer as hereinbefore provided After the purchaser shall have paid over the purchase price the bureau shall make and deliver a deed in the manner hereinbefore provided When aforesaid petition for sale is presented within three (3) months after the date of the former sale the court on its order shall direct that no further advertisement is required In cases where said petition is presented after the three (3) month period has expired the court shall in its order fixing a subsequent sale direct that the readvertisement of such sale need not be published three (3) consecutive weeks nor include a list and description of the lands to be sold but need only be advertised by one (1) insertion in one (1) or two (2) newspapers as hereinbefore provided for such advertisement at least thirty (30) days prior to the sale and include the purpose the time the place and the terms of such sale with a reference to the prior advertisement

In any such petition for sale the bureau may if it deems the same advantageous request the court to fix the place of sale at the property to be sold and if the court is convinced the taxing districts interested will be benefited thereby it shall order the sale to be held on the property to be sold

Section 613 Properties Not Sold Because of Insufficient Bid May be Sold at Private Sale (a) Any time within one (1) year after any property has been exposed to public sale and such sale is continued because no bid was made equal to the upset price as hereinbefore provided the bureau may on its own motion and shall on the written instructions of any taxing district having any tax claims or tax judgments against said property agree to sell the property at private sale at any price approved by the bureau Notice of the proposed sale stating the price and the property proposed to be sold shall be given to each such taxing district and to the owner of the property The corporate authorities of any taxing district having any tax claims or tax judgments against the property which is to be sold or the owner may if not satisfied that the sale price approved by the bureau is sufficient within fifteen (15) days after notice of the proposed sale petition the court of common pleas of the county to disapprove the sale The court shall in such case after notice to each such taxing district the owner the bureau and the purchaser hear all interested parties After such hearing the court may either confirm or disapprove the sale as to it appears just and proper If the sale is disapproved the court shall at the same time fix a price below which such property shall not be sold

(b) When an offer to purchase any such property has been received and the price has been disapproved by the bureau the bureau shall on the written instructions of any interested taxing district submit by petition the proposed sale to the court of common pleas of the county for approval The court shall after affording the owner and each taxing district having any tax claims or tax judgments against the property an opportunity to be heard on such notice as the court deems appropriate approve or disapprove the sale If the court approves the sale it shall be consummated with like effect as though it had been approved by the bureau and by all taxing districts having said interest

Section 614 Options (a) The bureau shall have the right to accept option money to bind the private sale of any such property at the price offered therefor which shall be credited to the purchase price when the sale is effected or be retained for the use of the taxing districts if the purchase price is not paid over But if the purchase price is not approved or confirmed as hereinbefore provided and the sale is not consummated for that reason the option money shall be returned to the prospective purchaser (b) Before a petition is presented to court for a subsequent sale as herein provided the bureau shall have the right to accept option money from any person who agrees to bid a certain agreed price for the property at the sale and such money shall be credited to the purchase price if such person purchases the property at the sale at a price not less than the agreed price If said person does not bid the amount agreed upon or more or if the purchase price is not paid over then the option money shall be retained for the use of the taxing district But if the property is sold to any other bidder for a price in excess of the agreed offer the option money shall be returned to the person having deposited the same (c) Such option money shall be deposited in the county treasury

Section 615 Deeds When the price for the private sale of any said property has been finally approved or confirmed as hereinbefore provided the bureau shall upon payment over of the purchase price less the option money if any make to the purchaser his or their heirs or assigns a deed in fee simple for the property sold Each such deed shall be in the name of the bureau as trustee grantor and shall be duly acknowledged before the prothonotary by the director Such deed shall convey title to the purchaser free clear and discharged of all tax claims and tax judgments whether or not returned filed or entered as provided by this or any other act

Section 616 When Bureau Shall Petition Court for Public Sale to Divest All Liens The bureau may on its own motion during or after the aforesaid continuance of the prior sale after receiving the consent of all taxing districts having any tax claims or tax judgments against said property and shall on the written directions of such taxing districts file its petition in the court of common pleas for an order to sell the property at public sale free and discharged from all tax and municipal claims mortgages liens charges and estates of whatsoever kind in the manner hereinbefore provided. If within the period of ten (10) months after the date of said prior sale the said petition has not been filed or the property sold at private sale the bureau shall within the next immediately following two (2) months file its petition as aforesaid and sell the property at the time and place prescribed in the order of court if such order is made.

Section 617 Errors as to Descriptive Names etc May be Amended on Petition. When a property has been sold at public sale as herein provided and there are errors in the description or in the spelling of any person's name or other obvious errors in the claim or in the return to court or in any petition relative to the proceedings or in the bureau's tax deed such error may be amended by a petition to court for a rule on all parties interested to show cause why the records should not be amended and such errors corrected. After hearing on the rule the court may make such order relative thereto as to it seems just and proper.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order, .

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 580, as follows:

An Act to further amend section twenty-one of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine" by establishing an exemption for capital actually and exclusively employed in coal mining or coal mining and preparation plant business with regard to the capital stock tax and franchise tax on domestic and foreign corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships and companies

Section 1 Section twenty-one of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine" as last amended by the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 606) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 21 (a) That every domestic corporation other than corporations of the first class nonprofit corporation and cooperative agricultural associations not having capital stock and not conducted for profit and every joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever from which a report is required under the twentieth section hereof shall be subject to and pay into the treasury of the Commonwealth annually through the Department of Revenue a tax at the rate of five mills upon each dollar of actual value of its whole capital stock of all kinds including common special and preferred as ascertained in the manner prescribed in said twentieth section Provided That nothing herein contained shall apply to the taxation of capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations (A) organized for manufacturing purposes which is invested in and actually and exclusively employed in carrying on manufacturing within the State excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors and such as enjoy and exercise the right of eminent domain and (B) organized for coal mining purposes and which is invested in and actually and exclusively employed in carrying on coal mining or coal mining and the preparation of coal for market but every corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association organized for the purpose of manufacturing or coal mining or coal mining and the preparation of coal shall pay the State tax of five mills herein provided upon such proportion of its capital stock if any as may be invested in any property or business not strictly incident or appurtenant to the manufacturing or coal mining or coal mining and coal preparation business in addition to the local taxes assessed upon its property in the district where located it being the object of this proviso to relieve from State taxation only so much of the capital stock as is invested purely in the manufacturing plant and business or in the coal mining or in the coal mining and preparation plant and business

(b) Every foreign corporation joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever from which a report is required under the twentieth section hereof shall be subject to and pay into the treasury of the Commonwealth annually through the Department of Revenue a franchise tax at the rate of five mills upon a taxable value to be determined in the following manner The actual value of its whole capital stock of all kinds including common special and preferred shall be ascertained in the manner prescribed in the twentieth section of this act and shall then be divided into three equal parts

(1) Of one third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the value of the taxpayer's tangible property not actually and exclusively used in manufacturing or in coal mining or coal mining and preparation situated within the Commonwealth and whose denominator is the value of all the taxpayer's tangible property wherever situated

(2) Of another third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employees not exclusively engaged in manufacturing or in coal mining or coal mining and preparation in this Commonwealth and assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the total expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to all its employees

(3) Of the remaining third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business not strictly incident or appurtenant to manufacturing or to coal mining or coal mining or preparation in this Commonwealth assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from all its business

The sum of the amounts determined in accordance with the foregoing three rules shall be the taxable value. In a case where only two of the foregoing three rules are applicable the remaining third equal part of the value of the entire capital stock shall be divided into two equal parts each of which shall be apportioned in accordance with one of the remaining two rules. If only one of the three rules is applicable that part of the entire capital stock attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth shall be determined solely by the rule.

The amount assignable to this Commonwealth of expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employees shall be such expenditures for the taxable year as represent the wages salaries commissions or other compensation of employees not chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth.

The amount of the taxpayers gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth shall be (1) the amount of its gross receipts for the taxable year except those negotiated or effected in behalf of the taxpayer by agents or agencies chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth and except rents and royalties and interest and dividends (2) rentals or royalties from property situated or from the use of patents within this Commonwealth and (3) dividends and interest except such dividends and interest attributable to the business conducted on premises maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth. If a taxpayer maintains an office warehouse or other place of business in a state other than this Commonwealth for the purpose of reducing its tax under this subsection the Department of Revenue shall in determining the amount of its gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth include therein the gross receipts attributed by the taxpayer to the business conducted at such place of business in another state.

In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office in the State of Pennsylvania but performed outside the State the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable outside the State except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the State and partly outside the State such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in Pennsylvania under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year. In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office outside the State but performed in the State the gross receipts under such contract shall be assignable to the State except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the State and partly outside the State such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in the State under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year.

A rule shall not be deemed to be inapplicable merely because all the tangible property or the expenditures of a taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation or the gross receipts of the taxpayer are found to be situated incurred or received without the Commonwealth.

(c) It shall be the duty of the treasurer or other officers having charge of any such corporation joint-stock association or limited partnership upon which a tax is imposed by this section to transmit the amount of said tax to the Treasury of the Commonwealth within the time prescribed by law. Provided That for the purposes of this act interest in limited partnerships or joint-stock associations shall be deemed to be capital stock and taxable accordingly. Provided further That corporations limited partnerships and jointstock associations liable to a tax under this section shall not be required to pay any further tax on the mortgages bonds and other securities owned by them and in which the whole body of stockholders or members as such have the entire equitable interest in remainder but corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations owning or holding such securities as trustees executors administrators guardians or in any other manner than for the whole body of stockholders or members thereof as sole equitable owners in remainder shall return and pay the tax imposed by this act upon all securities so owned or held by them as in the case of individuals. Provided further That the tax of five mills imposed by this section on reports filed for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and for each calendar year thereafter or for the fiscal years beginning in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and for each fiscal year thereafter shall apply to the taxation of the capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for laundering and for the processing and curing of meats their products and by products excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors. Provided further That in case of fire and marine insurance companies the tax imposed by this section shall be at the rate of five mills upon each dollar of the actual value of the whole capital stock. Provided That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to apply to building and loan associations chartered by the State of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 345, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-second day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 233) entitled "An act creating and establishing a fund for the care maintenance and relief of aged retired and disabled employees of the Bureau of Police in cities of the second class providing a pension fund for said employees and providing for the payment of certain dues fees assessments fines and appropriations thereto regulating membership therein creating a board for the management thereof providing the amount mode and manner of payment to beneficiaries thereof and for the care and disposition of said funds providing for the payment into this fund by cities of the second class of all monies heretofore payable into any other funds organizations corporations or associations having the same or similar purposes and of such additional monies as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act" to fix terms for which personnel of board of managers shall be elected to change the method of determining availability for disability pensions to fix the amount of contributions of members and pension payments to beneficiaries and to provide in certain circumstances for the return of contributions.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WALKER offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 13), page 12, line 14, by inserting brackets before and after the word "and" and by inserting immediately thereafter "or;" Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 14), page 16, lines 3 and 4, by striking out the words "the governing body of the city or by;" Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 14), page 16, lines 6, 7, 8 and 9, by striking out the words "the governing body of the" in line 6, all of lines 7 and 8, and the part-word "vided" in line 9; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 14), page 16, line 9, by striking out the word "however."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I would appreciate it if the members of the Senate would listen to what I have to say with respect to these amendments.

I would like briefly to give a history of this bill. This bill was introduced in the House without first being taken up with the representatives of the city of Pittsburgh. The city of Pittsburgh, of course, has to pay money into this pension fund. After this House bill came over to the Senate, members of the police force of the city of Pittsburgh had some three or four meetings with the mayor and members of city council of the city of Pittsburgh and the bill as it is on our desks today is the way they agreed that the bill should be passed.

Last week we passed a bill here for the un-uniformed employees of the city of Pittsburgh, in which we made their retirement age at sixty years.

Gentlemen, if you pass this amendment you are going to allow policemen in the city of Pittsburgh to retire at the age of forty-six. You men that have any kind of business know that forty-six is no age for retirement.

Mr. President, these men will work for the city of Pittsburgh for twenty-five years, the city of Pittsburgh will be spending money training these men to be good police officers, and when they reach what I would say are their best years as police officers, then they would be eligible to retire.

If you will look on page 2 of this bill you will find that they will be retired at a much higher rate than ever before.

This bill, with this amendment, where the Senator offers the amendment where it says age fifty-five or twenty-five years of service, will cost the city of Pittsburgh some $250,000 a year. I ask the members of the Senate if they think that is being fair. First of all, the city of Pittsburgh is here this year asking and pleading with the members of the House and the Senate to allow the city of Pittsburgh to broaden its taxing powers, due to the fact that at present we are operating under deficit financing in the city of Pittsburgh; we have not been able to retire bonds for the last three years and it is costing the people extra money, and it is not good business the way we are having to do it, because the income of the city is not sufficient.

Secondly, Mr. President, the second amendment has to do with a new amendment which was added to the bill when it came over from the House and with your permission I will take a moment to read it.

"Provided that the increases in pension payment herein provided shall be deemed cost of living increases and shall not be construed as a permanent and binding obligation of the pension fund which will in perpetuity entitle present and future pensioners to secure pensions predicated upon such increases. Such increased pension schedule shall be subject to revision by the governing body of the city or by the General Assembly." They want to take out "the governing body of the city."

Then later on it says that the city shall at no time without coming to the General Assembly be allowed to raise these pensions. They want to take that part out. In other words, they do not want the city to be able to lower pensions but they want to give the city the right to "up" pensions, which heretofore has always been done by the General Assembly.

Mr. President, if these amendments are adopted I am positive the Governor of this Commonwealth will veto this bill, because the Governor well knows the financial condition of the city of Pittsburgh.

I do not think any member of this Senate wants a man to be retired at the age of forty-six years and by so doing subject the people of Pittsburgh to the payment of over quarter of a million dollars more money each year.

Mr. President, I ask for a roll-call on these amendments and I ask the members of both sides to vote them down.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am very deeply appreciative of the concern of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, and I would like to make this suggestion, through the Chair to Senator Barr, that it is our intention to have the amendments printed in the bill and then have the bill go over in its order and I would be very happy to discuss with my colleague from Allegheny tomorrow what the amendments do, with the clear understanding that the bill will be printed with the amendments in it, so that we can discuss what the amendments do to the bill after we see the bill in print. In that way the status of the bill can be maintained on the calendar and what effect the amendments have on the bill can then be discussed.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to go along with the gentleman from Allegheny, but I can not do it, as I would not ever be a party to voting in favor of an amendment which allows a man to retire in the prime of life, forty-six years of age. To me that is just nonsense.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, last year they tried desperately to retire me at the age of forty-six.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the amendments.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, did the gentleman from Allegheny see this bill in its original form when it was presented to the House?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the answer to that question is "no."

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the original bill contained much the same language as will appear in the bill after these amendments have been approved by this Senate. If the desire of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, is to acquaint the Senate with the purposes of the amendment and the effect of the amendment upon the bill, I would suggest that he get hold of the original bill and pass copies around to members of the Senate.

Mr. President, I do not want this bill to die either here or on the desk of the Governor. As I understand it, this bill was worked out in complete harmony with the interested parties, and the committee worked diligently to present to the Senate a bill that would meet both the approval of the city of Pittsburgh and the Governor's office. Those of us who are interested in this matter do not want this bill to die. I am sure, Mr. President, if these amendments are inserted in the bill and if the figure of the cost, as quoted by Senator Barr, is assessed against the city of Pittsburgh, and if they must further pay the burden to be assessed against them because of increases in salaries of school teachers being passed back to the communities, I say to you, Mr. President, the city of Pittsburgh will find itself in a very dangerous position financially.

I say further, Mr. President, politics should not enter into or be played with this very serious legislation. If the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, gets these amendments inserted in the bill it will require another set of amendments to take these amendments out after the Senate finds out exactly what has happened, and I suggest that he and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, ought to get together before you subject the Senate to that particular pressure.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to suggest very respectfully and sincerely to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, and to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, that under no circumstances will I ask the members of the Senate on this side of the aisle to participate in passing finally an amended bill that would do the things Senator Barr has suggested. It is difficult to discuss what the amendments do to the bill unless the printed bill is before us.

The only objective I had in mind, Mr. President, was to present the amendments, have them printed in the bill and then hold the bill in its present position on the calendar.

I want to say very frankly to the gentleman from Westmoreland that he is entirely in accord with our position on the bill, because we do not want to see it killed either here or on the Governor's desk. If the bill, with these amendments in it, does what has been suggested by the gentleman from Allegheny, I would gladly make the motion, or second a motion of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, to have adopted amendments that would put the bill back in its present printed position, but in all fairness, I think the bill should be printed with the amendments in it. I say that the gentleman's position will not be endangered by having these amendments printed and I say to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, that there will be no attempt on the part of members on this side of the aisle to attempt to rush the bill through, as amended, and not give ample opportunity to discuss it, because in all fairness, Mr. President, the gentlemen on this side of the aisle are no more anxious to retire people at forty-six years of age than he is, and that is the question that arises, and I think the purpose can be accomplished, if he will permit the amendment to be printed in the bill, with the understanding that it does not weaken his position or obligate him in any way, directly or indirectly, by having the amendments printed in the bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I appreciate the attitude of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, and I hope he will continue that attitude when the minority presents amendments and ask that they also be passed so that everybody can read them and find out what we are trying to do. On occasions, of course, we have not had that courtesy, but since the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, now takes that position, it is a little late in the session, but I hope we can look forward to his vote when we present amendments on the floor, to find out exactly what we are doing.

I might say to the Senate that the gentleman from Allegheny on my left says this reduces the retirement age to forty-six. That is going to be a new measure, because if that is going to be the age of retirement, then we ought not to have any trouble putting my bill through reducing the old age pension law in Pennsylvania from seventy to sixty, because that is still fourteen years more than men under this bill would have to be employed.

Mr. President, generally I favor reducing the age limit—I favor increasing the age limit when a boy has to go to work and I favor reducing the age limit so that he can retire earlier.

Mr. President, I have often told the story and I will not repeat it now, but I am like the gentleman from Allegheny—they tried to retire me a few years ago but now I have come to the point where I am willing.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I respectfully suggest to the gentleman on the other side, if they are willing to have this amendment printed in the bill, we can proceed from there and the subject matter in this bill can then be discussed.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, to borrow the words of the gentleman from Lehigh, it comes with poor grace to have Pittsburgh policeman come to the floor of the Senate and ask a gentleman who is not a member of the Committee on Local Government to offer these amendments.

First of all, Mr. President, this bill was buried in committee until two weeks ago when, with the help of some members on both sides, I resurrected it and brought it to the position where it now is. This bill never would have come out of the Committee on Local Government if it were not for myself and these gentlemen in Pittsburgh. The committee took the trouble to have the Huggins outfit in Philadelphia, who are actuaries of I think quite good repute, study this bill and they thought the bill the way it came over from the House was very unsound. We took their report, in conjunction with the report of what the city though they could contribute, and that is the way the bill was reported to the floor. The thing these men were most interested in was getting a $20 increase in their pension, to which we have no objection and which is in the bill.

I ask the members on both sides, in fairness to the city government of the city of Pittsburgh, to vote against these amendments, not tomorrow but today.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Barr.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BARR. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to inquire whether or not I gather from the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, that he objects to have the amendments printed in the bill and then holding the bill on its present status on the calendar so that we can discuss the effect of the amendments in the printed bill?

Mr. BARR. I do, Mr. President, because I can explain the first amendment. As the bill now reads, a man who has worked for twenty-five years must be fifty-five years of age before he can retire. The way the gentleman from Allegheny wants to amend the bill, a man can be fifty-five years of age or be twenty-five years in service. In other words, Mr. President, a policeman who has gone to work at the age of twenty-one, when he gets to be forty-six years of age can retire, with that one word "or" in the amendment.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I, through the Chair, thank the gentleman for answering the question.

May I say this, Mr. President, that the amended bill will be much easier to discuss, and I am not desirous of asking the gentlemen on this side of the aisle to vote on an amended bill they have not had a chance to see.

Therefore, Mr. President, so that I can present the amendments in a printed bill to the members on this side of the aisle at the caucus, I would like to have the privilege of withdrawing these amendments until a later date, because if Senator Barr does not desire to see the printed bill appear on the calendar, I would like to explain it to the caucus, so that they will understand before I ask for a vote in the affirmative or negative on the question presented.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I wish to withdraw the amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. DE LONG (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 55

In the House of Representatives, May 22, 1947.

Whereas, The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association, generally known as the "P.I.A.A.," is an organization deriving its powers and authority by concurrent action of the various county and district superintendents of the public schools of the Commonwealth and is otherwise without any supervision or control, and

Whereas, Among other things, the "P.I.A.A." exercises power and authority over the determination of the eligibility of pupils participating in the various interscholastic athletic contests and likewise has the power to arbitrarily reverse or change determinations of eligibility of such pupils and to decree that a school which has earned a championship in its division shall forfeit the same and the games leading to such championship, and

Whereas, The matter of the eligibility of players and a school's right to an earned championship are matters of the utmost concern to the pupils of the public schools and to their attitude towards interscholastic athletic contests and the spirit of sportsmanship engendered thereby, and

Whereas, The functions now exercised by the "P.I.A.A." in Pennsylvania are, in many other States, deemed of such importance to the general educational program as to be under the supervision of a State department and it may well be questioned whether such functions should not be so considered of such importance in this Commonwealth so that responsibility to a central authority attaches to such functions, therefore be it

Resolved, (If the Senate concurs) that a joint interim legislative committee is hereby established to be composed of five members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker and five members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, to be appointed by the President pro tempore to study the problem of eligibility of players who participates as pupils of the public schools of Pennsylvania on the various athletic teams taking part in interscholastic athletic contests and the elements required governing the right of a given school to be champions in any particular line of sports, and further to investigate the activities and methods employed by the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association in arriving at its decisions and particularly in ruling on the status of teams that have earned championships where the eligibility of the players on such team had been previously approved by the association, and be it further

Resolved, That the committee created hereby, acting for and on behalf of the General Assembly, shall have power to meet, hold hearings and, make their investigations and studies whether or not the General Assembly is in regular or special session or is in adjournment. The committee shall report to the General Assembly at its session in 1949 its findings with respect to the operation of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association and the general subject of student player eligibility and the rights of schools to championship status in athletics and at such time to submit its recommendations, if any, as to any legislation which may be needful to correct abuses, evils or unfair practices in connection therewith, and be it further

Resolved, That the committee created hereby shall have the power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting or commanding any proper person to appear before it and to answer such questions touching matters with respect to such inquiry for and on behalf of the General Assembly and to procure such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any proper person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth by the General Assembly itself. Each member of the committee shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it.

Referred to Committee on Rules.

By Mr. LAYER. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 56.

In the House of Representatives, May 22, 1947.

Whereas, The United States Marine Corps has been a shining example of faithful and efficient service to our Nation for more than 172 years; and

Whereas, The United States Marine Corps has been a source of strength whenever our Nation has been threatened, and

Whereas, The United States Marine Corps, alone of all the elements of our armed services, possessed the vision to develop the science of waging amphibious warfare, which knowledge permitted our Nation's offensive might to be carried to enemy shores and which proved to be the key to victory in a global war, and

Whereas, 50,872 of the young men of this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have served our Nation during World War II in the United States Marine Corps, and

Whereas, The United States Marine Corps is threatened with extinction if the merger bill now pending in the Congress of the United States is passed in its present form, and

Whereas, The abolition of the United States Marine Corps would be a disastrous loss to our Nation, therefore be it

Resolved, (If the Senate concurs) That the existence of the United States Marine Corps be assured by amendment to any merger bill, such amendment specifically providing that the United States Marine Corps shall continue to serve as our Nation's amphibious troops and as a force in instant readiness to protect our Nation, and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth is

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMISSION

The SPEAKER laid before the House a report of the School Commission in reply to a Resolution (Serial No. 63) adopted by the House of Representatives on May 22, 1947, which was read by the Clerk.

(For report see Appendix)

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By consent of the House leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Foor for Mr. CLEVENGER for the remainder of the week because of illness.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. SORG offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is compelled to leave the Chair during the consideration of this Resolution, and therefore, will ask the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, to preside

Mr. TURNER IN THE CHAIR.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 26, 1947.

In his accomplishments in the affairs of government or in private pursuits a man takes justifiable pride, and experiences the highest reward in the realization that his work is good and that through his efforts something worth while has been attained.

By his associates, as well—those whose privilege it is to work with and for him—his work is recognized and appreciated. They give him honor and respect and rejoice in the reflection of his success.

Public recognition is not gained through success in a single or limited undertaking. The sphere of influence must be wide and the fruits of endeavor must be many and consistent. Then first—though a man have many friends—will the honors of positions of trust and responsibility, that are of the American people to give, be conferred on him.

At the legislative session of 1939, the Honorable Franklin H. Lichtenwalter first took his seat as a member of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth. His election was a recognition of past services in his home county of Lehigh. In further recognition of his ability and qualifications as an assemblyman and as a leader and sound counsellor in the complex problems of legislation, he became successively the leader of his party in the House, and finally had bestowed upon him the highest office in this deliberate body, the Speakership.

That his services have been able, conscientious and efficient is now once more testified to by the fact that he has been chosen in the congressional district composed of the counties of Lehigh and Bucks, in which there is no dearth of capable men, as the candidate of his party for election to Congress to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the Honorable Charles L. Gerlach, a veteran of many years of service in the National House of Representatives; therefore be it

Resolved, That in attaining honor for himself, the Speaker of this body has honored the Assembly of which he is a member, and that it, in turn, now do him honor by an entry on its official journal of the fact of the distinction given him by the unanimous action of the conferees of the Republican Party in Lehigh and Bucks counties; that the congratulations of this House be tendered him, and its warmest wishes for continued success in every position of honor and confidence that may be bestowed upon him in the future, all of which he has truly earned and rightly deserves; and be it further

Resolved, That, in testimony of its appreciation of his services and its confidence that he is capable of greater services and worthy of further honors, the House of Representatives hereby instruct its Chief Clerk to transmit a copy of these resolutions, certified under the seal of the House, to its popular Speaker, the Honorable Franklin H. Lichtenwalter.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I will say to the gentleman from Lehigh, beware of politicians when they come bearing gifts. I have known very few Congressmen that became Governors. I know one Senator who was a Congressman, and his little boy asked him, "Papa, is a Senator higher than a Congressman?" the Senator said, "Yes, Willie, I think he is." Well, Willie thought a minute and he said, "Papa, tell me what is lower than a Congressman?"

I can tell you, Mr. Speaker, what is higher than a Congressman, the Speaker of this House, a position of statewide leadership in that community which is Pennsylvania. I know of no Congressmen from Pennsylvania whose names are household words, but in every county of the Commonwealth the name of the Speaker is known and respected. In one sense it is a good thing to send him to Washington—if he manages to get through. The Democratic National Committeeman said to me on one occasion, "You watch that fellow Lichtenwalter, he is smart, he is clever." There may be people in high circles in Pennsylvania politics who recognize the fact that he is clever and that he is smart and would like to submerge him as a first term Congressman.

I am sorry to see him make this move. I don't believe that he has been promoted. If he chooses to that field of service, I would say God speed him, and God bless him, but I am sorry that he is leaving these halls, that he is leaving Pennsylvania as a community represented as it is in this General Assembly, because as I say even the Republicans now and then elect a Governor, and I never heard of them electing a Congressman as Governor.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will only say to the gentleman from Cambria that perhaps the Speaker heeded the words of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, the other day in debate, when he kept warning us as to what would happen to us at the next session, the present person in the Chair, having had some experience in having been a Speaker and having been succeeded by a Democratic Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Cambria strikes a few notes that particularly impress me. As much pride and as much pleasure as I derive from presenting this particular resolution, I cannot help but feel some regret, particularly because he will come through. But I do feel full justification and full confidence, and derived more pleasure in accepting the judgment of our Speaker, because I happen to be one of those who feel that it is not the end of the road, but just one more step further along a brilliant career.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the resolution. Those in favor will please rise until counted by the Clerk.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. I presume at this time that the Chair should return to the Speaker the gavel, but I would ask the indulgence of the House for just a moment to add my own small voice to what has been said by the two leaders of this House. I think we all feel that it must be a momentous choice to be made by a man whom we all felt was destined and is destined for high office, but I think that not only the counties of Lehigh and Bucks but the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the United States of America will be benefited by the sacrifice which the Speaker apparently to some of you has made. I do not believe that it will be the end of the road. He is a young man at the time of life when he should go to Congress. It is a wonderful contribution to the legislative and political background he has had here in this Commonwealth and I do not believe that any precedent in the past as to what other Congressmen have achieved will hold down the Speaker of this House. I think he is making the right move and I am confident he will never regret it, because I believe the people of Pennsylvania will recognize his true worth for the office that he should hold sometime in the future.

THE SPEAKER (Franklin H. Lichtenwalter) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. This again is one of those occasions where words fail me. I stated to the conference of the Bucks and Lehigh Congressional District on Friday that I felt at the moment of the announcement of my having been the unanimous selection of my party to represent that District in the special election on September 9th, as I did on the opening day of this session when I was escorted to this rostrum. This is now the third occasion when I can sincerely and truly tell you, my friends, that I am without words to explain to you, first of all, my deep appreciation for the kindnesses that all of you have shown me, and I hope particularly will do so during the months to come, because after all I am not yet elected to Congress. I intend to serve as Speaker, God willing, and if your patience will last a little longer through this session and for some time.

Truthfully in presenting this resolution, I am not the sentimental type exactly, but my emotions are stirred. You who have been so close to me, I feel after September 9th will be greatly missed as I travel the road to Harrisburg on my way to Washington. That depends on the good people of Bucks and Lehigh Counties, and I certainly will continuously be reminded of the happy moments, yes, not moments but hours and days and months and years, of the pleasant associations and friendships that I have enjoyed regardless of party affiliation in my state and in Harrisburg. If I am fortunate enough to be elected to Congress I want to assure you that I will be back and visit you, and I hope that I may have some small part in solving the problems of the nation as I have had some small part in solving the problems, I hope, of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I thank you very much.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. CADWALADER asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Ways and Means to meet during the session of the House.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I simply wanted to inquire whether on page 2, lines 5 and 6, that language was the language that they wanted in the act, "The Department of Health shall commission such research."

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, all I can tell the gentleman is that the bill was drawn by those interested in this subject, and it to my recollection follows the appropriation in 1945.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, it is simply a matter of language. I don't know whether they used the words that they wanted to use at the end of line 5, and the first word in line 6.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I think the word "commission" is used in the sense of designating or asking.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, on this measure I would like to consult the Speaker's lawyer, the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, desires to consult the Speaker's lawyer. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, whether the purposes contemplated in this bill covered by this appropriation are purposes that come within the purview of the amendment to our constitution regarding the diversion of the Motor License Fund. Can the Legislature appropriate for these purposes?

Mr. SORG. In my opinion they can, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, are there any decisions that will classify the purposes of this appropriation as being connected with administration?

Mr. SORG. I know of no specific decision, Mr. Speaker, and I know of no question that has been raised in that connection.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does this bill mean that the administration is abandoning any thought of providing through the Commonwealth itself additional office buildings in Pittsburgh and in Philadelphia, buildings that would be owned by the Commonwealth, and is it the policy now to continue to rent such space instead of building?

Mr. SORG. Yes, Mr. Speaker. In accordance with the provisions set forth in the budget message—I don't recall the exact date—but this bill does repeal and lapse the appropriation.

Mr. ANDREWS. I was asking more particularly, Mr. Speaker, as to whether this bill was a declaration of policy on the part of the administration, that it preferred to rent these buildings rather than build them.

Mr. SORG. For the time being, that is so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Elder.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lycoming permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ELDER. I shall Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, it is my recollection that this bill was not in print on last Thursday and that it went over to give the Members an opportunity to thoroughly study it over the week-end. I understand that there are several amendments proposed to be introduced in connection with this bill. I have no objection to second reading if we can have unanimous consent to introduce amendments to the bill on third reading. This bill is known as the fish code and there are several things we would like to study in connection with it.

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman to say that the bill was not in print last Thursday?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I did not receive a copy of it, if it was. It was not on my desk.

The SPEAKER. The bill was not in print on last Thursday.

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, I would consent to the passing of the bill over and to the offering of amendments on third reading provided they present a copy to me.

BILL PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER. If the Chair understands correctly, the gentleman requests that the bill be passed over because the bill was not in print last Thursday, and it was passed over to give the Members an opportunity to study it over the week-end. The sponsor has graciously stated that he will allow the bill to be passed over.

If there are no objections the bill will be passed over. The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

House Bill No. 22, Printer's No. 653

was passed over temporarily at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 168, as follows:

An Act providing for the issuance and sale of bonds by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the construction of public buildings for anti-stream pollution projects and for flood control projects creating a special fund in the State Treasury to be known as the Public Buildings Construction Fund defining the powers and duties of the Governor the Auditor General the State Treasurer and the Board of Finance and Revenue in relation thereto providing for the payment of interest on and the redemption of such bonds and making appropriations

Section 1 Pursuant to the adoption by the people at the municipal election held in November one thousand nine hundred forty-five of an amendment to article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania which reads as follows

"Section 21 In addition to the purposes stated in article nine section four of this Constitution the Commonwealth may be authorized by law to create debt and to issue bonds to the amount of fifty million dollars ($50,000,000) for the construction of public buildings highways drainage and sanitary systems anti-stream pollution and flood control projects for purposes of reforestation and for the rehabilitation and hospitalization of war veterans" the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in accordance with the provisions thereof and on the credit of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are hereby authorized and directed from time to time to borrow such sum or sums of money not exceeding in the aggregate the sum of fifty million dollars ($50,000,000) as may be deemed necessary to carry out the purposes of said amendment and statutes passed in conformity therewith

Section 2 Bonds Issue Maturity Interest Et Cetera

(a) As evidence of the indebtedness herein authorized bonds of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall be issued from time to time for such total amounts in such form in such denominations and subject to such terms and conditions of issue redemption and maturity rate of interest not to exceed six per centum (6%) per annum and time of payment of interest as the Governor Auditor General and State Treasurer shall direct

(b) All bonds issued under the authority of this act shall bear the facsimile signatures of the Governor

Auditor General the State Treasurer and a facsimile of the great seal of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and shall be countersigned by two duly authorized officers of the duly authorized loan and transfer agent of the Commonwealth

(c) The principal and interest of such bonds shall be payable in lawful money of the United States All bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be exempt from taxation for State and local purposes

(d) Such bonds may be issued with or without interest coupons attached In case interest coupons are attached they shall contain facsimile signatures of the State Treasurer and the Auditor General

(e) The Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer shall proceed to have the necessary bonds prepared and printed The bonds as soon as they are prepared and printed shall be forthwith deposited with the duly authorized loan and transfer agent of the Commonwealth there to remain until sold in accordance with the provisions of this act

Section 3 Sale of Bonds Whenever bonds are so issued they shall be offered for sale at not less than par and accrued interest and shall be sold by the Governor the Auditor General and State Treasurer to the highest and best bidder or bidders after due public advertisement on such terms and conditions and upon such open competitive bidding as the Governor Auditor General and State Treasurer shall direct The manner and character of such advertisement and the time of advertising shall be prescribed by the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer

Any portion of any bond issue so offered and not sold or subscribed for may be disposed of by private sale by the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in such manner and at such prices not less than par and accrued interest as the Governor shall direct No commission shall be allowed or paid for the sale of any bonds issued under the authority of this act

Section 4 Disposition and Use of Proceeds The Proceeds realized from the sale of bonds under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the State Treasury and deposited in a special fund to be known as the Public Buildings Construction Fund which is hereby created and shall be used for the payment of the cost of the construction of public buildings for anti-stream pollution projects and for flood control projects as provided for in the constitutional amendment hereinbefore cited and in legislation passed in conformity therewith

Section 5 Registration of Bonds The Auditor General shall prepare the necessary registry books to be kept in the office of the duly authorized loan and transfer agent of the Commonwealth for the registration of any bonds at the request of owners thereof All bonds which are issued without interest coupons attached shall be registered in the registry books kept by the duly authorized loan and transfer agent of the Commonwealth

Section 6 Information to General Assembly It shall be the duty of the Governor during the biennial sessions of the General Assembly to give to the General Assembly full information relating to the issuance of bonds under the provisions of this act to enable the General Assembly to provide by appropriation any moneys necessary for the sinking fund of the Commonwealth for the payment of the interest on said bonds and the principal thereof at maturity

Section 7 Public Buildings Construction Sinking Fund Investments Redemption of Bonds All bonds issued under the authority of this act shall be redeemed at maturity and all interest due from time to time on such bonds shall be paid from the Public Buildings Construction Sinking Fund For the specific purpose of redeeming said bonds at maturity and paying all interest thereon the General Assembly shall appropriate biennially the moneys necessary to pay the interest on said bonds and the principal thereof at maturity All moneys so appropriated shall be paid into the Public Buildings Construction Sinking Fund by the State Treasurer All of such moneys not necessary to pay accruing interest shall be invested by the Board of Finance and Revenue in such securities as are provided by law for the investment of the sinking funds of the Commonwealth

The investments and such moneys and the accumulations thereon in the sinking fund shall be devoted to and be used exclusively for the payment of the interest accruing on such bonds and their redemption at maturity. The Board of Finance and Revenue is authorized at any time to use any of such funds for the purchase and retirement of all or any part of the bonds issued under the authority of this act. In the event that all or any part of said bonds shall be purchased by the Board of Finance and Revenue they shall be canceled and returned to the State Treasurer as canceled and paid bonds and thereafter all payments of interest thereon shall cease and the canceled bonds and coupons shall be destroyed within two years after cancellation in the presence of the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer. A certificate evidencing the destruction satisfactory to the duly authorized loan and transfer agent of the Commonwealth shall be furnished to it. All canceled bonds and coupons shall be so marked as to make the canceled bonds and coupons non-negotiable.

Section 8 Present Biennium Requirements The Board of Finance and Revenue shall determine the amount of money necessary for the payment of interest on the bonds and the principal thereof if any for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and the times and amount of such payments and the amount so determined shall be transferred from the Public Buildings Construction Fund to the Public Buildings Construction Sinking Fund and for such purpose as much of the money in the Public Buildings Construction Fund as may be necessary is hereby appropriated. Should the moneys in the Public Buildings Construction Fund for any reason not be available for the payment of interest on the bonds or the principal thereof if any the funds necessary for such purpose are hereby appropriated from the General Fund and whenever any moneys are transferred from the Public Buildings Construction Fund for the payment of said interest on and principal of said bonds and such moneys are needed for the payment of the construction of public buildings for anti-stream pollution projects and for flood control projects as provided by law there is hereby appropriated from the General Fund a sum sufficient to restore to the Public Buildings Construction Fund the moneys so transferred.

Section 9 Quorum Whenever in this act a new action is to be taken or decision made by the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer and the three officers shall not be able unanimously to agree the action or decision of the Governor and either the Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be binding and final except that it shall be the mandatory duty of the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer to issue bonds to provide funds for the construction of public buildings when the Secretary of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor shall decide to do so.

Section 10 Appropriation The sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated for the purpose of providing such bonds for the payment of the cost of advertising the same and for all other costs and expenses in connection with the issue sale and registration of said bonds. Payments from said appropriation shall be made by requisition of the Auditor General after approval of vouchers by the Governor, Auditor General and State Treasurer.

Section 11 Effective Date This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NOT VOTING—2

Clevenger, Trout,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 335, as follows:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the eighth day of April one thousand eight hundred sixty-seven (P. L. 50) entitled "An act to permit disabled soldiers to peddle by procuring a license therefor without charge" prohibiting the imposition of taxes on such licenses

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the eighth day of April one thousand eight hundred sixty-seven (P. L. 50) entitled "An act to permit disabled soldiers to peddle by procuring a license therefor without charge" as last amended by the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1191) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted etc That every honorably discharged soldier sailor and marine of the military or naval service of the United States who is a resident of this State and who is unable to procure a livelihood by manual labor shall have the right to hawk peddle and vend any goods wares or merchandise or solicit trade within this Commonwealth by procuring a license for that purpose to be issued without cost and upon which no tax or levy in the nature of a tax may be imposed Provided That before any such soldier sailor or marine shall be entitled to the benefits of this act shall present his certificate of pension or satisfactory proof that he receives compensation from the Federal Government which shall be evidence of his disability if no pensioner nor a receiver of compensation he shall present a certificate from two reputable physicians that he is unable to procure his living by manual labor He shall also procure a certificate from the prothonotary of any county in this State that he has filed in the office of said prothonotary his affidavit setting forth that he is the bona fide owner in his own right of all the goods wares and merchandise which he proposes to hawk peddle and vend and that he will not engage to sell the same for any other person or persons whatever and that he will not sell or attempt to sell the labeled artificial flowers of the American Legion Veterans of Foreign Wars Spanish American War Veterans and Disabled American Veterans of the World War namely the poppy carnation the buddy poppy and the forget-me-not and that he will not sell or offer to sell miniature American flags And provided further That the aforesaid certificate or proof of compensation together with such person's discharge from the military or naval service or an exemplified copy thereof shall be full and conclusive evidence of such person's rights to the benefits of this act The prothonotary issuing such certificate shall require the applicant to furnish two photographs of the applicant each bearing the signature of the applicant One photograph shall be filed with the application the other shall be attached to the certificate when issued

The use of such certificate by anyone other than the applicant shall nullify such certificate and shall nullify the privileges under this act of the applicant permitting such measure

Any person who shall peddle contrary to the provisions of this act or in violation of the affidavit which he made to obtain such license shall upon conviction in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than fifty dollars ($50) and in default of the payment of such fine and costs shall be sentenced to imprisonment for a term of ten (10) days

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, are we now on House Bill 335?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. ANDREWS. Printer's No. 251?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I presume, if it is necessary for disabled veterans to peddle, that we should not burden them with a license, but I certainly am of the opinion that this Commonwealth should make some other provision for veterans than a gesture which gives them a license to sell apples and does not charge them for the license. I think this bill is a recognition of a condition and condones a condition that should not exist in this Commonwealth. It is the kind of a measure in my mind that has no place in the deliberations of a General Assembly, which is presumably doing something worth while for the veterans. We have decided ultimately to give them a bonus, and the first thing that we hand out to the veterans, in addition to a future bonus, is a license to peddle, if he is disabled, and not pay a license fee for it. I am opposed to this kind of legislation and I shall vote "no," not because I feel that we should charge the veterans for a license to peddle, but because I believe that he should not be placed in a position where it is necessary for a disabled veteran to peddle.

Mr. GREER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, I would like to say that this act has been on our statute books since 1867. It is being amended by this bill to provide that there will be no tax, or levy in the nature of a tax on that license. It is a bill which was presented to me by the American Legion. It is a bill that all veterans' Posts want, and I urge the Members to vote for this bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I already recognize that this kind of legislation has been on the statute books for a long, long, time. There was a time when we made very little provision for veterans, disabled or otherwise, and if we want to do something, instead of amending this kind of legislation, there are plenty of other things that we could do that are really worth while for the veterans of Pennsylvania. However, Mr. Speaker, if that constitutes a part of the program for veterans, if that constitutes a part of the gentleman's program, it does not necessarily constitute a part of my program.

Mr. GREER. Mr. Speaker, what it amounts to is an exemption from taxation.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Greer.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Butler permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GREER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, the question I would like to ask the gentleman is, if this bill does not pass and the veteran has to go out and sell apples or sell shoe-strings for a living, would he then be required to pay a state tax?

Mr. GREER. He would, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COLE. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Trout,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 472, as follows:

An Act to further amend clauses six and nine of section one of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 858) entitled "An act establishing a State employees' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing State employees defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon the heads of departments in which State employees serve excepting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" further defining State employees and original members so as to extend the benefits of the act to employees of institutions of counties cities wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions acquired by the Commonwealth for actual use as State mental hospitals and making an appropriation therefor

Section 1 Clauses six and nine of section one of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 858) entitled "An act establishing a State employees' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing State employees defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon the heads of departments in which State employees serve excepting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" as last amended by the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 202) and by the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 683) respectively are hereby further amended to read as follows

Section. 1 Be it enacted &c That the following words and phrases as used in this act unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context shall have the following meanings

6 "State employee" shall mean any person holding a State office or position under the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania employed and paid on a yearly or monthly basis

by the State Government of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in any capacity whatsoever and shall include also any attorney solicitor investigator appraiser and clerk employed by the year or by the month in the office of any register of wills howsoever appointed whose compensation is actually paid from Commonwealth moneys and shall also include all judges of the several courts of this Commonwealth whose salaries are paid by the Commonwealth and also all clerks and secretaries employed by judges and paid on a yearly or monthly basis by such judges from moneys appropriated by the Commonwealth for such purposes and also all officers and employes of the Pennsylvania State College paid on a yearly or monthly basis other than those paid wholly from Federal funds and also all officers and employes of the Delaware River Joint Commission and of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission paid on a yearly or monthly basis if the Delaware River Joint Commission and the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission shall agree to contribute and contribute to the State Employees' Retirement Fund from time to time the moneys required to build up the reserves necessary for the payment of the State annuities of such officers and employes without any liability on the part of the Commonwealth to make appropriations for such purposes and also but only for the purposes of this act all officers and employes of any separate independent public corporation created by act of Assembly (not including however any municipal or quasi-municipal corporation) who immediately prior to their employment by such public corporation were employes of the Commonwealth so long as they remain officers or employes of such public corporation if such public corporation shall agree to contribute and contribute to the State Employees' Retirement Fund from time to time the moneys required to build up the reserve necessary for the payment of the State annuities of such officers and employes without any liability on the part of the Commonwealth to make appropriations for such purposes But the term "State Employee" shall not include those persons defined as employes in section one paragraph seven of the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 1043) entitled "An act establishing a public school employes' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employes defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employes exempting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" as amended by section one paragraph seven of the act approved the twenty-first day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 245) excepting such officers and employes of the Department of Public Instruction as are not members of or who may withdraw from the public school employes' retirement association provided by said act and no member shall be deprived of credit for prior service as a State employee because of the fact that such service was rendered while he or she was a member of the public school employes' retirement association

The term "State employee" shall also include all State officers and employes regularly employed by the year or by the month at a fixed annual or monthly compensation when the General Assembly is not in session but who during a legislative session instead of a fixed annual or monthly salary or compensation are paid upon a per diem basis or by a fixed salary or compensation from the legislative session

Employes of the respective institutions acquired by the Commonwealth from counties cities wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions that are actually used as State mental hospitals under the provisions of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of September one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight (P. L.

53) or its amendments who as of the effective date of this act are contributors or who on or before the thirtieth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven becomes contributors to this fund shall for the purposes of this act be deemed to have been "State employes" from the time they first entered the employe of such institution even though the same may have been prior to the acquisition of the institution by the Commonwealth if such employe shall pay to the retirement association a sum equal to all the back payments which such employe would have made had he or she become a member of the retirement association at the time he or she was first employed by such institution Such back payments may be spread over a period of years by having the regular payroll deduction of such employe increased by not less than one-third of the amount thereof which deduction increase shall be credited to such back payments owing and shall be continued until the amount thereof shall be paid in full unless such member is retired under the provisions of this act before such back payments have been completed Any such deduction increase may be anticipated in full by the member at any time and shall be anticipated in full at the time of retirement before a retirement allowance is granted If not so anticipated then the member's annuity shall be calculated on the total accumulated deductions standing to his credit and his State annuity shall be reduced by an amount equivalent to the reduction which occurs in the member's annuity due to the amount of the back payments not so anticipated

In all cases of doubt the retirement board shall determine whether any person is a State employee as defined in this paragraph and its decision shall be final

* * * * *

9 "Original member" of the retirement association shall mean a State employee who was at any time a State employee prior to January first one thousand nine hundred twenty-five whether or not such employment has been continuous and who shall have become a member of the retirement association on or before December thirty-first one thousand nine hundred thirty-five or any State employee who is an employee of any of the respective institutions acquired by the Commonwealth from any county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision for actual use as a State mental hospital under the provisions of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of September one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight (P. L. 53) or its amendments who was at any time an employee of such institution prior to January first one thousand nine hundred twenty-five whether or not such employment has been continuous and who shall have become a member of the retirement association on or before December thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-seven

Any such State employee who shall become an original member of the association after the approval of this amendment including those who having heretofore become a new member thereof shall become an original member under the provisions hereof shall pay to the retirement association a sum equal to all the back payments which such person would have made had he or she become a member of the retirement association when the retirement system was established Such back payments may be spread over a period of years by having such regular payroll deduction of such person increased by not less than one-third of the amount thereof which deduction increase shall be credited to such back payments owing and shall be continued until the amount thereof shall be paid in full unless such member is retired under the provisions of this act before such back payments have been completed Any such deduction increase may be anticipated in full by the member at any time and shall be anticipated in full at the time of retirement before a retirement allowance is granted and if not so anticipated then the member's annuity shall be calculated on the total accumulated deductions standing to his credit and his State annuity shall be reduced by an amount equivalent to the reduction which occurs in the member's annuity due to the amount of the back payments not so anticipated

Original member of the retirement association shall also mean any judge in service on the second Monday of January one thousand nine hundred thirty who shall elect to become a member of the retirement association at any time during the term for which he was then elected or appointed and any person hereafter elected or appointed a judge who at the time of his election or appointment is an original member of the retirement association or who was retired voluntarily or involuntarily as an original member and is at the time of his election or appointment as a judge receiving a retirement allowance as an original member

Section 2 The sum of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) is hereby specifically appropriated to the State Employees' Retirement Board to be credited to the contingent reserve account of the State Employees' Retirement Fund to be applied towards the payment of the additional state annuities provided for by this act

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine section eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows

Section 1 The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof

That article nine section eight of the Constitution of Pennsylvania is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 8 The debt of any county city borough township school district or other municipality or incorporated district except as provided herein and in section fifteen of this article shall never exceed seven (7) per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein nor shall any such county municipality or district incur any debt or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two (2) per centum upon such assessed valuation of property without the consent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law The debt of the city of Philadelphia may be increased in such amount that the total debt of said city shall not exceed twelve and one-half (12½) per centum of the average of the annual assessed valuations of the taxable realty therein during the ten years immediately preceding the year in which such increase is made but said city shall not increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two and one-half (2½) per centum upon such average assessed valuation of realty without the consent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law No debt shall be incurred by or on behalf of the county of Philadelphia and within such county only the city of Philadelphia and the school district of Philadelphia shall have power to incur debt

In ascertaining the debt-incurring capacity of the city of Philadelphia at any time there shall be deducted from the debt of said city so much of such debt as shall have been incurred or is about to be incurred and the proceeds thereof expended or about to be expended upon any public improvement or in the construction purchase or condemnation of any public utility or part thereof or facility therefor if such public improvement or public utility or part thereof or facility therefor whether separately or in connection with any other public improvement or public utility or part thereof or facility therefor may reasonably be expected to yield revenue in excess of operating expenses sufficient to pay the interest and sinking fund charges thereon The method of determining such amount so to be deducted shall be as now prescribed or which may hereafter be prescribed by the General Assembly than fifty (50) years from the date thereof with provision for a sinking fund sufficient to retire said obligations at maturity the payment of such sinking fund to be in equal or graded annual or other periodical installments. Where any indebtedness shall be or shall have been incurred by said city of Philadelphia for the purpose of the construction or improvement of public works or utilities of any character from which income or revenue is to be derived by said city or for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves or docks owned or to be owned by said city such obligations may be in an amount sufficient to provide for and may include the amount of the interest and sinking fund charges accruing and which may accrue thereon throughout the period of construction and until the expiration of one year after the completion of the work for which said indebtedness shall have been incurred and said city shall not be required to levy a tax to pay said interest and sinking fund charges as required by section ten of this article until the expiration of said period of one year after the completion of said work.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Chudoff, Clevenger, Trout,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1318 as follows:

An Act making an appropriation from the Public Buildings Construction Fund to the Department of Property and Supplies for use at any existing or new State-owned institutions within the Department of Welfare for purchase or condemnation of land for construction of new buildings for repair and alterations to and replacement of existing buildings and for architectural and engineering services fixtures equipment sewage treatment plants water supply electrical and other facilities

Section 1 That the sum of forty-five million dollars ($45,000,000) is hereby appropriated from the Public Buildings Construction Fund to the Department of Property and Supplies for use at any existing or new State-owned institutions within the Department of Welfare for the purchase or condemnation of land and improvements thereon for the construction of new buildings for completion of projects for altering improving adding to or replacing existing buildings for construction of sewage treatment plants reservoirs water supply systems electrical and other facilities for altering improving adding to or replacing existing sewage treatment plants reservoirs water supply systems electrical and other facilities for the purchase and installation of all necessary equipment in new buildings and for the payment of the cost of necessary plans specifications advertising for bids supervision and architectural and engineering and surveying fees

Section 2 The amount of the foregoing appropriation to be expended for or upon any project for any particular institution shall be determined with the approval of the Governor by the Department of Property and Supplies after recommendation by the Department of Welfare

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is this House Bill No. 1318?

The SPEAKER. This is House Bill No. 1318, Printer's No. 614.

Mr. ANDREWS. When this bill was on second reading, Mr. Speaker, I said that I would like to have the responsible spokesman for the administration tell us first what they proposed to obtain or do by spending the forty-five million and how much of the forty-five million they intend to spend during the next biennium.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I presume the gentleman from Cambria desires to interrogate me as the sponsor, in regard to this bill and ask how much would be spent in the next biennium. I believe that would be entirely regulated by the cost of the materials and the requirements of the different institutions. I presume the gentleman knows that there are some twenty-four institutions of which twenty are mental, which require repairs in addition to buildings, replacements on account of obsolescence, and the Department of Welfare intends to make a survey. I cannot give the gentleman the details of how much of this money will be spent within the next few months or the next couple of years. I think, however, the Department will be glad to furnish the gentleman when such a survey has been made with information as to what they intend to do exactly with the money. The bonds will not be sold until such time as repairs are deemed advisable or new buildings are deemed advisable, on account of the construction costs which have risen from 42 to 70 per cent.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Majority Leader whether there has been presented to him or to any committee of this House a detailed statement outlining the major allocations that will be made of the forty-five million which it is proposed to spend.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, there has not been conveyed to me any detailed statement. I could refer the gentleman only to the statement concerning the need for public improvements in our welfare institutions, as set forth in the budget message of His Excellency, The Governor.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, the Members of this House will recognize the difficulties that anyone would encounter who voted against the proposed appropriation, and yet here we are presumably in a deliberative body and we are asked for forty-five million dollars, a blank check.

There are no schedules of expenditures called to the attention of the Members of this House. There are no detailed schedules contemplating the expenditures on file with a committee. Now, is all we are going to do issue blank checks? We abdicate all our legislative functions. It is all very well for the administration or for a department to come and say, "We want forty-five million dollars and we want it during the next two years," but someone somewhere, and I know of no other agency other than this House, that should say to that administration or to that department, "What do you want the forty-five million dollars for and when are you planning to spend it?"

For a considerable number of years the General Assembly has fallen into the habit of doling out blank checks without any restriction, sixty million dollars for this department, forty-five million dollars for something else, ten million dollars for something else. It is not a proper way to do business, and neither the administration nor the department should ask this House for forty-five million dollars without at least taking us into their confidence to some extent and telling us what they want it for and when they propose to spend it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRUNNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, about two weeks ago near Norristown in Montgomery County there was an atrocious sex killing of a five year old child. The killer is still at large and he may repeat his crime elsewhere. The treatment of sex offenders is a big problem which merits immediate legislative consideration.

One of the clearest expositions of this problem is found in the editorial column of the Philadelphia Inquirer under date of May 22nd, and I ask leave of the House to read into this record the editorial as it is written.

DON'T LET SEX CRIMINALS GO FREE!

Sex crimes in this country have reached unprecedented heights. They now total some 40,000 a year, not counting the many thousands that are never reported because of fear or shame.

We had a sickening example recently in the killing of a little girl near Ambler after she was lured into an automobile and cruelly attacked.

Every day finds similar tragedies marked down as sex offenses and supplementing them are hundreds upon hundreds of other expressions of sex abnormality and maladjustment.

As this horrible phase of human misbehavior continues to grow, there is growing with it the consciousness that our handling of sex variants is utterly wrong and that it is getting absolutely nowhere in the prevention or the correction of crime. It is based on the easy but dangerous misconception that sex criminals are ordinary criminals to be treated and punished as such.

The truth of the matter is that sex offenders are desperately sick people.

It does no possible good to jail them for days, weeks or months, and then set them free to repeat their misdeeds or, as so often happens, to advance another step on their career of abnormality.

This is like sending a person to prison for having cancer.

The cold-blooded killers of children the brutes who beat and strangle and rip their little victims to death to climax their inhuman attacks, should be given the maximum punishment permitted by law.

But it is imperative that society should act to head off the variant before he reaches this ultimate rung in his descent to bestiality. It has been found that the sex murderer usually kills to avoid detection; homicide is but the by-product of his twisted passions.

Instead of permitting him to advance step by step, with only short prison terms, if anything, to interrupt him, we must stop him as early in his career as possible—and see that he is put away securely.

Needed for these people is a special type of institution that is neither a penitentiary nor an insane asylum but a hospital where their disorder may be diagnosed and its emotional causes unearthed and where they may be given the benefit of modern psychiatric treatment.

This is not to say that they should be coddled or given special privileges and comforts. Far from it. They should be kept in confinement until pronounced cured. If their maladjustment could not be corrected, they would be held permanently. There would be no more of the free-and-easy parole and probation practices whereby sex maniacs have been loosed upon society.

An integral part of this new system would be the establishment of psychiatric clinics where all convicted criminals would be screened prior to the delivery of sentences.

Needed, additionally, is greater preventive attention to sex maladjustments. It is unfortunate that many parents, who would rush their children to the doctor on the first suspicion of scarlet fever or whooping cough, fail to detect, or ignore, signs of sex variation that, if not headed off, may lead to disaster. The services of psychiatrists should be made available in the schools.

Many shocking crimes could have been prevented by intelligent advance treatment. A golden opportunity along this line was missed when Selective Service reports were not followed up.

A notorious case was that of Wayne Lonergan, who later killed his wife in New York. He had twice been rejected for the armed forces on the grounds of maladjustment. His examining physician stated in his report: "If this man is not given psychiatric treatment he is likely to become a serious menace."

William Heirens, the Chicago student who killed six-year-old Suzanne Degnan and threw her hacked-up body into sewers, was an easily recognized sex variant.

Time after time it has been proved that sex offenders are repeaters. Jail terms have not been deterrents. The most gruesome of sex murders have been committed by those who have served sentences for some minor item in the calendar of sex crime.

Every large city has police records full of known sex perverts. It is routine to round them up for questioning whenever a sex crime is committed. But why are these persons at large in the first place?

To protect the public from sex crime, and to protect the sexually maladjusted from their own hideous quirks, these people should be placed in special institutions for psychiatric care and kept there until they are cured.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. RAGOT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. RAGOT. Mr. Speaker, on April 14th, in the Legislative Journal on page 1476 I am recorded as not having voted on House Bill No. 365. I voted "no" and wish to be so recorded.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HEWITT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I want to make a few remarks in connection with the editorial the gentleman from Montgomery just read. It brings to my mind something that happened a year or so ago. There was a man in Franklin County about six years ago who beat a little girl six years old with a two inch strap for two hours to make her confess that she tore some leaves out of a book. The testimony proved that the little girl had not torn the leaves out of the book and therefore would not confess that she did so.

I noticed in last week's paper that this man is making a second attempt to be released from serving a life sentence, and I certainly do hope that the Pardon Board of Pennsylvania will keep that guy there six months, twice a year for life.

RESOLUTION

Mr. WORLEY offered a resolution which was laid over under the Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WORLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I hope the House will bear with me. I am last on the program and I know the House is getting impatient. I will hurry as best as I can.

Since it is apparent after four months that the Rules Committee of this House of Representatives will not approve Resolution No. 8, which I introduced and addressed to the House for on January 27, 1947, which was referred to the Committee on Rules and printed in the Legislative Journal of January 28, 1947, and which resolution requested that the House affirm its belief that the United Nations Charter should be amended to provide for a World Federal Democracy Government, and since it is also apparent that some nations may not consent to amending the Charter, and since many legal authorities believe that the United Nations Charter should be given more time to test whether it will or will not adequately administer international law; and since it may be difficult for a nation not having a democratic form of government to send a truly representative man of the people to such a world federal democracy, I have offered a resolution today which will meet many of these objections to my former Resolution No. 8 of the 1947 regular session.

This new resolution provides for a World Federal Democracy composed of the United States, the members of the British Commonwealth, France and other smaller western European nations and provides that this House urge the President of the United States to initiate a movement for the formation of a federal government of democratic countries. I certainly hope the Rules Committee will at least approve this resolution.

In further support of my resolution I want to read a letter which I have been given to read to this body from a former Justice of the United States Supreme Court, Owen J. Roberts of Pennsylvania. I quote his letter:

"Dear Mr. Worley: I am gratified that you are introducing a resolution in the House, calling for a federation of the democracies as a first step of world government under law.

"It seems evident that, in the present state of the world, all of the democracies, including our own, can reduce the cost of national defense by sharing it with others; can advantageously pursue a common foreign policy; and can strengthen world trade and the economic stability of all the nations in such a federation. These things they cannot do under the present assertion of national sovereignty. They cannot do them through United Nations, because it is impossible to get agreement, and if it were possible to get them, they cannot be made binding on any nation longer than it is willing to respect them.

"Mere negative measures, in my judgment, will be futile. What is needed is affirmative action to unite and strengthen representative democracy in the world. If we do this, we can soon demonstrate to the people of other nations how much better a way of producing order and peace this is than a mere league, association, or treaty between sovereign nations.

"It would mean much towards the accomplishment of such a federation of democracies if the Legislature of Pennsylvania were to go on record in favor of it. Yours sincerely, Owen J. Roberts."

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BRUNNER from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 113.

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 10, 1947

Whereas, Under Resolution, Serial Number 15 of the General Assembly of 1945, the Joint State Government Commission was directed to investigate, survey and consider all penal laws of the Commonwealth and to revise and restate such penal laws in codified form and to report its findings and conclusions at the next regular session of the General Assembly, and

Whereas, the laws of criminal procedure of the Commonwealth to better serve the efficient administration of justice are in need of similar study and codification, and

Whereas, because of the great importance attached to both the proper study and codification of the penal laws and the laws relating to criminal procedure it would be advisable and advantageous to make further study of the penal laws in conjunction with a study of the laws relating to criminal procedure, therefore be it,

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to continue its survey, investigation and consideration of all the penal laws of the Commonwealth and in connection therewith to survey, investigate and consider the laws of the Commonwealth relating to criminal procedure and to completely revise and restate such penal laws and laws relating to criminal procedure into codified form and to report its findings and conclusions to the next regular session of the General Assembly with a bill or bills embodying a codification of the penal laws and laws relating to criminal procedure of the Commonwealth to be introduced at the next regular session of the General Assembly:

The Legislative Reference Bureau shall prepare the necessary drafts of all bills agreed on by the commission and shall furnish such advice and assistance as it may be called on to furnish.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate? It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. HOFFMAN from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported as committed, House Bill No. 787, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections four and ten of the act, approved the twenty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 149), entitled "An act imposing a State tax, payable by those herein defined as distributors, on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth, which are ordinarily, practically, and commercially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power; providing for the collection and lien of the tax, and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof; requiring such distributors to secure permits, to file corporate surety bonds and reports, and to retain certain records; imposing duties on retail dealers, common carriers, county commissioners, and such distributors; providing for rewards; imposing certain costs on counties; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; providing for refunds; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation" by extending the provisions of the additional tax for a limited time; and further providing for the distribution of the additional tax to certain political subdivisions of this Commonwealth with certain conditions.

SENATE MESSAGES

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

HOUSE BILL NO. 1035

An Act to amend section forty of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1050) entitled "An act relating to the collection of taxes levied by counties county institution districts cities of the third class boroughs towns townships certain school districts and vocational school districts conferring powers and imposing duties on tax collectors courts and various officers of said political subdivisions and prescribing penalties" by providing that the surety on the bond or bonds of a deceased collector for whose estate no executor or administrator has been appointed shall have the sole right and power to take over the tax duplicates in which said surety is interested and to proceed to make collections thereon in accordance with the provisions of this section

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

SENATE MESSAGES

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTIONS.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 21, 1947.

Recently, United States Senator Edward Martin was called from the floor of the Senate to meet a delegation of Pennsylvania Communists attending that party's veterans' convention. Since they were Pennsylvanians, Senator Martin heard what they had to say.

At the same time, the Senator impressed upon this group his beliefs as to certain of their activities.

Emphatically, he stated that he would at no time discuss the welfare of American veterans with any group upholding or representing the communistic philosophy, and that he would seek advice concerning veterans' needs only from recognized veterans' organizations and patriotic unaffiliated groups.

In short, Senator Martin condemned the use of the uniform or veteran status as a cloak behind which to advance communistic ideas in the guise of aid to veterans, and inferentially pointed out the infiltration tactics used as a common weapon by communists; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania commends and congratulates Senator Edward Martin for the forthright stand he has taken on the above occasion; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to United States Senator Edward Martin.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 22, 1947.

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), that House Bill No. 438, Printer's No. 274, entitled "An act to further amend section three of and add section four to the act approved the twenty-fourth day of May one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (P. L. 129) entitled 'An act to empower boroughs and cities to establish a police pension fund to take property in trust therefor and regulating and providing for the regulation of the same' deleting provisions relating to termination of right to participate in the fund and regulation thereof and providing that compensation or pension is not to be subject to attachment execution assignment or transfer and payable only to beneficiary designated in Pennsylvania," be recalled from the Governor for further consideration.

SENATE

TUESDAY, May 27, 1947

The Senate met at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. W. MURRAY YOUNG offered the following prayer:

O Thou Who art the God of the Living and the Living Dead; Thou hast sent us forth to play our part in a struggling and unstable world where there is no gain except by loss, and no life except by death. With deep and abiding tenderness and gratitude, we think of those sacred and quiet acres, all marked by the bright cross of sacrifice, where at home and abroad sleep the mortal forms of the Crusaders of liberation and freedom of democracy. We are aware of the shadows of sorrow that darken our hearts, our homes and our nation with the consciousness that they no longer walk among us. But we rejoice with them as we approach our Day of National Remembrance, that their souls will still go marching on in a world cleansed of bestial domination and desolation.

Make us worthy of those of our sons and daughters, as well as our forebearers whose graves we shall presently garnish with wreaths of tenderest memory and love. And may the Day of Remembrance, A. D. 1947, be filled with the fragrance of the spirit of sacrifice of those who—"Gave the last full measure of devotion," to home and country. God grant that we may fittingly honor their memory by fully subscribing to the working of the democratic processes which have made us great, and have given us our American Way of Life.

"God of our fathers, known of old,
Lord of our far-flung battle line,
Beneath whose awful hand we hold,
Dominion over palm and pine;
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget!"

All this we ask in the name of the One whose truth makes us, and all men free! Amen!

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. TALLMAN and Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

REMARKS BY PAUL H. GRIFFITHS, NATIONAL COMMANDER, AMERICAN LEGION

The PRESIDENT. Members of the Senate, we are highly honored today by the presence of the National Commander of the American Legion, Paul H. Griffiths, of Uniontown, Pennsylvania. May I say to you, as a legionnaire and as a veteran, that we are indeed especially proud of the fact that Pennsylvania, in these grave days, has a Pennsylvanian as commander of the Legion.

Paul Griffiths has been in harness in Legion circles for years. He started in with its inception right after World War I; he is a veteran of World War I and a veteran of World War II. He knows the Legion, he knows Pennsylvania, and he knows America. I know of no one at the moment in our great country who is doing more to spread the gospel of real true Americanism than Paul H. Griffiths, it is a pleasure for me to introduce him to you, and I would like him to say a few words.

Commander GRIFFITHS. Thank you, Governor Strickler.

Gentlemen of the Senate, this is indeed a very happy privilege for me. I have been going about over the country, into every state of the union, and I have talked before joint sessions of the legislatures in almost every state of the union this year, but I know of no greater pleasure than to come back to my own Pennsylvania and have the opportunity to come before this distinguished body, to bring you greetings of more than 306,000 veterans of Pennsylvania, who are members of the American Legion in Pennsylvania, and the more than three and one-half million veterans in the nation who are members of the American Legion, and for whom I am this year the spokesman and national commander.

I do not come here to ask you to pass any legislation for veterans. I come here merely to commend you for the very fine things you have done for veterans in the past, and to assure you that, as Pennsylvanians, we have confidence in the actions that you will give to the veterans of this Commonwealth in the years to come.

I believe these are trying times, times when all of us must consider seriously the situation that confronts this great nation. I am glad to have the opportunity to say something to you, as the lawmakers of this great Commonwealth, about the things that I think confront the nation today.

Primarily, I believe we should consider the subversive activities that we find rampant in this country. Wherever I go, regardless of the group that I go before, I find a willingness to hear something about the true principles of Americanism that the American Legion has been advocating for years, and the danger that confront this nation and the world, because of the spread of Russian influence and communism throughout the world. I know of no better place in this country to speak of Americanism than right here in Pennsylvania. Even though a great part of the population out in the part of the state where I come from is made up of people who came to this country from foreign lands, seeking freedom and liberty and opportunity, I am sure you realize that no better group of Americans will be found any place in this country than right out there in Western Pennsylvania, but it is almost appalling when you think that here in the great state of Pennsylvania, and throughout the entire nation, we have people who are spreading foreign ideologies, ideologies that are foreign influenced, foreign dominated and foreign financed, with which they would supplant our American way of life. I think the time has come when we must call upon all Americans to stand up for America and let the world know that we propose to perpetuate the kind of government that we have had here and the things that have made us the greatest nation in all the world.

During the last war we defeated both Nazism and Fascism, we hope for all time, but there is another "ism" which seems to have had a new birth, and which is spreading itself over the world at a terrific pace. Of course, I refer to communism, and if we are going to defeat communism in America and preserve the American way of life, the things that have made us so great, we have got to do something more than just sit by complacently and hope that Americanism is preserved and that communism is defeated.

The Under-secretary of State, the other day, before the Committee on Un-American Activities in the House of Representatives at Washington, said that he believed that Russia was an aggressor nation, and he told us how she was spreading herself over the world, and how in Europe and in China she was making great progress and drawing the iron curtain behind her as she went.

The President of the United States appeared before a joint session of the House and Senate in Washington about two months ago and asked that group there to change our foreign policy in order that we might send money, soldiers, diplomats and technicians into Greece and Turkey to prevent the spread of communism there.

I believe the people of America have awakened to the dangers, because of the position that these leaders in high places in this country have taken, and we agree that Russian influence and the spread of communism must be stopped throughout the world, but we believe that most important of all is the stopping of the spread of communism here in America, and we find it here in almost every strata of American life, in our churches, in our schools, in our labor organizations, in our governmental departments, and, I am ashamed to say, in some of our veterans' organizations.

And so, if I could bring you any message at all, it would be that you see to it, as the highest house of our Legislature here in Pennsylvania, that communism in this great Commonwealth be outlawed, so that where communists dare show their ugly heads, we could arrest them and punish them. Opponents to our plea to abolish or outlaw communism in the United States say that it would only drive them underground. Well, in my opinion, they are fugitives from the fact, because communists in this country have always been underground; only leaders who sneak into this country by one device or another are above ground, and if we could outlaw them and drive them underground, we would at least be able to enforce our laws against them, and that would make it more difficult for them to receive their orders and their money and the other things that they receive from abroad.

In addition to outlawing the communist party, I think we ought to take steps in this country to build up our national defense, and make ourselves so strong that when our Secretary of State, General Marshall, also a Pennsylvanian, goes to the foreign minister's conference the next time, that he can speak to Russia in a firm voice. He has indicated that he must do that, if we are going to get any place with the making of the peace, and he has also indicated that if Russia refuses to go along much longer, the thing that the United States and those nations which wish to maintain peace in the world will have to do is to make a peace without Russia.

I realize that the Senate of Pennsylvania does not make our laws or our appropriations with regard to the national defense, but this body has many time memorialized the Congress on things that they wanted to see enacted into law, and I would like to see from my home state of Pennsylvania some action on the part of our law-making body that would let the Congress know that we in Pennsylvania insist upon adequate national defenses.

We believe that by enacting some plan of universal military training we could have a nucleus around which we could build an adequate national defense in this country, and still not displace our young men and young women, as it was necessary to do in time of war.

The American Legion has introduced into the Congress a bill known as the American Plan for Universal Military Training, which would take the young men of this country, when they reach the age of eighteen or when they graduate from high school, and send them into a training center situated as near their home as possible, where they would receive a four month basic training period; at the completion of that four month basic training period they would be allowed to choose for themselves how they could complete the equivalent of a year's military training. If they are going on to college, they could take the R. O. T. C., or, if they are going to become doctors, dentists, or chemists, they could qualify for a commission when they qualify for their degree. If they are going back to factories or farms or shops or mines, they could join the National Guard or the Naval Reserve Training Program or any other recognized training reserve program, and complete the equivalent of a year's military training there.

We do not believe there is any great amount of displacement to the youth of this country in any such plan as that. Some people have confused our idea with compulsory military service, but I want you to realize there is a great difference between universal military training and compulsory military service. Compulsory military service would take the young men of this country in peace time as we took them in time of war, send them into the regular establishments of the army and the navy and make them available to man our outposts, or go into the armies of occupation, or even to man the posts here at home for a definite period. I do not believe the American people are in favor of compulsory military service in peace time, but universal military training, you see, would do no such thing. We found through a Gallup poll that was taken just last month, that about seventy-three per cent of the people in this country, or at least seventy-three per cent of the people contacted in that poll, agree that we should have some kind of universal military training, and I think such a memorializing resolution would be a very fine gesture on the part of both branches of this Legislature in Pennsylvania. And naturally, I would like to see that come this year, because I am preaching and teaching national defense and universal military training in every corner of this great country of ours. I would like to see some action on the part of our Legislature that would memorialize Congress with regard to a plan for universal military training and let them know how the people of Pennsylvania feel about this plan, which would provide us a nucleus around which we could build an adequate national defense, not only to preserve the peace, but to afford us protection if war should ever come again. I believe that if we want to preserve the things for which we fought, and for which so many of our comrades gave their lives, we must have universal military training and an adequate national defense, so that we can say to the world "We here in America want to preserve the peace, but if there are aggressor nations in the world, then we want them to know that we are adequately prepared," and I believe that with such an attitude, and with such preparation, no aggressor nation would ever dare attack us.

I repeat, this is indeed a pleasure, for me to be permitted to come before you and have this opportunity of saying a few words to you, and I appreciate the opportunity and your kindness and attention very much. Thank you.

The PRESIDENT. Accompanying the National Commander is the State Commander of the American Legion, Clyde Rankin, and I would just like to have him rise.

Mr. TARR. Mr. President, on behalf of the members of the Senate, since Commander Griffiths happens to come from the city of Uniontown and is one of my comrades of Lafayette Post No. 51, I wish to express our sincere thanks for his appearance here this afternoon. If you folks knew Paul as well as we in Uniontown and Fayette county know Paul, you would know that everything he told you this afternoon was sincere and from the bottom of his heart. We can rest assured that just so long as men like Paul Griffiths head our veteran's organizations, Americanism in Pennsylvania and the United States has no worry.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you very much, Commander Griffiths. I hope you enjoy your visit through Pennsylvania, and that you will come back to see us soon again.

RECESS

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I understand a number of men in the Senate chamber and members of the Senate are members of the American Legion, who would like to have an opportunity to greet Commander Griffiths personally.

RECESS

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

HOUSE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO CONTINUE ITS STUDY, INVESTIGATION AND CONSIDERATION OF ALL PENAL LAWS OF THE COMMONWEALTH

In the Senate, March 10, 1947.

Whereas, Under Resolution, Serial Number 15 of the General Assembly of 1945, the Joint State Government Commission was directed to investigate, survey and consider all penal laws of the Commonwealth and to revise and restate such penal laws in codified form and to report its findings and conclusions at the next regular session of the General Assembly, and

Whereas, the laws of criminal procedure of the Commonwealth to better serve the efficient administration of Justice are in need of similar study and codification, and

Whereas, because of the great importance attached to both the proper study and codification of the penal laws and the laws relating to criminal procedure it would be advisable and advantageous to make further study of the penal laws in conjunction with the study of the laws relating to criminal procedure, therefore be it,

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to continue its survey, investigation and consideration of all the penal laws of the Commonwealth and in connection therewith to survey, investigate and consider the laws of the Commonwealth relating to criminal procedure, and to completely revise and restate such penal laws and laws relating to criminal procedure into codified form and to report its findings and conclusions to the next regular session of the General Assembly with a bill or bills embodying a codification of the penal laws and laws relating to criminal procedure of the Commonwealth to be introduced at the next regular session of the General Assembly:

The Legislative Reference Bureau shall prepare the necessary drafts of all bills agreed on by the commission and shall furnish such advice and assistance as it may be called on to furnish.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I rise on a point of personal privileges to read a letter which I received, dated at Harrisburg, May 24, 1947.

"Harrisburg, Penna., May 24, 1947.

Hon. Jacob Carr, State Senate, Harrisburg, Penna.

Dear Senator:

Many of your admirers of long standing are somewhat troubled in mind and saddened in heart over the implications which naturally follow from an article written by one Joseph Miller and published in the Philadelphia Inquirer on Friday May 23, as per attached clipping. Apparently you have changed your position upon the Sunday ice-hockey bill.

Senator, many of us know that legislators naturally fall into several categories. Some vote righteously but live in sin. Some live righteously but vote for sin. Other live righteously and vote righteously. One can never sin righteously. In past years we have consistently classified you as one who both voted and lived righteously. Are we now to assume that you have espoused the devil and all of his works? We sincerely hope not. If valiant Christians, like you, forsake the cause of Sabbath observance and permit of its prostitution, then certainly our country is headed to perdition.

Now, Senator Carr, we do hope that you will reconsider your present stand upon this matter. We do not want our boys and girls to look upon ice-folly-leg shows on the Sabbath day when they should be reflecting upon the pure thoughts and fine influences which emanate from our Christian Churches.

Sincerely and hopefully,

JOHN GROSS"

Mr. President, the letter is the result of publication in the Philadelphia Inquirer, under a Harrisburg date line of May 22, of a statement concerning my operation as chairman of a Senate Committee, in cooperation with the House, with regard to getting bills out of committees on each side that the sponsors of bills feel are being unfairly held in such committees.

Acting as chairman of that committee, and under instructions from the Republican caucus, I presented to the floor leader of the House a list of certain bills which had been handed to me, and among them was this particular bill which seems to have been singled out for special emphasis as the one bill in which we were interested, and I want to state here and now, so that there may be no misunderstanding whatever, that I simply acted as the representative of the Republican caucus in doing what I had been instructed to do as chairman of the committee and that I have not changed my mind in any way concerning any moral legislation and I am still and always will be opposed to any of these bills which liberalize the use of the Sabbath day.

I am saying this publicly, in order that there may be no misunderstanding concerning the ice-hockey follies bill or any other piece of legislation which I may feel it my duty to present, along with other legislation, to the leaders of the House when directed so to do in the caucus of my party.

I do not think that Mr. Miller intended to imply my particular interest in this bill, but a reading of the article would permit that construction to be put upon it, and therefore I would like to request that Mr. Miller give some publicity to my statement of this afternoon, in order that my good friends throughout the state may know that I am still the man I always have been.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. CROWE, from the Committee on Insurance reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 661, entitled:

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in introducing this bill on behalf of Senators Holland, Barr, Snowden, Walker and myself, I wish to make a very short statement.

Mr. President, sometimes during the rush in the last days of a session, we completely forget some item that must be taken care of. It was called to my attention this morning, by many telegrams and letters from hospitals in my district, that Public Law No. 725 sets up a hospital survey in the United States and that is coupled with a one hundred million dollar appropriation of federal funds, to be used for construction and extension of hospital facilities in the various states and that Pennsylvania must enact some law to put us in line to receive for our hospitals of Pennsylvania some of this money. In order that we can place our hospitals in the position of receiving federal funds under Public Law No. 725, I present to the Chair at this time this bill, and ask, if possible, that the committee that receives this bill give it early consideration in order that we may get it through.

Messrs. DENT, HOLLAND, BARR, SNOWDEN and WALKER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 808, entitled:

An Act to provide for an inventory of existing hospitals, for a survey of the need for additional hospital facilities, and for the development and administration of a hospital construction program which will, in conjunction with existing facilities, afford hospitals adequate to serve all people of the State; and appropriating money, establishing methods of administration and control, providing for compliance with the requirements of the Federal Hospital Survey and Construction Act and regulations thereunder, authorizing the acceptance and expenditure of Federal funds in accordance with such requirements.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

Messrs. LANE and HOLLAND read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 809, entitled:

An Act to amend subsection (g) of section two and section three of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 654), entitled "An act to provide for the safety and to protect the health and morals of persons while employed; prescribing certain regulations and restrictions concerning places where persons are employed, and the equipment, apparatus, devices and machinery used therein; prescribing certain powers and duties of the Department of Labor and Industry relative to the enforcement of this act; and fixing penalties," requiring certain buildings to have safety devices for the use of window cleaners and to have their windows washed at stated intervals.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

Mr. WALKER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 810, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections three, four and five of the act approved the seventh day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 158), entitled "An act creating a Legislative Reference Bureau; providing for the election of a director by the General Assembly; designating the officers and employes of such bureau, defining their duties; fixing their salaries; abolishing the present Legislative Reference Bureau; and making an appropriation," further defining the powers of the director with respect to the employes of the Bureau, and increasing the director's salary.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION WITH THE PENNSYLVANIA HISTORICAL AND MUSEUM COMMISSION TO SURVEY ALL HISTORIC BUILDINGS AND SITES AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL SITES

Messrs. STIEFEL, CHAPMAN, RUTH, DISILVESTRO, BLASS and LLOYD H. WOOD, offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 27, 1947.

Whereas, the historic buildings and sites which constitute the tangible remains of Pennsylvania's rich and inspiring historic past are at the present time in constant danger of destruction as a result of modern progress and its concomitant expansion of residential and business buildings developments embracing wider and wider areas, and

Whereas, many significant buildings or sites in Pennsylvania have already been destroyed, deformed or misused, not through any deliberate intention or malevolent design to wipe out the landmarks of the Commonwealth's proud history, but through mere unawareness of their value and importance, and

Whereas, all historic buildings and sites throughout Pennsylvania are of inestimable educational and civic value and thus ought to be preserved for the benefit of present and future citizens of the Commonwealth, and

Whereas, no agency of the Commonwealth is presently empowered or directed to take steps for the protection and preservation of historic buildings and sites without prior authorization given in each case by the General Assembly, New Therefore Be It:

Resolved; (if the House concur) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby instruct the Joint State Government Commission with the cooperation of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission, to make a survey and prepare a list of all the historic buildings and sites and archaeological sites which it deems to be of distinctive significance and value to the history or archaeology of this Commonwealth, and to report this list to the General Assembly at its next regular session with recommendations for appropriate legislation to assure the safety and preservation of such buildings and sites; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby authorizes the Joint State Government Committee, with the advice and cooperation of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission, to declare any historic building or site or any archaeological sites to be of distinctive significance and value to the history or archaeology of this Commonwealth; and urgently requests any person or persons owning or having custody of a building or site which the Joint State Government Committee has so declared to be of distinctive significance and value not to sell or destroy such building or site until the General Assembly at its next regular session has had an opportunity to take appropriate action.

Ordered, That the Clerk present same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 428, entitled:

An Act to further amend clause (17) of subdivision (4) of subsection (L) of section four of the act approved the fifth day of December one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897) entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis requiring employers to keep records and make reports and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons providing procedure and administrative details for the determination payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer and prescribing penalties" by expressly excluding from the definition of "employment" services of certain solicitors agents and salesmen who are compensated on a commission basis.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 428

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 428, passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I voted with the majority.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I voted with the majority.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make an amendment to this bill, merely changing the effective date.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 102, as follows:

An Act providing for the adjustment and settlement by the Department of Public Assistance of certain legal and moral claims against the Commonwealth arising out of contracts with the former State Emergency Relief Board for the slaughter of drought cattle and making an appropriation

Whereas The State Emergency Relief Board entered into contracts with the owners of certain abbatoirs to slaughter drought cattle which contracts required certain owners to expend large sums of money in making improvements to comply with Federal inspections before slaughtering could be commenced and

Whereas In some cases by the time these improvements were completed the shipment of cattle had ceased and the owners making these improvements lost large sums of moneys therefore

Section 1 The Department of Public Assistance having taken over the powers and duties of the State Emergency Relief Board and the liquidation of the said board under the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2051) entitled "An act relating to public assistance providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children aged persons blind persons and other persons requiring relief providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with and to accept and disburse moneys received from the United States Government for assistance to such persons providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance pensions for the blind old age assistance and the State Emergency Relief Board" is hereby empowered to adjust and settle any and all legal or moral claims which the owners of abbatoirs may have against the Commonwealth by reason of contracts entered into with the State Emergency Relief Board for the slaughtering of cattle necessitating extensive improvements which represent a loss to the owner because of the cessation of the shipment of cattle for slaughter of said abbatoirs The Department of Public Assistance shall in the settlement and adjustment of said claims determine the cost of the improvements made in the case of each such abbatoir and the actual value thereof to the owner in the ordinary course of his business and shall equitably adjust and settle claims for such sums as in the opinion of the board represents the costs of the improvements made by an owner which are of no substantial benefit to the owner in the ordinary course of his business and the cost of which was not recovered from profits made on the slaughter of cattle under the terms of such contracts

Section 2 The sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Public Assistance for the payment of claims allowed against the Commonwealth by the Department of Public Assistance under the provisions of this act Payment from said appropriation shall be made on requisition of the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance in the manner provided by law

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 615, as follows:

An Act making provisions for community property law providing that the act shall apply to husbands and wives and their property subsequent to the effective date of the act defining separate property and the community property of the husband and wife providing for the management control and disposition thereof including the homestead defining the ownership of funds on deposit in any bank or banking institution providing for the rights and remedies of creditors providing that either spouse may give or convey his or her community property to the other providing for disposition of community property on dissolution of marriage providing for the substitution of one spouse under certain conditions for the other through legal proceedings in the management control and disposition of community property providing for the administration and distribution of the interests of a deceased spouse in community property

Section 1 All property of the husband both real and personal owned or claimed by him before marriage or before the effective date of this act whichever is later and that acquired afterwards by gift devise or descent or received as compensation for personal injuries shall be his separate property

Section 2 All property of the wife both real and personal owned or claimed by her before marriage or before the effective date of this act which ever is later and that acquired afterwards by gift devise or descent or received as compensation for personal injuries shall be her separate property

Section 3 All property acquired by either the husband or wife during marriage and after the effective date of this act except that which is the separate property of either as hereinabove defined shall be deemed the community or common property of the husband and wife and each shall be vested with an undivided one-half interest therein and all the effects which the husband and wife possess at the time the marriage may be dissolved shall be regarded as common effects or gains unless the contrary be satisfactorily proved

Section 4 The wife shall have the management and control and may dispose of her separate property and that portion of the common or community property consisting of her earnings all rents interest dividends and other income from her separate property and all other common or community property the title to which stands in her name The husband shall have the management and control and may dispose of his separate property and all community property the management control and disposition of which is not conferred upon the wife hereby

Section 5 All real estate whether the separate property of the husband or wife or the community or common property of both shall not be sold encumbered or otherwise disposed of except in the manner provided by law prior to the effective date of this act

Section 6 Any funds on deposit in any bank or banking institution whether in the name of the husband or wife shall be presumed to be the separate property of the party in whose name they stand regardless of who made the deposit and unless said bank or banking institution is notified to the contrary it shall be governed accordingly in honoring checks and orders against such account

Section 7 That portion of the community property under the management control and disposition of the wife or which stands in her name shall be liable for debts contracted by the wife and for torts of the wife committed in the course of acquiring holding or managing such community property but not otherwise That portion of the community property which is under the management control and disposition of the husband shall be liable for debts contracted by the husband and for torts of the husband committed in the course of acquiring managing holding or disposing of the community property but not otherwise The husband and wife and each of them shall be entitled to the exemptions to which they or either of them are entitled under existing laws All debts created by the husband or wife after marriage or after the effective date of this act which ever is later shall be regarded as community debts unless the contrary be satisfactorily proved

Section 8 No creditor shall have recourse to the community property for the payment of debts or liabilities created by either the husband or the wife except as provided in section seven of this act Provided however That any creditor may satisfy his claim or demand out of the community property which was under the management control and disposition of the spouse incurring the indebtedness or liability at the time the debt or liability was contracted or created and which has been subsequently conveyed or transferred to the other spouse and is under the management control and disposition of said other spouse without proof that said creditor relied upon said community property in advancing said credit but without prejudice to the rights of the third party purchasers encumbrancers or other creditors or grantees and provided further that the husband or wife on paying community debts shall as between themselves charge the same against community property

Section 9 The husband may give grant bargain sell or convey directly to his wife and a wife may give grant bargain sell or convey directly to her husband his or her community property in esse Every deed and conveyance made from the husband to the wife or from the wife to the husband shall operate to divest the property therein described of every claim or demand as community property to the extendt herein provided and shall vest the same in the grantee as the separate property of the grantee Provided however That the deeds conveyances or transfers hereby authorized shall not affect any existing equity in favor or creditors of the grantor at the time of such transfer gift or encumbrance

Section 10 In the event of the dissolution of marriage by decree of any court of competent jurisdiction the husband and wife shall each be vested with an undivided one-half interest in the community property as tenants in common but nothing herein shall prevent the court from having the same powers with respect to said property as to other property of either the husband or wife

Section 11 Whenever the husband or the wife is non composmentis or has been convicted of a felony or sentenced to imprisonment for a period of more than one year or whenever the husband has abandoned his wife and family and left her and his family if they have children without support or whenever the husband or the wife is an habitual drunkard or for any other reason is incapacitated to manage control or dispose of the community property the other spouse may present a petition duly verified to the court of quarter sessions of the county wherein they reside or if they are non-residents wherein any of the community property is located or situated stating the name of the incapacitated spouse a description of all community property both real and personal and the facts which render the other spouse incapacitated to manage control or dispose of the community property and praying that the spouse filing the petition be substituted for the incapacitated spouse as to the management control or disposition of the community property then under the management control and disposition of said spouse with the same power of managing controlling and disposing of the community property as was vested in the incapacitated spouse

Section 12 In all such cases services of process shall be had as in other civil actions

Section 13 Upon the hearing of the petition so filed the court shall render judgment therein either dismissing said petition or adjudging the spouse filing same to have such power of managing controlling and disposing of the community property either real or personal formerly under the management control and disposition of the other spouse as to the court may appear to be just proper equitable and to the best interests of said estate

Section 14 All judgments rendered as in the preceding section provided shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the court of the county where said property affected thereby is situated and such judgment when so rendered shall be notice of the facts therein set out

Section 15 Upon the death of the husband or the wife the surviving spouse shall administer all community property in the same manner and with the same duties privileges and authority as are vested in a surviving partner to administer and settle the affairs of a partnership upon the death of the other partner Provided That the surviving husband or wife shall not be disqualified from acting as executor or administrator of the estate of the deceased husband or wife And provided further That the survivor of the husband or wife shall pay out of the community property except the homestead and exempt property all debts of the community whether created by the husband or the wife And provided further That when all debts of the community shall have been fully satisfied the survivor shall transfer and convey to the administrator or executor of the deceased one-half of the community property remaining to be administered and distributed as other property of the estate either subject to the terms of the will of the deceased or under the laws of descent and distribution as the case may be and thereafter all the interest of the surviving partner in said community property shall be that of a tenant in common And provided further That any interest in a homestead so conveyed shall not be subject to administration under the laws of this State except in the manner provided by law at the time of the effective date of this act

Section 16 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, this is a very important piece of legislation. There are some arguments advanced by some people that this bill ought to be passed, because in nine other states of the union they have the so-called split tax on community property, and they can take advantage of that and divide the income earned by the head of the family and divide it between the husband and wife, and therefore reduce the initial tax paid to the government.

Mr. President, the fact that nine states have such a law does not alter the position that we find ourselves in.

I believe that the federal government taxes because it needs money to operate the government. I believe that the state of Pennsylvania taxes for the same purpose. If we go about cutting away at the federal taxes by devices such as this there can be no other alternative except a general raise in taxes by the federal government.

Just as a matter of information to the members of the Senate, let us just see what this bill will do. It is argued that this bill will save money for ordinary people, persons with incomes in the lower brackets. It does that, Mr. President, but that, like every other measure that is advanced on the proposition that it does help the small people, usually gives a great deal more aid and comfort to those less in need of aid and comfort.

For instance, if this community property bill passes in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, this is what would happen to a family that has a $3,000 a year income: On $3,000 a year, a couple without dependents, on a community property basis would pay $266 as compared with $304, or a saving of $38.

At $20,000 a year, if this bill passes on a split tax basis, that couple would pay $3,754 as against $5,114, or a savings in tax to that couple of $1,360 a year.

Now we step into the $50,000 a year class and we find that under the features of this bill a couple would pay a tax of approximately $14,979 as against $19,836, or a difference of $4,857, which makes that couple save in federal taxes $4,829 more than the family that has a $3,000 income.

If we step into the bracket where the surtax on the net income is above $200,000, for example, it is now 86.45 per cent, but under this bill a man and wife with a $1,000,000 income would each have $300,000 in the top bracket, making $600,000 altogether in the top bracket, as against $800,000 in income without the features of this bill.

Some of you may say, why deny to the people of Pennsylvania advantages that are being taken by other states. That is true. Originally in the United States we had three so-called community property states. Those community property states were based upon the fact that the early settlers of those states belonged to the Catholic Church, and the Catholic Church has always maintained a community property basis and therefore when the founders instituted their tax program and their intestate laws, they provided for such a basis.

In later years somebody devised the very peculiar strategy of adopting the same type of basic legislation, because a state that passed this tax saved its citizens a certain amount of federal money. That is eminently unfair to the rest of the states of the nation and to the citizens of the rest of the states, because they pay a full measure of tax while those who are in on this feature will pay a great deal less in taxes.

There may be some justification—and I am not going to go into the merits or demerits of the community property plan based upon a federal law—I believe that if this legislation must come and I believe honestly too that it will come, but it must come on a federal basis in order that the reduced taxes that are being given to certain citizens of certain states will not cause citizens of other states to pay a greater measure of taxes, because the federal government will of necessity have to raise the tax level. You can not get away from that. It happened here and it happens in any legislative body, that when a tax is eliminated or reduced, a new tax must be found or the rates must be increased. I do not believe that Pennsylvania, one of the keystone states—the Keystone State of the Union—ought to step into this picture at this time. There is a controversy in Washington, and I might say to you that a great deal of sentiment has been expressed for the passage of a federal bill. We can not keep slicing at federal income and demand more federal services for the state, and yet hope to have federal tax reductions.

Peculiarly, at this time we find the Republican majority in Congress crying for a tax reduction, politically, and they are trying, of course, to impress the people with the fact that they are economy minded. However, that is not borne out in their record in the various states. We find that the state of Pennsylvania does not go along with the same philosophy that is being exemplified in Washington by the national Republican party, in that it is for a tax reduction and reduced governmental expenditures, whereas we have increased taxes in Pennsylvania, we are increasing the administrative costs in Pennsylvania in every department, and now we are saying to those men who are trying to cut taxes in Washington that we are going to reduce the income you would receive under the present laws.

I say to you this is bad legislation coming from a state such as Pennsylvania. Remember that when the members of a family sit down at the table, every member of that family should be able to hold his head up. Pennsylvania, when it sits down with its sister states, must be proud of the type of legislative action that it takes. I say that it very bad and comes, as the gentleman from Lehigh so often says, in bad grace, for a state which at this time is raising taxes and increasing appropriations, and yet denying your own colleagues in Washington the right to do what they are trying to do in the way of tax reductions.

If and when the federal government passes this legislation, we will be in a position to take advantage of it, but we have no business at this time passing community property legislation, especially when you consider how it works in conjunction with our intestate laws. Under our present laws, as I understand them, a widow is entitled to one-third of an inheritance but if this bill is passed that widow will be entitled to one-third of the inheritance plus fifty per cent which she will own automatically under the community property bill, giving her approximately two-thirds of the property. Some of us feel there are conditions that arise where a person may find himself in a position where his children should receive at least their share under our present intestate laws.

I say there has not been enough thinking about the consequences of this legislation in the mad desire and scramble to save a few dollars at the present time and I want to say to those of you in the higher income groups that you are not doing any particular favor or giving any particular favor to the lower income families. The lower income families comprise one group that would get no benefit from the provisions of this bill. The same tax would apply to incomes of $2,000 and below. A family having an income of $2,000 would pay the same tax, whether it is divided between the husband and wife or not.

That is a very serious thought. We must not do at this time anything that will further increase the unrest, the confusion and the distress on the part of the people working in the mills, under this present administration. We must not do that because our whole future and the welfare of our entire nation depends upon a harmonious state existing between capital and labor, and this is a further drive to take away from labor some of its gains, because you give it nothing and reduce the tax for the large income brackets as much, in some instances, as thirty per cent. If this money must then be made up by additional taxes, you will find that it will be done by an additional raise in the base rate, which in turn will do exactly what I am fearful of, that is, increase the low income group taxes. I do not believe any member of this body that is in the high income tax group would want to have his own tax reduced at the expense of those less able to pay.

I am going to ask that those who can see it my way vote this legislation down at this time.

Mr. LORD. Mr. President, having been the sponsor of this bill, I would like to answer my colleague from Westmoreland as to some of the statements he has made with respect to what will happen in the event, as I hope it will, this bill becomes a law in Pennsylvania.

I do not see why any member of this Senate wants to discriminate in favor of the citizens of California, Arizona, Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Washington, Nevada, Idaho, Oklahoma, and, on July 5, 1947, Oregon.

As I followed the arguments of the Senator from Westmoreland, he believes that we ought not pass this community property bill, but we ought to allow the citizens of those favored states to take advantage of all the citizens of Pennsylvania and have our citizens continue to pay income taxes in increased amounts over what they have to pay.

I mean this, Mr. President: I mean that it seems to me that we in the Senate of Pennsylvania must think of all the citizens of Pennsylvania. Whether a man makes a lot of money or whether he is not favored, by nature or endowment or otherwise and does not make a lot of money, he is still a citizen of Pennsylvania and he is still entitled to the consideration of every member of this Senate and if we in the Senate can benefit or better the conditions of any of our citizens, whether he be rich or poor, it is our duty to do that for him.

Mr. President, I say this to you, that naturally if a man makes $10,000 a year he has greater burdens than a man that makes $500 a year, he has to pay more taxes, and if by reason of this community property bill, we can save him taxes, it is our duty to do it.

Mr. President, why should we have our citizens pay to the United States government $200,000,000 more than they would otherwise have to pay if everyone of the forty-eight states in the Union enjoyed the same benefits that the citizens of those favored states enjoy at the present time.

In other words, we would be bound to benefit because of the fact that over $200,000,000 is saved by those citizens which otherwise would be collected by the Collector of Internal Revenue in Washington and would be spread over the entire country including Pennsylvania.

Of course we realize that the federal government will have to take some steps to correct this situation, which it should have done before this time. Before this bill was introduced, Mr. President, I endeavored to ascertain whether any law would be passed by the federal government, and I am sure no such law will be passed. It was attempted in 1941 but nothing has been done since.

Just last Saturday in the Saturday Evening Post there appeared an article, a copy of which I hold in my hand. The matter deserves such attention that they have carried this article entitled "How nine states beat the income tax" and this article says "simply because they live in lucky states—and are good to their wives—thousands of favored citizens get a sweet reduction in the income tax." The Senator from Westmoreland argued that this bill ought not be passed because it benefits the wealthy man more than to the extent that it benefits the man who does not make as much money.

I say to you, Mr. President, and I repeat, that we ought to consider every citizen of Pennsylvania. To me there is no question in my mind but that this bill should be passed, because otherwise we in Pennsylvania are paying in income taxes large amounts of money that otherwise we would not have to pay.

The purpose of this bill, and the only reason for it, is that there be an equalization, that ratably and equally the federal income tax be assessed against all the citizens of the state of Pennsylvania, in the same manner they are now assessed against the citizens of California, Oklahoma and the other states I have mentioned, the states as mentioned in this article. That is the real purpose.

In addition to that Mr. President it does not affect our present law. A man's income, where should it go? It should go to his wife and his family. Under this law a lot of consideration, may I say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, has been given by the Committee on Judiciary General, a sub-committee, and by many of the lawyers in this Senate with respect to the various forms of acts that have been introduced throughout the country, and we all feel that it will have the effect of keeping families together, by distributing the income between husband and wife, where it belongs, and in addition to that every five years—realize this, Mr. President, under this bill every five years every citizen of Pennsylvania will get a sabbatical leave from the payment of federal income tax. That is the way it work out.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that this bill should be passed, and I think it should become law in Pennsylvania because it will benefit every one of the citizens of this state.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I said that the lower income groups would not receive any benefit. You must earn $3,000 a year before this bill becomes beneficial to you, and then only in the amount of $38.

I wonder how many members of this Senate know how many citizens of Pennsylvania are in the income group earning less than $3,000 a year in normal times in this Commonwealth. This bill will benefit approximately one out of every ten persons. The percentage ratio is that approximately ninety-three per cent of the families in Pennsylvania would receive no benefit whatsoever from this bill, but they will receive a penalty because this money must be made up somewhere and the federal government will put through another set of excise taxes or an increase in the base rate of the income tax. Therefore, the groups which receive no benefits will pay a higher income tax in the end, in order that those in the high income brackets will receive the benefits under this bill.

I said that this bill should be considered on a nationwide basis, and I will tell you why I said that, because before the Federal Congress today there are two proposals, one that considers the community property base of taxation, identical to what this bill is, and the other is a proposal by Senator Lucas of Illinois, who proposes that the federal exemption be raised from $500 to $600 and two per cent reduction in the basic tax. If that is done we will remove from the tax rolls approximately twelve and a half million families in the low income tax group, low income producers.

In order that this bill can be placed upon an equitable basis, it must come from the source of taxation. The federal government passes the federal income tax laws and we can not amend them. We can not in justice give to the citizens of Pennsylvania, which the Senator from Philadelphia wants to try to help, and I know he is sincere, but we can not help ninety per cent of the people of the Commonwealth who are in the income producing brackets below $3,000 a year, because we have no right to amend the requirements of the federal law. So if this legislation is sound—and I am not arguing that it is not sound, I can see many advantages to the split income provision, I can see putting a married man on the same basis as a single man—the man that gives more to the community is the married man with a family, and he should have every advantage that can be give to him under the law.

And therefore, I say that this bill must emanate from the Federal Congress because they control the legislation that imposes the tax burden.

We here in Pennsylvania are not being fair to the ninety per cent of people who are in the lower income brackets. Very fortunately I would benefit from this bill, but I would not consider myself in an honorable position by voting to reduce my own taxes when, by the same token, I know that eventually and inevitably I will increase the taxes of my neighbor who is not in such a fortunate position.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Lord.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogaed?

Mr. LORD. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Senator Lord, how much will be saved to the taxpayers of the state of Pennsylvania under this bill? Does the gentleman from Philadelphia have any idea as to that amount?

Mr. LORD. Mr. President, in reply to the interrogation of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Jaspán, various amounts have been stated to me. I do know that Pennsylvania is one of the largest payers of income taxes into the federal government in the county. I was informed today that that saving will be approximately $100,000,000 in income taxes, because of the vast income in Pennsylvania. Necessarily, that must be a guess.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, how is that money to be made up in the federal budget, that $100,000,000 the gentleman from Philadelphia mentions?

Mr. LORD. Of course, Mr. President, that money will have to be made up by the federal government.

Mr. JASPAN. In what manner?

Mr. LORD. In making a change and assessing, as I said, equally and ratably, every citizen of the United States. It has been said here that ninety per cent of the people would not benefit if this bill would pass. However, Mr. President, they would all benefit, because if all the states were assessed in the same manner, the federal government would get $200,000,000 more in the treasury, a portion of which would come into Pennsylvania.

Mr. JASPAN. In other words, Mr. President, it will have either to be through additional taxation or assessments against the citizens, if I understand correctly the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. LORD. No, Mr. President, the taxes would still be the same, but the federal government would have to have the rates apply to everybody in an equal manner.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, somebody will have to pay the taxes, is that correct, in order to make up that $100,000,000?

Mr. LORD. There is no question, Mr. President, that the same people would pay the taxes, but in a different manner.

Mr. JASPAN. But, Mr. President, they would have to pay additional taxes, is that correct, to make up that $100,000,000?

Mr. LORD. It is not an additional tax, as they would pay less taxes in Pennsylvania.

Mr. JASPAN. $100,000,000 less; is that right?

Mr. LORD. That is right, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. How is that to be made up in the federal budget? They have a budget yearly, Senator Lord, is that correct, and if you deduct $100,000,000 from that budget, how is that to be made up?

Mr. LORD. Well, Mr. President, of course, as the Senator from Philadelphia knows, the United States Congress will have to make up the tax the same way that any taxing body does.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, frankly, the answers as given by the gentleman from Philadelphia are not altogether sufficient, as we will have to pay taxes in another fashion. I am going to vote against this bill for one reason, because it is legalizing a method of beating the United States.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am speaking now as the people's lawyer. There was a Congressman from Pennsylvania—I think his name was Rich—who used to get up in Congress every day and say "Where are you going to get the money?" I would like him to be here today and have Senator Jaspán ask him that question.

I want to tell the gentleman on the other side I will be greatly disappointed if they do not pass this bill, because I think it is just another nail in the Republican coffin, and I want to call their attention to the election in Chicago to the election in Baltimore and to election just the other day in Charlestown, West Virginia.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President and my Colleagues, I think it should be stated on the record that the real purpose of this bill is as my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Lord, has so well explained.

I do not particularly like the argument of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, when he says "if this bill is sound, and I am not arguing that it is not sound"—in other words his admission is that this is a sound piece of legislation for the people of Pennsylvania.

The situation is, and I repeat, that nine states fortunately are in the category under their statutes that their taxpayers are permitted to take a certain tax exemption legally, which enables them to save $200,000,000 on their income tax bill. Of course we admit that would go to reduce federal revenues by that much, but again I say, Mr. President, that it is only fair and right that the entire tax bill be distributed equally among all of the forty-eight states of the Union and it is our duty as legislators for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and as representatives of the 9,900,000 people who reside in Pennsylvania, to see that those people get their share of any tax advantages that are to be had.

The gentleman from Westmoreland brings up the problem that this will benefit only those who make a certain amount of income, or over, but I say to the gentleman from Westmoreland that is entirely false and incorrect. This applies to every taxpayer in the state of Pennsylvania who is required to pay an income tax. It spreads all the way over. His statement is in the category of many statements that are made, idly and easily by people who say ten per cent of the people of America own ninety per cent of the property. Those things can not be proved. We do know that in the nine states, which now have a community property law, the taxpayers residing there are able to lighten their tax burdens for federal purpose in the amount of $200,000,000. According to the 1940 census, as published in the 1945 Pennsylvania Manuel, the population of those nine states, Arizona, Texas, Louisiana, California, New Mexico, Washington, Nevada, Idaho and Oklahoma, is 19,088,481 people. More than half that number of people reside in the state of Pennsylvania—to be exact, 9,900,108. If the people residing in those nine states save $200,000,000, certainly our people in Pennsylvania, where we are a little more enterprising, perhaps, than in those states, and have developed our industries to the extent that our incomes are higher and our standard of living is higher, it is only reasonable to believe that our taxpayers are entitled to that $100,000,000 plus that they can save by the enactment of this law.

Mr. President, this is not a party measure. It is a measure for every taxpayer in the State of Pennsylvania and for that reason, Mr. President and my colleagues, we should vote for this bill and be glad of the opportunity of doing so.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in answer to the statement made by the gentleman from Cumberland, when he said that nobody could remember figures and make statements about percentages—I am not often called a liar by a roundabout course—back where I come from they talk more directly.

However, in order that we clear the air a little and that we understand each other I want to read from an article which gives specific figures. It reads:

"The privilege of dividing family incomes would bring important tax savings only to some five million families, while there are forty-seven million taxpayers on the federal tax rolls." "Low income families comprise one group that would get no benefit from dividing incomes. The same tax rate applies on all taxable income of $2,000 and below. Thus, a family paying a tax on $2,000 would pay the same tax whether income was divided between husband and wife or not." "Actually, splitting of income promises tax savings only to about one out of each ten income taxpayers, with the bulk of the savings going to married persons in the middle income groups.

Mr. President, this article is contained in the "United States News" of May 16, 1947.

I will be glad to give this article to Senator Wade and let him become acquainted with the facts concerning the number of taxpayers, their incomes, and who would be affected by this bill.

I have said before, and I repeat again, that this bill is a bill to benefit the high income groups, as against putting additional taxes upon the low income groups.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Chapman.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 887, as follows:

An Act relating to the regulation of rates for insurance which may be written by stock or mutual casualty insurance companies associations or exchanges including fidelity surety and guaranty bonds and all other forms of motor vehicle insurance and title insurance to rating and advisory organizations conferring on the Insurance Commissioner the power and duty of supervising and regulating persons associations companies and corporations and of enforcing the provisions of this act prescribing and regulating the practice and procedure before the commissioner and procedure for review by the courts giving the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County exclusive jurisdiction over certain proceedings prescribing penalties and providing for enforcement thereof and repealing inconsistent acts

Section 1 Purpose of Act The purpose of this act is to promote the public welfare by regulating insurance rates to the end that they shall not be excessive inadequate or unfairly discriminatory to enable authorized insurers to meet all requirements of the insuring public of this Commonwealth and to authorize and regulate cooperative action among insurers in rate making and in other matters within the scope of this act Nothing in this act is intended (1) to prohibit or discourage reasonable competition or (2) to prohibit or encourage uniformity in insurance rates rating systems rating plans or practices This act shall be liberally interpreted to carry into effect its purpose as herein set forth

Section 2 Scope of Act This act applies to all classes and kinds of insurance which may be written by stock or mutual casualty insurance companies associations or exchanges and including fidelity surety and guaranty bonds and all forms of motor vehicle insurance and to title insurance on risks or operations in this Commonwealth except

(a) reinsurance other than joint reinsurance to the extent stated in section eleven

(b) accident and health insurance

(c) insurance against loss of or damage to aircraft or against liability arising out of the ownership maintenance or use of aircraft

(d) workman's compensation insurance

(e) Insurance covering loss in excess of at least ten thousand dollars ($10,000) from any one event issued to self-insurers as defined in rules and regulations which the insurance commissioner hereinafter referred to as the "Commissioner" shall promulgate where the rate is not made by a rating organization

If any kind of insurance subdivision or combination thereof or type of coverage subject to this act is also subject to regulation by another rate regulatory act of this Commonwealth an insurer to which both acts are otherwise applicable shall file with the commissioner a designation as to which rate regulatory act shall be applicable to it with respect to such kind of insurance subdivision or combination thereof or type of coverage

Section 3 Making of Rates All rates shall be made in accordance with the following provisions

(a) Due consideration shall be given to past and prospective loss experience within and outside this Commonwealth to physical hazards to safety and loss prevention factors to underwriting practice and judgment to the extent appropriate to catastrophe hazards if any to a reasonable margin for underwriting profit and contingencies to dividends savings or unabsorbed premium deposits allowed or returned by insurers to their policyholders members or subscribers to past and prospective expenses both country wide and those specially applicable to this Commonwealth and to all other relevant factors within and outside this Commonwealth

(b) The systems of expense provisions included in the rates for use by any insurer or group of insurers may differ from those of other insurers or group of insurers to reflect the requirements of the operating methods of any such insurer or group with respect to any kind of insurance or with respect to any subdivision or combination thereof for which subdivision or combination separate provisions are applicable

(c) Risks may be grouped by classifications for the establishment of rates and minimum premiums Classification rates may be modified to produce rates for individual risks in accordance with rating plans which establish standards for measuring variations in hazards or expense provisions or both Such standards may measure any differences among risks that can be demonstrated to have a probable effect upon losses or expenses

(d) Rates shall not be excessive inadequate or unfairly discriminatory

Section 4 Rate Filings

(a) Every insurer shall file with the commissioner every manual of classifications rules and rates every rating plan and every modification of any of the foregoing which it proposes to use Every such filing shall state the proposed effective date thereof and shall indicate the character and extent of the coverage contemplated When a filing is not accompanied by the information upon which the insurer supports such filing and the commissioner does not have sufficient information to determine whether such filing meets the requirements of the act he may require such insurer to furnish the information upon which it supports such filing Any filing may be supported by (1) the experience or judgment of the insurer or rating organization making the filing (2) the experience of other insurers or rating organizations or (3) any other factors which the insurer or rating organization deems relevant A filing and any supporting information shall be open to public inspection after the filing becomes effective

(b) An insurer may satisfy its obligation to make such filings by becoming a member of or a subscriber to a licensed rating organization which makes such filings and by authorizing the commissioner to accept such filings on its behalf Provided nothing contained in this act shall be construed as requiring any insurer to become a member of or a subscriber to any rating organization

(c) The commissioner shall review such of the filings as it may be necessary to review in order to carry out the purposes of this act

(d) Subject to the exception specified in subsection (e) of this section each filing shall be on file for a waiting period of thirty (30) days before it becomes effective which period may be extended by the commissioner for an additional period not to exceed thirty (30) days upon written notice within such waiting period to the insurer or rating organization which made the filing Upon written application by such insurer or rating organization the commissioner may authorize a filing or a part thereof which he has reviewed to become effective before the expiration of the waiting period or any extension thereof A filing shall be deemed to meet the requirements of this act and to become effective unless disapproved as herein-after provided by the commissioner within the waiting period or any extension thereof

(e) Any filing with respect to a surety or guaranty bond required by law or by court or executive order or by order rule or regulation of a public body not covered by a previous filing or any filing with respect to a contract or a policy covering any risk or kind of insurance or subdivision thereof for which classification rates not generally exist in the industry or which by reason or rarity or peculiar characteristics does not lend itself to normal classification or rating procedure shall become effective when filed and shall be deemed to meet the requirements of this act

(f) Under such rules and regulations as he shall adopt the commissioner may by written order suspend or modify the requirements of filing as to any kind of insurance subdivision or combination thereof or as to classes of risks the rates for which cannot practicably be filed before they are used Such orders rules and regulations shall be made known to insurers and rating organizations affected thereby The commissioner may make such examination as he may deem advisable to ascertain whether any rates affected by such order meet the standards set forth in subsection (d) of section three

(g) Upon the written consent of the insured stating his reasons therefor filed with and approved by the commissioner a rate in excess of that provided by a filing otherwise applicable may be used on any specific risk The rate shall become effective when such consent is filed and shall be deemed to meet the requirements of this act until such time as the commissioner reviews the filing and so long thereafter as the filing remains in effect

(h) Beginning ninety (90) days after the effective date of this act no insurer shall make or issue a contract or policy except in accordance with filings or rates which are in effect for said insurer as provided in this act or in accordance with subsections (f) or (g) of this section

Section 5 Disapproval of Filings

(a) Upon the review at any time by the commissioner of a filing he shall before issuing an order of disapproval hold a hearing upon not less than ten (10) days' written notice specifying the matters to be considered at such hearing to every insurer and rating organization which made such filing and if after such hearing he finds that such filing or a part thereof does not meet the requirements of this act he shall issue an order specifying in what respect he finds that it so fails and stating when within a reasonable period thereafter such filing or a part thereof shall be deemed no longer effective if the filing or a part thereof has become effective under the provisions of section four. Provided however That an insurer or rating organization shall have the right at any time to withdraw a filing or a part thereof subject to the provisions of section seven in the case of a deviation filing. Copies of said order shall be sent to every insurer and rating organization. Said order shall not affect any contract or policy made or issued prior to the expiration of the period set forth in said order.

(b) Any person or organization aggrieved with respect to any filing which in effect may make written application to the commissioner for a hearing thereon. Provided however That the insurer or rating organization that made the filing shall not be authorized to proceed under this subsection. Such application shall specify the grounds to be relied upon by the applicant. If the commissioner shall find that the application is made in good faith that the applicant would be so aggrieved if his grounds are established and that such grounds otherwise justify holding such a hearing he shall within thirty (30) days after receipt of such application hold a hearing upon not less than ten (10) days' written notice to the applicant and to every insurer and rating organization which made such filing.

If after such hearing the commissioner finds that the filing or a part thereof does not meet the requirements of this act he shall issue an order specifying in what respects he finds that such filing or a part thereof fails to meet the requirements of this act and stating when within a reasonable period thereafter such filing or a part thereof shall be deemed no longer effective. Copies of said order shall be sent to the applicant and to every such insurer and rating organization. Said order shall not affect any contract or policy made or issued prior to the expiration of the period set forth in said order.

(c) No filing nor any modification thereof shall be disapproved if the rates in connection therewith meet the requirements of this act.

Section 6 Rating Organizations

(a) A corporation an unincorporated association a partnership or an individual whether located within or outside this Commonwealth may make application to the commissioner for license as a rating organization for such kinds of insurance or subdivisions thereof as are specified in its application and shall file therewith (1) a copy of its constitution its articles of agreement or association or its certificate of incorporation and of its by-laws rules and regulations governing the conduct of its business (2) a list of its members and subscribers (3) the name and address of this Commonwealth upon whom notices or orders of the commissioner or process affecting such rating organization may be served and (4) a statement of its qualifications as a rating organization. If the commissioner finds that the applicant is competent trustworthy and otherwise qualified to act as a rating organization and that its constitution articles of agreement or association or certificate of incorporation and its by-laws and regulations governing the conduct of its business conform to the requirements of law he shall issue a license specifying the kinds of insurance or subdivisions thereof for which the applicant is authorized to act as a rating organization. Every such application shall be granted or denied in whole or in part by the commissioner within sixty (60) days of the date of its filing with him. Licenses issued pursuant to this section shall remain in effect for three (3) years unless sooner suspended or revoked by the commissioner. The fee for said license shall be twenty-five dollars ($25). Licenses issued pursuant to this section may be suspended or revoked by the commissioner after hearing upon notice in the event the rating organization ceases to meet the requirements of this subsection. Every rating organization shall notify the commissioner promptly of every change in (1) its constitution its articles of agreement or association or its certificate of incorporation and its by-laws rules and regulations governing the conduct of its business (2) its list of members and subscribers and (3) the name and address of the resident of this Commonwealth designated by it upon whom notices or orders of the commissioner or process affecting such rating organization may be served.

(b) Subject to rules and regulations which have been approved by the commissioner as reasonable each rating organization shall permit any insurer not a member to be a subscriber to its rating services for any kind of insurance or subdivision thereof for which it is authorized to act as a rating organization. Notice of proposed changes in such rules and regulations shall be given to subscribers. Each rating organization shall furnish its rating services without discrimination to its members and subscribers. The reasonableness of any rule or regulation in its application to subscribers or the refusal of any rating organization to admit an insurer as a subscriber shall at the request of any subscriber or any such insurer be reviewed by the commissioner at a hearing held upon at least ten days' written notice to such rating organization and to such subscriber or insurer. If the commissioner finds that such rule or regulation is unreasonable in its application to subscribers he shall order that such rule or regulation shall not be applicable to subscribers. If the rating organization fails to grant or reject an insurer's application for subscribership within thirty (30) days after it was made the insurer may request a review by the commissioner as if the application had been rejected. If the commissioner finds that the insurer has been refused admittance to the rating organization as a subscriber without justification he shall order the rating organization to admit the insurer as a subscriber. If he finds that the action of the rating organization was justified he shall make an order affirming its action.

(c) No rating organization shall adopt any rule the effect of which would be to prohibit or regulate the payment of dividends savings or unabsorbed premium deposits allowed or returned by insurers to their policyholders members or subscribers.

(d) Cooperation among rating organizations or among rating organizations and insurers and concert of action among insurers under the same general management and control in rate making or in other matters within the scope of this act is hereby authorized provided the filings resulting therefrom are subject to all the provisions of this act which are applicable to filings generally. The commissioner may review such activities and practices and if after a hearing he finds that any such activity or practice is unfair or unreasonable or otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this act he may issue a written order specifying in what respects such activity or practice is unfair or unreasonable or otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this act and requiring the discontinuance of such activity or practice.

Section 7 Deviations Every member of or subscriber to a rating organization shall adhere to the filings made on its behalf by such organization except that any such insurer may file with the commissioner a uniform percentage decrease or increase to be applied to the premiums produced by the rating system so filed for a kind of insurance or for a class of insurance which is found by the commissioner to be a proper rating unit for the application of such uniform percentage decrease or increase or for a subdivision of a kind of insurance (1) comprised of a group of manual classifications which is treated as a separate unit for rate making purposes or (2) for which separate expense provisions are included in the filings of the rating organization. Such deviation filing shall specify the basis for the modification and shall be accompanied by the data upon which the applicant relies. A copy of the filing and data shall be sent simultaneously to such rating organization. Any such deviation filing shall be on file for a waiting period of thirty (30) days before it becomes effective unless the commissioner reviews and authorizes the filing to become effective before the expiration of such period and shall be subject to the provisions of section five Each deviation shall be effective for a period of not less than one (1) year from the date such deviation is filed unless terminated sooner with the approval of the commissioner or in accordance with the provisions of section five

Section 8 Appeal by Minority Any member of or subscriber to a rating organization may appeal to the commissioner from any action or decision of such rating organization in approving or rejecting any proposed change in or addition to the filings of such rating organization and the commissioners shall after a hearing held upon not less than ten days' written notice to the appellant and to such rating organization issue an order approving the action or decision of such rating organization or directing it to give further consideration to such proposal and to take action or make a decision upon it within thirty days or if such appeal is from the action or decision of the rating organization in rejecting a proposed addition to its filings he may in the event he finds that such action or decision was unreasonable issue an order directing the rating organization to make an addition to its filings on behalf of its members and subscribers in a manner consistent with his findings within a reasonable time after the issuance of such order Provided However If the appeal is from the action of the rating organization with regard to a rate on a proposed change in or addition to its filings relating to the character and extent of coverage he shall approve the rate applied by the rating organization or such rate as may be suggested by the appellant if either rate be in accordance with this act

The Failure of a rating organization to take action or make a decision within thirty days after submission to it of a proposal under this section shall constitute a rejection of such proposal within the meaning of this section

If such appeal is based upon the failure of the rating organization to make a filing on behalf of such member or subscriber which is based on a system of expense provisions which differs in accordance with the right granted in subsection (b) of section three from the system of expense provisions included in a filing made by the rating organization the commissioner shall if he grants the appeal order the rating organization to make the requested filing for use by the appellant In deciding such appeal the commissioner shall apply the standards set forth in section three

Section 9 Information to be Furnished Insureds Hearings and Appeals of Insureds Every rating organization and every insurer which makes its own rates shall within a reasonable time after receiving written request therefor and upon payment of such reasonable charge as it may make furnish to any insured affected by a rate made by it or to the authorized representative of such insured all pertinent information as to such rate

Every rating organization and every insurer which makes its own rates shall provide within this Commonwealth reasonable means whereby any person aggrieved by the application of its rating system may be heard in person or by his authorized representative on his written request to review the manner in which such rating system has been applied in connection with the insurance afforded him If the rating organization or insurer fails to grant or reject such request within thirty (30) days after it is made the applicant may proceed in the same manner as if his application had been rejected Any party affected by the action of such rating organizations or such insurer on such request may within thirty (30) days after written notice of such action appeal to the commissioner who after a hearing held upon not less than ten days' written notice of the appellant and to such rating organization or insurer may affirm or reverse such action

Section 10 Advisory Organizations

(a) Every group association or other organization of insurers whether located within or outside this Commonwealth which assists insurers which make their own filings or rating organizations in rate making by the collection and furnishing of loss or expense statistics or by the submission of recommendations but which does not make filings under this act shall be known as an advisory organization

(b) Every advisory organization shall file with the commissioner (1) a copy of its constitution its articles of agreement or association or its certificate of incorporation and of its by-laws rules and regulations governing its activities (2) a list of its members (3) the name and address of a resident of this Commonwealth upon whom notices or orders of the commissioner or process issued at his direction may be served and (4) an agreement that the commissioner may examine such advisory organization in accordance with the provisions of section twelve of this act

(c) If after a hearing the commissioner finds that the furnishing of such information or assistance involves any act or practice which is unfair or unreasonable or otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this act he may issue a written order specifying in what respects such act or practice is unfair or unreasonable or otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this act and requiring the discontinuance of such act or practice

(d) No insurer which makes its own filings nor any rating organization shall support its filings by statistics or adopt rate making recommendations furnished to it by an advisory organization which has not complied with this section or with an order of the commissioner involving such statistics or recommendations issued under subsection (c) of this section If the commissioner finds such insurer or rating organization to be in violation of this subsection he may issue an order requiring the discontinuance of such violation

Section 11 Joint Underwriting or Joint Reinsurance

(a) Every group association or other organization of insurers which engages in joint underwriting or joint reinsurance shall be subject to regulation with respect thereto as herein provided subject however with respect to joint underwriting to all provisions of this act and with respect to joint reinsurance to sections twelve and sixteen to twenty-one of this act

(b) If after a hearing the commissioner finds that any activity or practice of any such group association or other organization is an unfair or unreasonable or otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this act he may issue a written order specifying in what respects such activity or practice is unfair or unreasonable or otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this act and requiring the discontinuance of such activity or practice

(c) The provisions of this section shall not apply to the group action of insurers under the same general management and control

Section 12 Examinations The commissioner shall at least once in five (5) years make or cause to be made an examination of each rating organization licensed in this Commonwealth as provided in section six and he may as often as he may deem it expedient make or cause to be made an examination of each advisory organization referred to in section ten and of each group association or other organization referred to in section eleven The reasonable costs of any such examination shall be paid by the rating organization advisory organization or group association or other organization examined upon presentation to it of a detailed account of such costs The officer manager agents and employees of such rating organization advisory organization or group association or other organization may be examined at any time under oath and shall exhibit all books records accounts or agreements governing its method of operation The commissioner shall furnish two copies of the examination report to the organization group or association examined and shall notify such organization group or association that it may within twenty days thereafter request a hearing on said report or on any facts or recommendations therein Before filing any such report for public inspection the commissioner shall grant a hearing to the organization group or association examined The report of any such examination when filed for public inspection shall be admissible in evidence in any action or proceeding brought by the commissioner against the organization group or association examined or its officers or agents and shall be prima facie evidence of the facts stated therein. The commissioner may withhold the report of any such examination from public inspection for such time as he may deem proper. In lieu of any such examination the commissioner may accept the report of an examination made by the insurance supervisory official of another state pursuant to the laws of such state.

Section 13 Rate Administration Authority and Duties of Commissioner Rules and Regulations

(a) Recording and Reporting of Loss and Expense Experience. The commissioner shall promulgate reasonable rules and statistical plans reasonably adapted to each of the rating systems on file with him which may be modified from time to time and which shall be used thereafter by each insurer in the recording and reporting of its loss and countrywide expense experience in order that the experience of all insurers may be made available at least annually in such form and detail as may be necessary to aid him in determining whether rating systems comply with the standards set forth in this act. Such rules and plans may also provide for the recording and reporting of expense experience items which are specially applicable to this Commonwealth and are not susceptible of determination by a prorating of countrywide expense experience. In promulgating such rules and plans the commissioner shall give due consideration to the rating systems on file with him and in order that such rules and plans may be as uniform as is practicable among several states to the rules and to the form of the plans used for such systems in other states. Such rules and plans shall not place an unreasonable burden of expense on any insurer. No insurer shall be required to record or report its loss experience on a classification basis that is inconsistent with the rating system filed by it nor shall any insurer be required to report its experience to any agency of which it is not a member or subscriber. The commissioner may designate one or more rating organizations or other agencies to assist him in gathering such experience and making compilations thereof and such compilations shall be made available subject to reasonable rules promulgated by the commissioner to insurers and rating organizations.

(b) Interchange of Rating Plan Data. Reasonable rules and plans may be promulgated by the commissioner for the interchange of data necessary for the application of rating plans.

(c) Consultation with Other States. In order to further uniform administration of rate regulatory laws the commissioner and every insurer and rating organization may exchange information and experience data with insurance supervisory official insurers and rating organizations in other states and may consult with them with respect to rate making and the application of rating systems.

(d) Authority and Duties of Commissioner Rules and Regulations. In addition to any powers hereinbefore expressly enumerated in this act the commissioner shall have full power and authority and it shall be his duty to enforce and carry out by regulations orders or otherwise all and singular the provisions of this act and the full intent thereof. The commissioner may make such reasonable rules and regulations not inconsistent with this act or any amendment thereof as may be necessary or proper in the exercise of his powers or for the performance of his duties under this act.

Section 14 False or Misleading Information. No person or organization shall wilfully withhold information from or knowingly give false or misleading information to the commissioner any statistical agency designated by the commissioner any rating organization or any insurer which will affect the rates or premiums chargeable under this act.

Section 15 Assigned Risks Agreements may be made among insurers with respect to the equitable apportionment among them of insurance which may be afforded applicants who are in good faith entitled to but who are unable to procure such insurance through ordinary methods and such insurers may agree among themselves on the use of reasonable rate modifications for such insurance such agreement and rate modifications to be subject to the approval of the commissioner.

Section 16 Penalties. The commissioner may if he finds that any person or organization has violated any provision of this act impose a penalty of not more than fifty dollars ($54) for each such violation but if he finds such violation to be wilful he may impose a penalty of not more than five hundred dollars ($500) for each such violation. Such penalties may be in addition to any other penalty provided by law.

The commissioner may suspend the license of any rating organization or insurer which fails to comply with an order of the commissioner within the time limited by such order or any extension thereof which the commissioner may grant. The commissioner shall not suspend the license of any rating organization or insurer for failure to comply with an order until the time prescribed for an appeal therefrom has expired or if an appeal has been taken until such order has been affirmed. The commissioner may determine when a suspension of license shall become effective and it shall remain in effect for the period fixed by him unless he modifies or rescinds such suspension or until the order upon which such suspension is based is modified, rescinded or reversed.

No penalty shall be imposed and no license shall be suspended or revoked except upon a written order of the commissioner stating his findings made after a hearing held upon not less than ten (10) days' written notice to such person or organization specifying the alleged violation.

Section 17 Hearing Procedure and Judicial Review

(a) Any insurer rating organization or person aggrieved by any action of the commissioner except disapproval of a filing or a part thereof as provided for in section five hereof or by any rule or regulation adopted and promulgated by the commissioner shall have the right to file a complaint with the commissioner and to have a hearing thereon before the commissioner. Pending such hearing and the decision thereon the commissioner may suspend or postpone the effective date of his previous action rule or regulation.

(b) All such hearings and all hearings provided for in section five hereof shall be conducted and the decision of the commissioner on the issue or filing involved shall be rendered in accordance with the provisions of the Administrative Agency Law approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1388) or any amendment thereof relating to adjudication procedure.

(c) Any insurer rating organization or person aggrieved by any adjudication including a disapproval of a filing or portion thereof under the provisions of section five hereof shall have a right to appeal therefrom to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County and have a judicial review of such adjudication within the time and in the manner with the same effect by the Administrative Agency Law or any amendment thereof and the rules of civil procedure promulgated by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania or any amendment thereof having to do with judicial review of adjudications of agencies of the Commonwealth.

Section 18 Constitutionality. If any section subsection subdivision paragraph sentence or clause of this act is held invalid or unconstitutional such decision shall not affect the remaining portions of this act.

Section 19 Short Title. This act shall be known and may be cited as "The Casualty and Surety Rate Regulatory Act".

Section 20 Laws Repealed. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

Section 21 Effective Date. This act shall become effective on the first day of October one thousand nine hundred forty-seven.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, in order to clear this atmosphere with respect to these bills, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to know whether these bills are designed to overcome a United States Supreme Court decision.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the answer is that House bills 887, 888, 890, 897, 903 and 910 are the result of a Supreme Court decision known as the Southeastern Underwriter Decision and the passage of Public Law 15 by the Federal Congress.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, how many states passed similar legislation?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am unable to answer that absolutely. However, it is my understanding that some six states have passed legislation similar to that which we are considering.

Mr. JASPAN. Does the gentleman from Cumberland know of any states that have rejected the proposal?

Mr. WADE. I know of only two states, Mr. President, that have adjourned without finally enacting what is known as all-industry legislation.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, assuming that Pennsylvania passes this bill and another state does not, what will be the effect with respect to the Supreme Court decision?

Mr. WADE. My understanding, Mr. President, is that if Pennsylvania passes this legislation and other states do not pass the legislation, we will bring our laws in conformity with Public Law 15 which, in addition to other things, established a moratorium ending January 1, 1948, so that we would then be in the position of having regulatory laws conforming with Public Law 15, but the other states would not have it and might possibly come under federal regulation on account of not enacting similar legislation.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Holland,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 888, as follows:

An Act relating to the regulation of rates for insurance which may be written by stock or mutual fire marine or fire and marine insurance companies associations or exchanges to rating and advisory organizations to reports by rating organizations and insurers to the Pennsylvania State Police conferring on the Insurance Commissioner the power and duty of supervising and regulating persons associations companies and corporations and of enforcing the provisions of this act prescribing and regulating the practice and procedure before the commissioner and procedure for review by the courts giving the court of common pleas of Dauphin County exclusive jurisdiction over certain proceedings prescribing penalties and providing for enforcement thereof and repealing inconsistent acts

Section 1 Purpose of Act The purpose of this act is to promote the public welfare by regulating insurance rates to the end that they shall not be excessive inadequate or unfairly discriminatory to enable authorized insurers to meet all requirements of the insuring public of this Commonwealth and to authorize and regulate cooperative action among insurers in rate making and in other matters within the scope of this act Nothing in this act is intended (1) to prohibit or discourage reasonable competition or (2) to prohibit or encourage uniformity in insurance rates rating systems rating plans or practices This act shall be liberally interpreted to carry into effect its purposes as herein set forth

Section 2 Scope of Act This act applies to all classes and kinds of insurance which may be written by stock or mutual fire marine or fire and marine insurance companies associations or exchanges on risks located in this Commonwealth Inland marine insurance shall be deemed to include insurance now or hereafter defined by statute or by interpretation thereof or if not so defined or interpreted by ruling of the Insurance Commissioner hereinafter referred to as commissioner or as established by general custom of the business as inland marine insurance

This act shall not apply

(a) To reinsurance other than joint reinsurance to the extent stated in section eleven

(b) To insurance of vessels or craft their cargoes marine builders' risk marine protection and indemnity or other risks commonly insured under marine as distinguished from inland marine insurance policies

(c) To insurance of hulls of aircraft including their accessories and equipment or against liability arising out of the ownership maintenance or use of aircraft

(d) To motor vehicle insurance not to insurance against liability arising out of the ownership maintenance or use of motor vehicles

(e) To perpetual policies of insurance issued in consideration of an initial deposit of moneys with the insurer to be held by it during the time such policies are in force and to be returned to the insureds in whole or in part upon cancellation of the policies

If any kind of insurance subdivision or combination thereof or type of coverage subject to this act is also subject to regulation by another rate regulatory act of this Commonwealth an insurer to which both acts are otherwise applicable shall file with the commissioner a designation as to which rate regulatory act shall be applicable to it with respect to such kind of insurance subdivision or combination thereof or type of coverage

Nothing in this act shall require a domestic mutual fire insurance company or a domestic reciprocal or exchange to file a schedule of rates or to become a member of any rating bureau but such companies reciprocals or exchanges may at their option file such schedules or become members of rating bureaus

Section 3 Making of Rates (a) Rates shall be made in accordance with the following provisions

(1) Manual minimum class rates rating schedules or rating plans shall be made and adopted except in the case of specific inland marine rates on risks specially rated and except in the case of special rates on other than inland marine risks where manual minimum class rates rating schedules or rating plans are not applicable

(2) Rates shall not be excessive inadequate or unfairly discriminatory

(3) Due consideration shall be given to past and prospective loss experience within and outside this Commonwealth to physical hazards to safety and loss prevention factors to underwriting practice and judgment to the extent appropriate to the conflagration and catastrophe hazards to a reasonable margin for underwriting profit and contingencies to dividends savings or unabsorbed premium deposits allowed or returned by insurers to their policyholders members or subscribers to past and prospective expenses both countrywide and those specially applicable to this Commonwealth and to all other relevant factors within and outside this Commonwealth and in the case of fire insurance rates consideration shall be given to the experience of the fire insurance business during a period of not less than the most recent five year period for which such experience is available

(b) Rates made in accordance with this section may be used subject to the provisions of this act

Section 4 Rate Filings (a) Every insurer shall file with the commissioner except as to inland marine risks which by general custom of the business are not written according to manual rates or rating plans every manual minimum class rate rating schedule or rating plan every other rating rule and every modification of any of the foregoing which it proposes to use and shall file every special rate on other than inland marine risks as mentioned in section three (a) (1) which it uses Every such filing shall state the proposed effective date thereof and shall indicate the character and extent of the coverage contemplated When a filing is not accompanied by the information upon which the insurer supports such filing and the commissioner does not have sufficient information to determine whether such filing meets the requirements of the act he may require such insurer to furnish the information upon which it supports such filing Any filing may be supported by (1) the experience or judgment of the insurer or rating organization making the filing (2) the experience of other insurers or rating organizations or (3) any other factors which the insurer or rating organization deems relevant A filing and any supporting information shall be open to public inspection after the filing becomes effective Specific inland marine rates on risks specially rated made by a rating organization shall be filed with the commissioner

(b) An insurer may satisfy its obligation to make such filings by becoming a member of or a subscriber to a licensed rating organization which makes such filings and by authorizing the commissioner to accept such filings on its behalf Provided That nothing contained in this act shall be construed as requiring any insurer to become a member of or a subscriber to any rating organization

(c) The commissioner shall review such of the filings as it may be necessary to review in order to carry out the purposes of this act

(d) Subject to the exceptions specified in subsections (e) and (f) of this section each filing shall be on file for a waiting period of thirty days before it becomes effective which period may be extended by the commissioner for an additional period not to exceed thirty days upon written notice within such waiting period to the insurer

or rating organization which made the filing Upon written application by such insurer or rating organization the commissioner may authorize a filing or a part thereof which he has reviewed to become effective before the expiration of the waiting period or any extension thereof A filing shall be deemed to meet the requirements of this act and to become effective unless disapproved as hereinafter provided by the commissioner within the waiting period or any extension thereof

(e) Specific inland marine rates on risks specially rated by a rating organization shall become effective when filed and shall be deemed to meet the requirements of this act until such time as the commissioner reviews the filing and so long thereafter as the filing remains in effect

(f) Any special rate mentioned in section three (a) (1) on a contract or policy covering other than inland marine risks shall be deemed to meet the requirements of this act until such time as the commissioner reviews the filing and so long thereafter as the filing remains in effect

(g) Under such rules and regulations as he shall adopt the commissioner may be written order suspend or modify the requirement of filing as to any kind of insurance subdivision or combination thereof or as to classes of risks the rates for which cannot practicably be filed before they are used Such orders rules and regulations shall be made known to insurers and rating organizations affected thereby The commissioner may make such examination as he may deem advisable to ascertain whether any rates affected by such order meet the standards set forth in subdivision (2) of subsection (a) of section three

(h) Upon the written consent of the insured stating his reasons therefor filed with and approved by the commissioner a rate in excess of that provided by a filing otherwise applicable may be used on any specific risk The rate shall become effective when such consent is filed and shall be deemed to meet the requirements of this act until such time as the commissioner reviews the filing and so long thereafter as the filing remains in effect

(i) Beginning ninety days after the effective date of this act no insurer shall make or issue a contract or policy except in accordance with the filings or rates which are in effect for said insurer as provided in this act or in accordance with subsections (g) or (h) of this section This subsection shall not apply to contracts or policies for inland marine risks as to which filings are not required

Section 5 Disapproval of Filings (a) Upon the review at any time by the commissioner of a filing he shall before issuing an order of disapproval hold a hearing upon not less than ten days' written notice specifying the matters to be considered at such hearing to every insurer and rating organization which made such filing and if after such hearing he finds that such filing or a part thereof does not meet the requirements of this act he shall issue an order specifying in what respects he finds that it so fails and stating when within a reasonable period thereafter such filing or a part thereof shall be deemed no longer effective if the filing or a part thereof has become effective under the provisions of section four Provided however an insurer or rating organization shall have the right at any time to withdraw a filing or a part thereof subject to the provisions of section seven in the case of a deviation filing Copies of said order shall be sent to every such insurer and rating organization Said order shall not affect any contract or policy made or issued prior to the expiration of the period set forth in said order

(b) Any person or organization aggrieved with respect to any filing which is in effect may make written application to the commissioner for a hearing thereon Provided however the insurer or rating organization that made the filing shall not be authorized to proceed under this subsection Such application shall specify the grounds to be relied upon by the applicant If the commissioner shall find that the application is made in good faith that the applicant would be so aggrieved if his grounds are established and that such grounds otherwise justify holding such a hearing he shall within thirty days after receipt of such application hold a hearing upon not less than ten days' written notice to the applicant and to every insurer and rating organization which made such filing

If after such hearing the commissioner finds that the filing or a part thereof does not meet the requirements of this act he shall issue an order specifying in what respects he finds such filing or a part thereof fails to meet the requirements of this act and stating when within a reasonable period thereafter such filing or a part thereof shall be deemed no longer effective. Copies of said order shall be sent to the applicant and to every such insurer and rating organization. Said order shall not affect any contract or policy made or issued prior to the expiration of the period set forth in said order.

(c) No filing nor any modification thereof shall be disapproved if the rates in connection therewith meet the requirements of this act.

Section 6 Rating Organizations (a) A corporation an unincorporated association a partnership or an individual whether located within or outside this Commonwealth may make application to the commissioner for license as a rating organization for such kinds of insurance or subdivision or class of risk or a part or combination thereof as are specified in its application and shall file therewith (1) a copy of its constitution its articles of agreement or association or its certificate of incorporation and of its by-laws rules and regulations governing the conduct of its business (2) a list of its members and subscribers (3) the name and address of a resident of this Commonwealth upon whom notices or orders of the commissioner or process affecting such rating organization may be served and (4) a statement of its qualifications as a rating organization. If the commissioner finds that the applicant is competent trustworthy and otherwise qualified to act as a rating organization and that its constitution articles of agreement or association or certificate of incorporation and its by-laws rules and regulations governing the conduct of its business conform to the requirements of law he shall issue a license specifying the kinds of insurance or subdivision or class of risk or part or combination thereof for which the applicant is authorized to act as a rating organization. Every such application shall be granted or denied in whole or in part by the commissioner within sixty days of the date of its filing with him. Licenses issued pursuant to this section shall remain in effect for three years unless sooner suspended or revoked by the commissioner. The fee for said license shall be twenty-five dollars. Licenses issued pursuant to this section may be suspended or revoked by the commissioner after hearing upon notice in the event the rating organization ceases to meet the requirements of this subsection. Every rating organization shall notify the commissioner promptly of every change in (1) its constitution its articles of agreement or association or its certificate of incorporation and its by-laws rules and regulations governing the conduct of its business (2) its list of members and subscribers and (3) the name and address of the resident of this Commonwealth designated by it upon whom notices or orders of the commissioner or process affecting such rating organization may be served.

(b) Subject to rules and regulations which have been approved by the commissioner as reasonable each rating organization shall permit any insurer not a member to be a subscriber to its rating services for any kind of insurance subdivision or class of risk or a part or combination thereof for which it is authorized to act as a rating organization. Notice of proposed changes in such rules and regulations shall be given to subscribers. Each ratings organization shall furnish its rating services without discrimination to its members and subscribers. The reasonableness of any rule or regulation in its application to subscribers or the refusal of any rating organization to admit an insurer as a subscriber shall at the request of any subscriber or any such insurer be reviewed by the commissioner at a hearing held upon at least ten days' written notice to such rating organization and to such subscriber or insurer. If the commissioner finds that such rule or regulation is unreasonable in its application to subscribers he shall order that such rule or regulation shall not be applicable to subscribers. If the rating organization fails to grant or reject an insurer's application for subscriber-ship within thirty days after it was made the insurer may request a review by the commissioner as if the application had been rejected. If the commissioner finds that the insurer has been refused admittance to the rating organization as a subscriber without justification he shall order the rating organization to admit the insurer as a subscriber. If he finds that the rating organization was justified he shall make an order affirming its action.

(c) No rating organization shall adopt any rule the effect of which would be to prohibit or regulate the payment of dividends savings or unabsorbed premium deposits allowed or returned by insurers to their policyholders members or subscribers.

(d) Cooperation among rating organizations or among rating organizations and insurers and concert of action among insurers under the same general management and control in rate making or in other matters within the scope of this act is hereby authorized provided the filings resulting therefrom are subject to all the provisions of this act which are applicable to filings generally. The commissioner may review such activities and practices and if after a hearing he finds that any such activity or practice is unfair or unreasonable or otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this act he may issue a written order specifying in what respect such activity or practice is unfair or unreasonable or otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this act and requiring the discontinuance of such activity or practice.

(e) Any rating organization may provide for the examination of policies daily reports binders renewal certificates endorsements or other evidences of insurance or the cancellation thereof and may make reasonable rules governing their submission. Section 13 Rate Administration Authority and Duties of Commissioner Rules and Regulations (a) Recording and Reporting of Loss and Expense Experience The commissioner shall promulgate reasonable rules and statistical plans reasonably adapted to each of the rating systems on file with him which may be modified from time to time and which shall be used thereafter by each insurer in the recording and reporting of its loss and countrywide expense experience in order that the experience of all insurers may be made available at least annually in such form and detail as may be necessary to aid him in determining whether rating systems comply with the standards set forth in this act. Such rules and plans may also provide for the recording and reporting of expense experience items which are specially applicable to this Commonwealth and are not susceptible of determination by a prorating of countrywide expense experience. In promulgating such rules and plans the commissioner shall give due consideration to the rating systems on file with him and in order that such rules and plans may be as uniform as its practicable among the several states to the rules and to the form of the plans used for such rating systems in other states. Such rules and plans shall not place an unreasonable burden of expense on any insurer. No insurer shall be required to record or report its loss experience on a classification basis that is inconsistent with the rating system filed by it nor shall any insurer be required to report its experience to any agency of which it is not a member or subscriber. The commissioner may designate one or more rating organizations or other agencies to assist him in gathering such experience and making compilations thereof and such compilations shall be made available subject to reasonable rules promulgated by the commissioner to insurers and rating organizations.

(b) Interchange of Rating Plan Data. Reasonable rules and plans may be promulgated by the commissioner for the interchange of data necessary for the application of rating plans.

(c) Consultation with Other States. In order to further uniform administration of rate regulatory laws the commissioner and every insurer and rating organization may exchange information and experience data with insurance supervisory officials, insurers and rating organizations in other states and may consult with them with respect to rate making and the application of rating systems.

(d) Authority and Duties of Commissioner. Rules and Regulations. In addition to any powers hereinbefore expressly enumerated in this act the commissioner shall have full power and authority and it shall be his duty to enforce and carry out by regulations, orders or otherwise all and singular the provisions of this act and the full intent thereof. The commissioner may make such reasonable rules and regulations not inconsistent with this act or any amendment thereof as may be necessary or proper in the exercise of his powers or for the performance of his duties under this act.

Section 14 False or Misleading Information. No persons or organization shall wilfully withhold information from or knowingly give false or misleading information to the commissioner any statistical agency designated by the commissioner any rating organization or any insurer which will affect the rates or premiums chargeable under this act. A violation of this section shall subject the one guilty of such violation to the penalties provided in section fifteen of this act.

Section 15 Penalties. The commissioner may if he finds that any person or organization has violated any provision of this act impose a penalty of not more than fifty dollars ($50) for each such violation but if he finds such violation to be wilful he may impose a penalty of not more than five hundred dollars ($500) for each such violation. Such penalties may be in addition to any other penalty provided by law.

The commissioner may suspend the license of any rating organization or insurer which fails to comply with an order of the commissioner within the time limited by such order or any extension thereof which the commissioner may grant. The commissioner shall not suspend the license of any rating organization or insurer for failure to comply with an order until the time prescribed for an appeal therefrom has expired or if an appeal has been taken until such order has been affirmed. The commissioner may determine when a suspension of license shall become effective and it shall remain in effect for the period fixed by him unless he modifies or rescinds such suspension or until the order upon which such suspension is based is modified, rescinded or reversed.

No penalty shall be imposed and no license shall be suspended or revoked except upon a written order of the commissioner stating his findings made after a hearing held upon not less than ten days' written notice to such person or organization specifying the alleged violation.

Section 16 Hearing Procedure and Judicial Review. (a) Any insurer, rating organization or person aggrieved by any action of the commissioner except disapproval of a filing or a part thereof as provided for in section five hereof or by any rule or regulation adopted and promulgated by the commissioner shall have the right to file a complaint with the commissioner and to have a hearing thereon before the commissioner. Pending such hearing and the decision thereon the commissioner may suspend or postpone the effective date of his previous action rule or regulation.

(b) All such hearings and all hearings provided for in section five hereof shall be conducted and the decision of the commissioner on the issue or filing involved shall be rendered in accordance with the provisions of the Administrative Agency Law approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1388) or any amendment thereof relating to adjudication procedure.

(c) Any insurer, rating organization or person aggrieved by any adjudication including a disapproval of a filing or portion thereof under the provisions of section five hereof shall have a right to appeal therefrom to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County and have a judicial review of such adjudication within the time and in the manner and with the same effect as is provided by the Administrative Agency Law or any amendment thereof and the rules of civil procedure promulgated by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania or any amendment thereof having to do with judicial review of adjudications of agencies of the Commonwealth.

Section 17 Constitutionality. If any section, subsection, subdivision, paragraph, sentence or clause of this act is held invalid or unconstitutional such decision shall not affect the remaining portions of this act.

Section 18 Short Title. This act shall be known and may be cited as "The Fire Marine and Inland Marine Rate Regulatory Act".

Section 19 Laws Repealed. The following acts and parts of acts and all amendments thereof are hereby repealed:

(1) Sections two hundred fifteen and two hundred seventeen of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 789) known as "The Insurance Department Act of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one".

Holland, Rahausser,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 908, as follows:

An Act to add four new sections to the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 682) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" regulating ownership by domestic insurance companies of the capital stock of other insurance companies conferring powers upon the Insurance Commissioner prescribing procedure before the commissioner and on appeal and conferring powers and duties upon the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County

Section 1 The act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 682) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds association reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" is hereby amended by adding immediately after section three hundred thirty-seven four new sections to read as follows

Section 337.1 Any domestic insurance company may retain or acquire the whole or any part of the capital stock of other insurance companies provided no insurance company shall by reason of such retention or acquisition of such capital stock conduct its business with the public in a manner which substantially lessens competition or tends to create a monopoly and provided further such retention or acquisition is consistent with the provisions of the law relating to the investment of the funds of domestic insurance companies

Section 337.2 Any person otherwise qualified may be a director of two or more insurance companies when such interlocking directorate is not used as a means of substantially lessening competition or tending to create a monopoly

Section 337.3 Whenever the Insurance Commissioner has reason to believe that there is a violation of section three hundred thirty-seven point one or section three hundred thirty-seven point two of this act he shall serve upon the insurance company or the director concerned a complaint setting forth the facts alleged to constitute such violation with which complaint there shall be given a notice in writing of a time and place of a hearing before the Insurance Commissioner to be held not less than thirty days after the service of such complaint and requiring such insurance company or director to show cause why an order should not be made by the Insurance Commissioner directing such insurance company or director to cease and desist from such violation

All hearings provided for in this section shall be conducted and the decision of the Insurance Commissioner on the issue involved shall be rendered in accordance with the provisions of the Administrative Agency Law approved June fourth one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1388) or any amendment thereof relating to adjudication procedure

If upon such hearing the Insurance Commissioner finds that there has been a violation of section three hundred thirty-seven point one or section three hundred thirty-seven point two of this act he shall issue and cause to be served upon such insurance company or director an order reciting the facts found by him and setting forth the respects in which there has been a violation of section three hundred thirty-seven point one or section three hundred thirty-seven point two of this act and directing such insurance company or director to cease and desist from such violation

Any insurance company or director aggrieved by any such order issued by the Insurance Commissioner under the provisions of this act shall have a right to appeal therefrom to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County and have a judicial review of such order within the time and in the manner and with the same effect as is provided by the Administrative Agency Law or any amendment thereof and the rules of civil procedure promulgated by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania or any amendment thereof having to do with judicial review of adjudications of agencies of the Commonwealth

Section 337.4 Nothing contained in the foregoing three sections shall authorize any order judgment or decree directing any domestic insurance company to divest itself of the capital stock of another insurance company

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective the first day of October one thousand nine hundred forty-seven

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I wonder whether the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, will permit himself to be interrogated.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, this bill permits an insurance company to buy stock of another insurance company, is that right?

Mr. WADE. I understand it does, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. In other words, then it permits, say for instance, the Insurance Company of North America, a man may sit on the board of directors of another insurance company that they own stock in.

Mr. WADE. There is no such name as that in the bill.

Mr. HOLLAND. The gentleman from Cumberland is very well acquainted with the different companies and that is why I used the name North American. I think they have $100,000,000 assets and they would be able to buy $5,000,000 worth of stock of some other company; is that right?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I understand there is an insurance company known as the Insurance Company of North America, but I do not know what they contemplate purchasing.

Mr. HOLLAND. I wish you would not be so evasive, Mr. Wade; you are acting like a lawyer instead of an insurance salesman.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny will not cast reflections.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would like to inquire whether I am still being interrogated.

Mr. HOLLAND. As this bill now is written, it permits an insurance company to purchase up to five per cent of their assets, stock in other companies to a limit of five per cent of their present assets; is that right?

Mr. WADE. I understand that is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. And that would permit them to have a man serve on another insurance company board of directors, is that right?

Mr. WADE. That question, Mr. President, is not intelligible to me.

Mr. HOLLAND. I am being prompted by some attorneys back here but I am afraid to use some of the expressions they are using, because I do not want to confuse you, Mr. Wade—interlocking directors is the term.

Mr. WADE. I do not understand the question.

Mr. HOLLAND. Does this bill permit interlocking directors?

Mr. WADE. I understand that it does.

Mr. HOLLAND. It does?

Mr. WADE. Yes.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, House Bill 908 permits one insurance company to buy into another insurance company, and this will continue, as happened one time in Pennsylvania before, when a Missouri company owned a Kentucky company and when they went up to Kentucky they found out that the Kentucky company owned the Missouri company, and that is what will happen again. By permitting one insurance company to buy into another insurance company, after all, you will be doing business, like you would walk into the General Electric Company and you might buy a lot of different products under different sales names, but you will be buying insurance from the same company eventually, and I think this is a very bad bill which permits the beginning of a monopoly.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to focus some attention on House Bill 1057. It provides for the channeling of all federal assistance to public housing authorities through the State Board of Housing, an agency of the Department of Commerce.

The communities within the Commonwealth expressing a desire, through their duly elected officials, for federal assistance in providing adequate sanitary housing for its needier citizens, contract directly with the federal government. This method of doing business has proven, through the years, both economical and efficient—so why this state interference at this time? It is the federal government which provides the assistance—the state provides not one iota.

Were the state sincerely interested in solving the housing crisis in Pennsylvania and show deep concern over the fate of tens of thousands of her World War II heroes, who are in immediate need of decent, safe and sanitary shelter, and were it to provide a state program of assistance, then I would be among the first to vote in favor of this bill, but here is the record.

During the current biennium the State Board of Housing is operating under a measely budget of $75,000, a budget which has forced the board to function as a more or less paper organization. It now lacks the proper personnel to perform the additional duties this bill would force upon it. But this is only part of the story. For the next biennium the board's funds will be reduced by $50,000. Since it will have to operate with a $25,000 budget the present personnel will be further reduced. This simply does not make sense, and I think the gentlemen on the other side will agree with me. So there are but one of two conclusions we can draw: either, first, the parties responsible for drafting this measure were in high hopes of realizing a state housing program, and placed the cart before the horse, or, second, and this I prefer not to believe, but the record will speak for itself, the Department of Commerce must be more interested in hamstringing and curtailing all future public housing in Pennsylvania, than in promoting decent and sanitary shelter for the many thousands of our ex-fighting men who are so ill-housed.

As things now stand, this bill, if enacted into law, will at best do naught but hinder, harass and impede the present efficient and businesslike relationships existing between our local communities and the federal government.

Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote against this bill. In case the leadership on the other side does not know, Governor Duff recommended in his budget $75,000 for the State Board of Housing, but in the general appropriation bill now before the House, House Bill 1343, page 14, to the Department of Commerce, for the payment of salaries, wages and compensation for the proper conduct of the work of the State Board of Housing, the sum of $25,000 only is provided.

Therefore, Mr. President, if you pass this bill with only a $25,000 appropriation the department can not carry out its work. I ask my colleagues to vote against it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

HOUSE BILL No. 631 CALLED FROM THIRD READING POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I call from the Third Reading Postponed Calendar House Bill No. 631, for consideration at this time.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 631, as follows:

An Act regulating the selling offering or exposing for sale of agricultural seeds and seed mixtures for seeding purposes requiring certain information to be affixed to the container in which such seeds are sold conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Agriculture and the Secretary thereof authorizing stop-sale orders by the Secretary in certain cases providing for inspections reports and surveys by the department imposing powers and duties upon certain courts and prescribing penalties

Section 1 This act shall be known and may be cited as "The Pennsylvania Seed Act of 1947"

Section 2 For the purpose of this act the following terms shall have the meanings ascribed to them in this section unless the context clearly requires otherwise

(1) The terms "Department" and "Secretary" shall mean respectively the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Secretary of said department

(2) The term "agricultural seeds" shall include the seeds of grass forage cereal and fiber crops and any other kinds of seeds commonly recognized within this State as agricultural or field seeds and mixtures of such seeds

(3) The term "vegetable seeds" shall include the seeds of those crops which are grown in gardens or on truck farms and are generally known and sold under the name of vegetable seeds in this State

(4) The term "weed seeds" shall include the seeds of all plants generally recognized as weeds within this State and shall include prohibited weed seeds and noxious weed seeds

(5) The term "prohibited weed seeds" shall mean the seeds of weeds which when established are highly destructive to the growth of desirable plants and difficult to control in the State by ordinary cultural practices For the purpose of this act the seeds of the following plants shall be considered prohibited weed seeds Bindweed (Convolvulus arvensis) or the seeds of any other plant when declared to be prohibited weed seeds by the Secretary

(6) The term "noxious weed seeds" shall mean the seeds of such plants as are objectionable to the agriculture and horticulture of the State by interfering with the growth of desirable plants and shall include the seeds of the following plants Dodder (Cuscuta spp) Horse nettle (Solanum Carolinense) Wild garlic (Allium vineale) Wild onion (Allium canadense) Perennial sow thistle (Sonchus arvensis) or the seeds of any other plant when declared to be noxious weed seeds by the secretary

(7) The term "labeling" shall include all labels and other written printed or graphic representations in any form whatsoever accompanying and pertaining to any seed whether in bulk or in containers and includes invoices

(8) The term "advertisement" shall mean all representations other than those on the label disseminated in any manner or by any means relating to seed within the scope of this act

(9) The term "inert matter" shall mean broken seeds when one-half or less seeds of legumes or crucifers with the seed coats removed undeveloped and badly injured weed seeds such as sterile dodder which upon visual examination are clearly incapable of growth empty glumes of grasses attached sterile culms of grasses (which must be removed from the fertile glumes except in Rhodes grass) dirt stones chaff fungus bodies (such as ergot and other sclerotia and smut balls) and any matter other than seeds shall be considered inert matter

(10) The term "hard seed" shall mean such seed as remained unspouted and hard at the end of the prescribed terms of germination due to the physical makeup of the seed coat or other reasons which prevent germination within the germination test period

(11) The term "pure seed" shall include all seeds of the kind or kind and variety or strain under consideration whether shriveled cracked or otherwise injured and pieces of broken seeds larger than one-half of the original size

(12) The term "mixture" or "mixed" shall mean seeds consisting of more than one kind or variety when each is present in excess of five per cent (5%) of the whole

(13) The term "kind" means one or more related species or subspecies which singly or collectively is known by one common name such as corn beans and wheat

(14) The term "variety" means a subdivision of a kind characterized by growth plant fruit seed or other characteristics by which it can be differentiated from other sorts of the same kind such as Lancaster Sure Crop Corn and Sweep Stakes Corn

(15) The term "certified seed" shall include seed potatoes and such agricultural and vegetable seeds as shall have been inspected during their period of growth and preparation for market by the secretary or an agent and found to conform to the requirements on the laws and regulations governing seed certification in the State or such seed potatoes and agriculture and vegetable seeds as shall have been inspected during their period of growth and preparation for market by legally constituted authority in accordance with the laws of the state in which such seed was grown

(16) The term "lot of seed" means a definite quantity of seed identified by a lot number or mark every portion or bag of which is uniform for the factors which appear in the labeling within permitted tolerances

(17) The term "stop-sale" shall include any written or printed notices or order given or issued by the secretary or an agent to the owner or custodian of any lot of agricultural or vegetable seeds in the State directing such owner or custodian not to sell offer or expose such seeds for sale within the State until the requirements of this act and the rules and regulations promulgated under authority hereof shall have been complied with an a written release has been issued

(18) The term "processing" shall mean the separation and removal of weed seeds of other crops or inert matter from a lot of seed in amounts sufficient to bring the lot into conformity with the requirements of this act

(19) The term "hybrid seed" shall mean the first generation seed of a cross involving two or more inbred lines or clones produced under controlled pollination

(20) The term "agent" "inspector" or "deputy", shall mean any person duly authorized or appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture to act as the representative of the department in carrying out any of the provisions of this act

Section 3 It shall be unlawful to sell offer for sale or expose for sale or transport any agricultural seeds for seeding purposes in bulk package or containers of ten pounds or more unless there shall be delivered to the purchaser or unless the package or container in which the same shall be exposed or offered for sale or transported shall have attached thereto in a conspicuous place on the exterior thereof a tag or label on which shall be plainly and legibly written or printed in the English language the following information relating to such seeds

(1) Commonly accepted name of (i) kind or (ii) kind and variety or (iii) identifying symbol or number of hybrids of each agricultural seed component in excess of five per cent (5%) of the whole and the percentage by weight of each in the order of its predominance Where more than one component is required to be named the word "mixture" or the word "mixed" shall be shown conspicuously on the label

(2) Lot number

(3) Country and state of origin of certified seed and agency responsible for its certification

(4) Country and state of origin if known of alfalfa red clover and field corn If the origin is unknown that fact shall be stated

(5) Percentage by weight of all weed seeds

(6) The name and number of each kind of noxious weed seeds or bulblets per ounce in the following group Agrostis spp Rhodes grass Bermuda grass timothy orchard grass fescues alsike and white clover reed canary grass Dallis grass ryegrass foxtail millets alfalfa red clover sweet clovers lespedeza smooth brome tall oat grass crimson clover Brassica spp flax Agropyron spp and other agricultural seeds of similar size and weight or mixtures within this group and

(7) The name and number of noxious weed seeds or number of bulblets per pound in a group composed of proso wheat Sudan grass oats rye barley buckwheat sorghums vetches and other agricultural seeds of a size and weight similar to or greater than those within this group or any mixtures within this group

(8) Percentage of weight of agricultural seeds (which may be designated as "crop seeds") other than those required to be named on the label

(9) Percentage by weight of inert matter

(10) For each named agricultural seed (i) the percentage of germination exclusively of hard seed (ii) the percentage of hard seed if present and (iii) the calendar month and year the test was completed to determine such percentages The additional statement "total germination and hard seeds" may be stated after the foregoing if desired

(11) Packages containing seeds treated with a poisonous material shall be plainly marked in contrasting color with the information that the seeds contained therein have been "treated with poison"

(12) Name and address of the person who labeled said seed or who sells offers or exposes said seed for sale within this State

The provisions of this section shall not be construed to prohibit the sale in bushel lots or less by a retailer to the ultimate user when such sales are made from original packages bearing the information required by this section

Section 4 It shall be unlawful to sell offer for sale or expose for sale any vegetable seeds within this State for sowing purposes in bulk package or container unless there shall be delivered to the purchaser or unless the package or container in which the same shall be exposed or offered for sale shall have attached thereto a tag or label on which shall be plainly written or printed in the English language the following information relating to such seeds

(1) Name of kind and variety of seed

(2) Name and number per ounce of noxious weed seeds present

(3) For seeds which germinate less than the standard last established by the Secretary of Agriculture under this act

(a) Percentage of germination exclusive of hard seed

(b) Percentage of hard seed if present

(c) The calendar month and year the test was completed to determine such percentages

(d) The words "below germination standard" in not less than eight-point type

(4) Name and address of the person who labeled said seed or who sells offers or exposes said seed for sale within this State

Section 5 It shall be unlawful for any person to sell offer for sale or expose for sale any agricultural or vegetable seed within this State

(1) Unless the test to determine the percentage of germination required by sections three and four shall have been completed within a nine month period exclusive of the calendar month in which the test was completed immediately prior to sale exposure for sale or offering for sale or transportation

(2) Containing prohibited weed seeds

(3) Containing noxious weed seeds in excess of established tolerance

(4) Containing weed seeds collectively in excess of three per cent by weight

(5) Not labeled in accordance with the provisions of this act or having false or misleading labeling

(6) Pertaining to which there has been a false or misleading advertisement

Section 6 It shall be unlawful for any person offering seed for sale within this State

(1) To detach alter deface or destroy any label provided for in this act or in the rules and regulations made and promulgated thereunder or to alter or substitute seed in a manner that may defeat the purposes of this act

(4) To publish in bulletins or reports any and all information obtained from tests or analyses made under the provisions of this act which the secretary may deem proper for publication in the interest of the public including the names and addresses of any persons who have sold offered for sale or exposed for sale any agricultural seeds so tested or analyzed Provided however That he shall not publish the name or address of any citizen who shall have submitted samples of seeds for test or analysis but who has not sold offered for sale or exposed for sale any such seeds

Section 9 Any lot of agricultural or vegetable seed not in compliance with the provisions of this act shall be subject to seizure on complaint of the secretary or his duly authorized agent inspector or deputy to a court of competent jurisdiction in the area in which the seed is located in the event that the court finds the seed to be in such violation of the act and orders the condemnation of said seed it shall be denatured processed destroyed relabeled or otherwise disposed of in compliance with the law Provided That in no instance shall such disposition of said seed be ordered by the court without first having given the claimant an opportunity to apply to the court for the release of said seed or permission to process or relabel it to bring it into compliance with the act

Section 10 Any person violating neglecting or failing to comply with any provisions or requirements of this act or any rule or regulation made or any notice given pursuant thereto upon conviction thereof in summary proceeding shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than two hundred dollars for each offense and in default of the payment of said fine and costs shall undergo imprisonment for a period not to exceed thirty days

Section 11 The act approved the twenty-sixth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 316) entitled "An act regulating the selling offering or exposing for sale of agricultural seeds and mixtures of the same for seeding purposes forbidding the sale of seeds unfit for seeding purposes and providing for the prohibition of such sales by injunction providing for the taking and examination of samples of agricultural seeds by the Secretary of Agriculture and his agents and the publication of information gained from such examinations providing for the enforcement of the act and providing penalties for its violation" is hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, House Bill 631 is known as the seed bill. It endeavors to define certain types of grain and cereal seeds, and set up certain standards of labeling and packaging. What House Bill 631 fails to do is to comprehend that in Pennsylvania a great many farmers for a great many years—I guess if the truth were known, all the way back to the very first two farmers who ever lived and worked in the state of Pennsylvania—have adopted the custom of exchanging seeds, themselves, either by way of barter or trade, or by way of purchase and sale.

If House Bill 631 is enacted into law, my neighbor farmer will be unable to sell to me oats for seeding my lands or the wheat or the grain or any of the other seeds which I, a neighbor farmer, might need and might feel called upon to ask of him.

It seems to me we are going all out for the corporations—and I respect the need for and the essential quality of our industries and corporations—but it seems to me in this bill we have forgotten the man who in the first instance produces the work and makes the corporations possible; we are forgetting the welfare of the farmer, and a bill such as this, if enacted, is going to work a real hardship on a lot of our good farm folks. More than that, Mr. President, it is going to drive them to bootlegging seeds, and our farmers are good, upright, self-respecting, law-abiding citizens and they do not want to be driven underground, they want to sell and exchange their seeds among themselves as they see fit, and they do not want to be tagged with being violators or criminals because of the enactment of this bad law. I think you are passing a very serious bill here, I think it is going to do our farmers a great deal of harm and I am very much against the bill.

Mr. RAHAUSER, Mr. President, I was very severely criticized for being in favor of the oleomargarine bill, No. 190, and pointing out that my interests were with the farmers of Pennsylvania. If I know anything about legislation, Bill No. 190 would in no way hurt the farmer, while this bill most certainly would, and I most vociferously am against this bill.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I have in my hand a letter from the Deputy Secretary of Agriculture, addressed to the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture.

I raised this very question a couple of weeks ago, Mr. President, and that is the reason the bill was placed on the postponed calendar, and I had conversations with some of the Senators on the other side at the time.

Mr. President, this letter is addressed, as I said, to the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, from Mr. W. S. Hagar, Deputy Secretary of Agriculture, and it reads as follows:

"Dear Senator Scarlett:

"Referring to our conversation this morning concerning House Bill 631, Printer's No. 556, the question was raised as to this law affecting farmers relative to the sale of agricultural seeds.

"I am attaching the present Seed Law, Act No. 159, approved the 26th day of April, 1921, in which you will note that the new law, Section 3, reads practically the same as the old law, Section 4, and does not put additional burdens upon farmers for local sales of seeds.

"The new law, however, includes vegetable seeds which were excluded by the old law. This exclusion consequently made Pennsylvania a good place to dump inferior vegetable seeds.

"The new law sets up in addition, certain requirements for the sale of certified and hybrid seeds.

"House Bill 631 was requested by farm groups and specially our seed growers' association.

"This new piece of legislation would bring Pennsylvania law in line with the laws of neighboring states, making possible more uniformity in the handling of seeds and encourage certified production on an organized basis in Pennsylvania. This is an industry that can be developed and should be developed for our farmers who are specially interested in better seed production and which is not covered under the old law.

"I trust this explanation will assist you in explaining the matter to those persons who raised the question as to farmers selling seeds. I might state further that we have never, to my knowledge, interfered with farmers selling seeds to neighbors."

That is the letter of explanation, Mr. President, and it comes from the Deputy Secretary of Agriculture, addressed to Senator Scarlett, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I certainly do not doubt for one minute the sincerity of our Secretary of Agriculture, but I do not know what prompted his writing the letter, I do not know what questions were asked of him. I know Mr. Horst very well and have great admiration for him.

I do know that whoever wrote this bill did not have the farmers of Pennsylvania in mind, but they very clearly did have in mind the commercial seed houses—and I have not anything against commercial seed houses, I deal with them every year and they, too, must get along under our laws.

Section 4 of House Bill 631, to which the gentleman from Delaware referred, clearly says "It shall be unlawful to sell, offer for sale or expose for sale any vegetable seeds within this state . . ." I do not care whether our Secretary of Agriculture says we have never enforced this law against the farmers of Pennsylvania, but the law clearly says it is unlawful, and if it is unlawful, then by passing this type of legislation we are driving all of our farmers underground. Our farmers must still be able to sell, barter or exchange their seeds between each other.

I know there are hybrid seeds and there are certain kinds of quality seeds that farmers bring in and they buy them from a seed catalogue house, but once they are brought into the rural community they are very freely and quickly exchanged among neighbors, so that all in the community flourish. There is no selfishness among farmers. Farmers are the real cooperative people of Pennsylvania and of the United States, they are the salt of the earth, and they are people who ought to be protected, and we are not protecting them when we pass a bill like this.

Mr. HEYBURN. I thank the gentleman from Northampton because I happen to be some of the "salt."

Mr. President, I have gotten from the Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture a copy of the present act and in section 4 it reads as follows—this is the present law:

"It shall be unlawful to sell, offer for sale, or expose for sale any agricultural seeds, exclusive of vegetable seeds, as defined in Section I of this act, for seeding purposes, in bulk, package, or containers of ten pounds or more, unless there shall be delivered to the purchaser . . ."

Mr. President, as I understood the comment of the gentleman from Chester a few moments ago, there could not be any exclusion here and still have a constitutional act. That is what the Senator from Chester County, who is chairman of the Committee on Agriculture, advised me.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 361, on second reading, go over in its order, as amended

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 507, entitled:

An Act to amend Sections eleven hundred three and eleven hundred five of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1225) entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by restricting the payment of bounties to residents of the Commonwealth reducing the penalty for presentation of illegal bounty claims and clarifying the law with reference thereto

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 644, entitled:

An Act to prohibit the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine or butterine and other similar products when colored in imitation of yellow butter to provide for license fees to be paid by manufacturers wholesale and retail dealers and by proprietors of hotels restaurants dining-rooms and boarding-houses for the manufacture or sale of oleomargarine butterine or other similar products not colored in imitation of yellow butter to regulate the manufacture sale and advertising of oleomargarine butterine or other similar products not colored in imitation of yellow butter and prevent and punish fraud and deception in such manufacture sale and advertising as an imitation butter to prescribe penalties and punishment for violation of this Act and the means and method of procedure for its enforcement to regulate certain matters of evidence in such procedure and to prescribe certain powers and duties of the Department of Agriculture

And said bill having been read at length the second time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. RAHAUSER. Mr. President, I desire to offer amendments to Senate Bill 644, but before doing so I would like to explain these amendments. One amendment provides for the cutting out of coloration. The other amendment provides for the repeal of the archaic law forbidding charitable institutions to purchase oleomargarine. The other amendment provides for the elimination of retailers from onerous recordation.

Mr. President, these amendments are somewhat in line with an editorial appearing in the Pittsburgh Press on May 23, where in the editorial states as follows:

"After nearly 50 years, the handcuffs clamped on margarine by the butter lobby were broken by a State Supreme Court decision.

"In 1889, the butter lobby engineered a law which imposed high license fees on margarine. The purpose was to keep it out of competition with butter.

"The Supreme Court ruling recently said the license fees were exorbitant and discriminatory. The court's ruling had the effect of repealing the law.

"So Senator Louis H. Farrell introduced a bill in the Legislature to wipe the law off the books.

"The Senate Agriculture Committee has released this bill to the floor of the Senate. At the same time, it killed the Farrell measure.

"The small fees proposed in the new butter lobby bill are not exorbitant. THEY ARE DISCRIMINATORY, since no other product is required to take out a special license.

"But all of the old restrictions on margarine are retained. And some new ones have been added.

"It still will be illegal, under this bill, to color margarine, although it is perfectly proper to color butter."

Then the editorial goes on to say:

"The whole idea of the bill is to heckle margarine.

"All because a small group of clamorous butter producers can't stand to let the free enterprise system operate on its own merits."

Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, these amendments will provide for coloration and will repeal some of the onerous laws that were not included in the repealer section of Senate Bill 644.

I offer the following amendments and ask that that be read.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend sec. 2, page 4, lines 4 to 7, by striking out the words "compound so manufactured, shipped, consigned, offered for sale" in line 4, all of lines 5, and 6, and the words "like butter of any shade of yellow as hereinafter described" in line 7; Amend sec. 2, page 4, lines 11 to 17, by striking out the word "For" in line 11, and all of lines 12 to 17; Amend sec. 3, page 5, lines 14 and 15, by striking out the words "which shall not contain any coloration or ingredient that causes it to resemble yellow butter;" Amend sec. 3, page 6, lines 4 to 7, by striking out the words "and the said license shall not authorize the manufacture" in line 4, and all of lines 5, 6 and 7; Amend Section 6, page 8, lines 18 to 20, by striking out lines 18, 19 and 20; Amend Section 6, page 9, lines 1 to 3, by striking out lines 1, 2 and 3; Further amend Section 6, page 9, line 5, by striking out the words "Retail Dealer;" Amend sec. 15, page 13, by inserting after line 17, the following: The act approved June 5, 1913, (P. L. 412), entitled "An act to amend the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and one, entitled 'An act to prohibit the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine, butterine and other similar products when colored in imitation of yellow butter, to provide for license fees to be paid by manufacturers, wholesale and retail dealers, and by proprietors of hotels, restaurants, dining-rooms and boarding houses for the manufacture or sale of oleomargarine, butterine or other similar products not colored in imitation of yellow butter, and to regulate the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine, butterine or other similar products not colored in imitation of yellow butter, and prevent and punish fraud and deception in such manufacture and sale as an imitation butter, and to prescribe penalties and punishment for violations of this act, and the means and method of procedure for its enforcement, and regulate certain matters of evidence in such procedure'."

The act approved May 23, 1893, (P. L. 112), entitled "An act to prohibit the use of any adulteration or imitation of dairy products in any charitable or penal institution being supplementary to an act entitled 'An act for the protection of the public health and to prevent adulteration of dairy products and fraud in the sale thereof,' approved May twenty-one, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am very much in favor of repealing the law which prohibits the purchase of oleo by charitable institutions. However, I am advised that the Department of Justice holds that it can not be repealed in this bill, and will have to be repealed in a separate bill, Mr. President. Therefore I suggest to the Senate it would be useless to adopt that amendment.

Now, Mr. President, with respect to coloring oleo, this bill, as you know, Mr. President, came out of the Committee on Agriculture, several members of that committee drafted the bill, along with the department, and some time after the public hearing one of the attorneys for the oleo trust came to me to talk about coloring oleo. I would like to see oleo colored, Mr. President, if possible, and I made the suggestion that possibly such an amendment could be worked out. Then I was advised, Mr. President, that if we allowed oleo to be colored, like butter—and butter, by the way, has a natural color of yellow—it would open the door to widespread fraud on the part of unscrupulous butter operators, because they would substitute colored oleomargarine for butter, and the department advises that it would be impossible for them to properly police the industry and see to it that the purchaser gets the sort of product that he thinks he is buying, because if he is buying butter and asks for butter, of course, he should get butter, and the department holds, Mr. President, it would be impossible.

Therefore that amendment was dropped from the bill, or was not considered in the committee. Certain other amendments were. They relaxed the thing as much as possible. Certainly a $2 fee is not going to keep oleo off anybody's table. That is a very small sum of money. As a matter of fact, almost any license you go to get in Pennsylvania costs you two dollars or more. Even a marriage license, I am advised, Mr. President, costs that.

This to my mind is about the best bill that can be passed by this Legislature, Mr. President, and will properly regulate the policing of the industry, and would provide an opportunity for anybody to buy oleo that wants to.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am wondering whether the gentleman from Delaware would agree to the proposition that we force the dairy trust to put upon each pound of butter the fact that it is adulterated by the addition of coloration and salt, the same as any other food product that is sold in this Commonwealth that has any foreign matter added to it, it must be so labeled before it is sold to the public. I am wondering, too, whether the dairy trust should not be compelled to mark each pound of butter as to the score that butter contains, in order that the innocent public that is being gypped out of thousands upon thousands of dollars by the sale of inferior grade butter, highly colored and containing an exorbitant amount of salt—salt selling for approximately $60 a ton is a very good item to load up cheap grades of butter with.

The great majority of the people in this Commonwealth do not know there is a great deal of difference in butters. They innocently go into a store and say "give me a pound of butter" and they receive in many instances a product which is much inferior to a high grade of margarine.

I can not understand why you are worrying so much about the housewife, and yet you refuse to allow her to buy a product that she uses daily upon her table and in her cooking, when you say to that housewife "you must buy it in an unnatural state, take it home, let it come to a certain temperature and then add your own coloring to it before you use it."

My how the crocodile tears are being shed to save this housewife from being fooled, and yet everybody knows that any person that goes in and buys margarine knows what they are buying because they ask for it.

How long can we continue to pass restrictive legislation upon a very healthful food product? Thousands upon thousands of low income group families can only provide for their family a decent bread spread by the purchase of low priced margarine. It has been developed in the western states to the point that farm land now is producing more income per acre to the farmer from products that are in turn made into oleo than they ever produced when used as feeding lands for their milk cows.

Pennsylvania farmers are not the men behind this bill. We can not be fooled by any such talk. Everybody knows that the dairy interests, the butter trust if you wish to call it that, are the ones who originally conceived the idea of putting restrictive legislation upon this decent, wholesome and nutritious food product. Many and many a time during the war the only spread that was in our home was oleomargarine, and we were grateful for it, and I say to you right now that alongside of butter in our home refrigerator you will always find oleo; we have it, we fry with it, we cook with it and we eat it as a spread. There is nothing wrong with it. The flavor is identical with butter, the food value is identical and in many instances superior to low grade butters that are being pawned off upon the innocent buying public of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I will tell you where the farmer gets gypped. The farmer gets gypped by unscrupulous persons who go out and buy up country butter and take it into their store and mix it and sell all their butter as country butter. I can give definite proof of those conditions. Every person in this room knows this bill is against the public interest. Any bill that has any discriminatory features in it, no matter what the degree of discrimination is, has no business of being passed at this session of the Legislature by any group of men who are supposed to represent all the people of the Commonwealth.

We have fought for years and years and years to remove from the statute books all restrictions upon oleo, and the only reason you are getting even this type of bill, which is a great improvement over the old law, is because during the war the people who were forced to use oleo realize its food value and its nutritious value and you are being forced by public opinion to do that which you fought off for years.

I might call attention to the fact that the gentleman who is now in the Chair rather lost his temper the day I said, when we were voting to send Senate Bill 190 back to committee, that we would not have another opportunity in this session of the Legislature to vote for Senate Bill No. 190. I am not pleased to say I told you so but I can not help saying I told you so.

And so now we are giving you another opportunity to stand up for the people of Pennsylvania, because in these amendments we remove restrictions that are not the kind of restrictions that ought to be attached to the sale of any food item. If any person in this room can show me that oleomargarine is a food that is unhealthy or is not nutritious or does not give the people value for the money that is spent for it, or that it is a product that ought not be allowed, then take it off the market, if it is not healthy for the people to use it, but if no person can prove that this food product is not a high food value product, then they should vote for these amendments and against any restrictive legislation.

I want to say to you that so long as I am a member of the Senate of Pennsylvania, so long as I continue to be the representative of my people back home, I will fight until the bitter end to remove all restrictions from this food product.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I regret it very much but the gentleman from Westmoreland has his facts pretty badly mixed.

Mr. President, as a matter of fact, I have no interest in this matter except to try to get an workable bill through the Legislature; it is not going to affect me one way or another.

The gentleman from Westmoreland talked about the dairy trust promoting this bill, which is just so much poppycock. The dairy trust attorneys were down here at the public hearing fighting this bill, and here is oleo made by the Kraft Cheese Company, a part of the dairy trust. The gentleman is badly mixed up in his facts.

The gentleman from Westmoreland talks about the butter racket. There is a butter racket, Mr. President, I know, but a state law sets up specifications for butter as to the score and there are constant investigations going on, Mr. President, any number of convictions and fines and imprisonments are on record in connection with the rackets in butter. I think possibly the gentleman must have known that, Mr. President. He talked about knowing violators in the butter business. If he does, he should immediately call the Secretary of Agriculture and tell him who they are and where they are, because that is one thing he will find, that the federal government and the state government are very much interested in correcting this racket in butter, there is no question about that, and there has to be a tremendous amount of investigating work done to keep it down. That is one reason why the Secretary of Agriculture holds, Mr. President, that he can not control it if you allow oleo, which is a much cheaper product, to be colored like butter, as there would be widespread substitutions, so I am told.

Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland talked about adulteration of butter with respect to salt. Mr. President, salt is a seasoning. That is no adulteration of any product, seasoning.

The gentleman from Westmoreland talked about color adulteration. Mr. President, I know myself that the natural color of butter is yellow. I have made lots of it myself and you put no color in it whatsoever, except during the middle of winter, Mr. President, if you want it have a real yellow color, you might add some butter coloring, but at no time is there anything less than a light yellow in butter, going from that a deep yellow in the summertime when the cattle are out in pasture.

I would like to say to the gentleman again, Mr. President, the same trust he talked about, the dairy trust, is also the oleo trust, and he tries to tell me, Mr. President, that the dairy trust is fighting this bill. They are one and the same thing—the same attorneys.

Mr. DENT. Maybe I am informed wrongly, but it is my understanding, from the information I have and from observations, if you please, that approximately ninety per cent of all the commercial butter sold in this state is colored, color is added, and if you want to break the butter trust or the butter racket as you call it, the thing to do is to put in a little license fee upon the butter business, in order that they can spend that money you say is needed to clean up this racket.

And also, Mr. President, why not put upon the package of butter itself a statement as to whether or not that butter has had color added, whether it is natural butter coming from rich cream-producing cows, or whether it is butter that is made from a combination of milk and cream, whether it comes from Holsteins, which produce rather white butter—in fact you have to look pretty hard to find any coloration; whether it comes from Guernseys or Jerseys, which produce very rich, yellow-looking butter. Or you could show on the package what the score of that particular brand of butter is. I think that is important to the people. You know from your own experience, unless you are a person that has some academic knowledge of the contents of butter, you go into a store and ask for a pound of butter and that is all you know about it, and you are being cheated every day and in almost every market that sells butter in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland just suggested why not put a little license fee on the milk business or the dairy business, and I want to remind him, Mr. President, that some milk distributors in Pennsylvania pay as high as a $5,000 license fee—one dealer, $5,000. That is a matter of law and the gentleman can look it up. There are specifications on butter, Mr. President, as to the score and it is on that basis that these investigations and convictions are made.

Mr. RAHAUSER. Mr. President, the gentleman from Delaware stated that the Department of Justice could not include a repealer in Senate Bill 644. I call to his attention that on page 13 there are two repealers, the act of 1901 and the Act of 1921, and according to Purden's, one of the repealers that was offered there is only a supplement of the Act of 1901. I can say Purden usually is an authentic document for we lawyers and I see no reason why this repealer can not be included in this bill.

Mr. HEYBURN. I am sorry to prolong this matter, Mr. President, but I feel I should answer the statement made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Rahauser. I am not going to go into Purden, but as far as Heyburn is concerned, the information I get is, Mr. President, that if a charitable institution should purchase oleo and then attempt to color it, they are in conflict not only with the state law but with the federal law; it is necessary for them to take out a federal license and pay ten cents per pound federal tax. Probably the gentleman did not know that, but that is what I am advised, Mr. President, that they would have to pay ten cents a pound federal tax and get a federal license. There is something involved here, so I am told, which can not be contained in this bill so far as a repealer is concerned.

Mr. RAHAUSER. Mr. President, I just want to call to the attention of the gentleman from Delaware that the act we are seeking to repeal is found in Purden, 31, page 851, which is a supplement of the Act of 1901. The bill we are attempting to repeal, however, is the act of 1893, May 23, P. L. 112, and it is so set forth in my amendment.

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, I would like to make a few remarks on the bill. There has been a great smoke-screen thrown up around this oleo matter. I am well aware of just where it comes from and why it arrived here. It was started in Washington. There was some move on foot to knock out the margarine laws in Washington but Congress would not touch it.

Mr. President, there has been a great deal of talk about the wholesomeness of margarine, about the food value. That is true. I have not heard that denied one time. I think that margarine manufacturers have had more favorable publicity and advertising on this floor in the past few weeks, probably, than they have any place in the country but, nevertheless, there is a racket in margarine.

I talked only a few days ago with my own grocer. He brought up the question of margarine and he told me of an instance where he had purchased two hundred pounds of margarine in the state of Delaware, just across the line, not long before that, thinking that it was butter. He said "I should probably have known better because it was bought at two cents a pound under the market." Anyway, it was delivered to him and he sold a few pounds of it, a pound was returned, and he then discovered it was margarine in butter packages. Of course, he returned the entire consignment.

Also I have talked with some of the small grocers who claimed they would be terribly hurt by this proposed bill. When the bill was explained to one of them, who I know very well, he made the statement "why, this is all right, this is the best thing we have had; it will save me about $150 a year." I asked him just how he was going to make that saving. He told me that it cost him now about $3 a week to stamp the margarine packages, and that would be eliminated, so that he would pay $2 for a license and make an actual saving of $150 at least. I asked him if that was true with all the grocers and he informed me it would be.

Mr. President, I know very well just what happened here some time ago to start the grocers off on this margarine campaign. I know that they were hopeful of breaking down this law in Pennsylvania and one of them, one of their officers, told me that if they were successful in doing that, they were going to move into Washington next. They thought if they could break down the law in Pennsylvania, they would be able to accomplish the same thing in several other states during the current terms of their legislatures.

I believe most people are beginning to see this is a lot of smokescreen that has been thrown up. There is nobody I know of anywhere who is trying to harm the sale of margarine. I think this bill will be a protection to the people who buy it, I think it is a protection to the grocers who sell it, and I think the state of Pennsylvania is in need of Senate Bill 644 as is.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. RAHAUSER. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RAHAUSER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—15

Barr,	Holland,	Leader,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Jaspan,	Rahauser,	Tarr,
DiSilvestro,	Klein,	Rosenfeld,	Woodring,
Farrell,	Lane,	Ruth,

NAYS—34

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, May 27, 1947

The House met at 12:00 noon.

The SPEAKER (Franklin H. Lichtenwalter) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrave offered the following prayer:

Blessed Lord, strengthen us we beseech Thee, in the inner man, by the renewing, sustaining, undergirding grace which is able to keep us from falling and failing. So may our hearts be steadied and stilled, purged of self, emptied of strain and stress, filled with peace and poise, satisfied with each new morning just to wake and find Thee there, for Thine is the kingdom to which the future belongs, and the power, and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Monday, May 26, 1947, when, on motion of Mr. NEEDHAM unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WORLEY. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 57.

In the House of Representatives, May 26, 1947.

Whereas, The need of encouraging the growth of democracy throughout the world is evident to all liberty and peace loving people; and

Whereas, Many countries which have governments based upon representative democracies find themselves alone and isolated in a growing hostile world; and

Whereas, While such countries may be members of the United Nations, they nevertheless find themselves working alone for their own individual survival; and

Whereas, Were all such countries to join in a federation, they would be able to obtain the strength of union in protecting and advancing the interests of democratic countries and to encourage other countries to adopt democratic forms of government; and

Whereas, Such a federation of countries having a representative form of government such as the United States, the members of the British Commonwealth, France and other smaller western European nations could establish a world government under law, consisting of judicial, legislative and executive branches, with necessary checks and balances analogous to those provided by the Constitution of the United States; the legislative powers should be limited, specific and clearly defined, without authority to intervene or act in any matter which is essentially within the domestic or home rule jurisdiction of any nation, the laws to be applicable to and enforced against individuals as well as nations and to provide regulation and control of atomic energy and other means of war; the legislative body might well be organized on a bicameral basis, with weighted representation in one chamber and equal representation in the other; each nation should be free to determine for itself the method of selecting its members of the Legislative body, in order that they may carry out the will of the people they represent, the issues to be decided by the votes of the individual members rather than by nations, the judiciary should be given the power to interpret the Federation Charter as well as to construe legislation and to determine whether any organ of the Federation has exceeded the powers granted by the Federation Charter; therefore, be it

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the United States; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby urges the President of the United States to initiate a movement for the formation of a federation of democratic countries as herein suggested.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGES

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 17, 1947.

Whereas The St Lawrence Seaway and Power Project will produce no practical benefits for the people of the two countries it is designed to serve and

Whereas The General Assembly and the citizens of this State are greatly concerned about the effect the completion of this project would have upon them and

Whereas The construction of the project would burden the taxpayers of this Commonwealth and the United States with an initial sum estimated at from $543,000,000 to $1,350,000,000 and experience in similar public works would indicate that this project would cost much more and

Whereas Existing facilities the Welland Canal which bypasses Niagara Falls and the Great Lakes Channels amply provide for the present lake traffic The railroads on both sides in the United States and Canada have demonstrated that they are prepared to handle all through traffic offered and

Whereas With its channels closed to navigation for about five months of the year due to ice and weather conditions it would be unreasonable to expect the railroads to perform the required service during the period that navigation is closed and to be in a position to handle the peak load The railroads would be required to maintain equipment that would be idle or little used for sixty per cent of the time and have the added problem of maintaining the personnel organization Great numbers would have to seek employment elsewhere while tonnage was moved by government subsidized competitors This situation would greatly affect the ports of Erie and Philadelphia and

Whereas Sea-going boats cannot travel this great distance for nothing and the saving in transportation costs would be exceedingly small if any and

Whereas It would be disastrous to Great Lake shipping injurious to American rail highway and inland waterways services and seriously harmful to the American coal and iron ore industries and

Whereas Electrical energy that would be generated could only be used at nearby points as it has been demonstrated that the cost of transmission over long distances greatly exceeds that generated locally and

Whereas Such an agreement if ratified would reduce the exportation of manufacturing mining and agricultural products of this Commonwealth and result in loss of employment and contribute to increased taxation therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs) that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States not to approve the agreement for the construction of the St Lawrence Seaway and Power Project and be it further

Resolved That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the United States the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States

Clevenger, Trout,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 381, as follows:

An Act permitting employes of counties of the second class to accumulate their annual sick leaves and making such right retroactive

Section 1 In counties of the second class every employe of the county who is entitled to a certain number of days annually for sick leave with pay shall be entitled to accumulate such sick leave days or any of them for a period of six years

Section 2 Any present employe who has two or more years of continuous service with the county and any employe who shall hereafter have had two years of continuous service with the county shall be entitled to sick leave of thirty days less the number of days of sick leave used during such period

Section 3 Any present employe who has had one or two years of continuous service with the county and any employe who shall hereafter have had one or two years of continuous service with the county shall be entitled to a sick leave equal to the number of years of said continuous service times the number of days sick leave to which they were annually entitled less the number of days of sick leave days actually used during said period

Section 4 All such accumulated sick leaves shall be used only for actual sickness or disability where the employe is physically incapacitated for the proper performance of his duties. Each case shall be judged on its own merits and proper consideration should be given the past record of the employe and the circumstances connected with the case

Section 5 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—2

Clevenger. Trout.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 700, as follows:

An Act authorizing and empowering city treasurers of cities of the second class to sell at public sale lands or real estate upon which the taxes assessed and levied by the city or school district are delinquent and unpaid fixing the interests of all taxing authorities where such lands are purchased by the city providing for the distribution of moneys received as income from or resale of such lands and providing for a method of reselling such lands purchased by the city or by the city and school district within said city at any sale for the non-payment of taxes free and clear of all mortgages ground rents interest in or claims against said lands

Section 1 In addition to the remedies now provided by law for the collection of delinquent city taxes the city treasurers of cities of the second class of this Commonwealth are hereby authorized and empowered to sell at public sale in the manner hereinafter provided property upon which the taxes assessed and levied have not been paid and have become delinquent Such sales shall be made on the first Monday in June in the year succeeding the year in which the respective taxes are assessed and levied or on any day to which such sale may be adjourned or on any first Monday of June in any succeeding year

Section 2 Where the respective treasurer has not already in his hands the duplicates of said taxes or certificates or schedules thereof it shall be the duty of any receiver or collector of taxes or other person having such delinquent taxes in his hands to certify to the said city treasurer schedules of all unpaid taxes with descriptions of the property assessed and it shall be the duty of the city treasurer to advertise for sale all the lands upon which it appears the taxes have not been paid as shown by the duplicates in his hands or by the returns or schedules certified to him as aforesaid Said advertisement shall be made once a week for three successive weeks prior to the day of sale in at least two newspapers of general circulation and in the legal newspaper printed and published in the respective city The treasurer shall also cause to be posted or tacked in a conspicuous place on each parcel or lot of land advertised for sale at least ten days prior to the day of sale a notice stating that said lands will be sold by said treasurer for delinquent taxes on a certain day and time and at a certain place within the city for which posting of notice he shall receive and tax as costs one dollar No sale shall be valid where the taxes have been paid prior to said advertisement or where the taxes and costs have been paid after advertisement and before sale

Section 3 The lands sold under this act may be redeemed by the owner or by any one interested in said lands at any time within one year after such sale by the payment to the city treasurer of the full amount which the purchaser paid to said treasurer for taxes and costs and ten per centum in addition thereto and when the sale has been made for less than the taxes and costs the party redeeming shall pay to said treasurer the balance of taxes and costs which were not made by the sale of the said property In case there are any city or school taxes levied either before or after the said sale which remain unpaid the person redeeming shall pay the same and all penalties interest and lien costs thereon and in case the purchaser has paid any taxes of any kind whatsoever assessed and levied against said property the same shall be reimbursed to said purchaser before any redemption shall take effect The said treasurer shall keep in his office a book or schedule in which he shall enter all the sales made by him giving a description of each property sold the name of the person as the owner thereof as the same appears upon the duplicate or has been returned to him the time of sale and the price at which sold together with the cost Each respective city shall have the right to bid at any such sale the amount of taxes and costs and if necessary purchase such lands

Section 4 It shall be the duty of the purchaser or purchasers at said treasurer's sale as soon as the property is struck down to pay the amount of the purchase money and before delivery of deed all other city and school taxes penalties interest and lien costs if such purchase money is insufficient for the payment thereof and also one dollar and fifty cents for the use of the prothonotary for entering the report of the treasurer and acknowledgment of the treasurer's deed as hereinafter mentioned and in case said amount is not forthwith paid after the property is struck down the sale may be avoided and the property immediately put up again by the said treasurer Provided however That this section shall not apply when the lands are purchased by said city

Section 5 It shall be the duty of the city treasurer at the first term of a court of common pleas of the proper county succeeding such sale to make a report and return wherein he shall set forth a brief description of the land or property sold the name of the person (where known) in which the same is assessed the amount of tax and the year for which the same is assessed the time when and the newspapers in which the advertisement for sale was made with a copy of said advertisement the time of sale the name of the purchaser and the price for which each respective property was sold and upon the presentation of said report or return if it shall appear to said court that such sale has been regularly conducted under the provisions of this act the said report and the sale so made shall be confirmed nisi in case no objections or exceptions are filed to said sale within ten days a decree of absolute confirmation may be entered as of course by the prothonotary In case any objections or exceptions are filed they shall be disposed of according to the practice of said courts and when the same are overruled or set aside a decree of absolute confirmation shall be entered as aforesaid but all objections or exceptions shall be confined to the regularity of the proceedings of said treasurer

Section 6 After any sale of property or lands for delinquent taxes has been confirmed by the court as aforesaid it shall be the duty of the purchaser or purchasers where the bid exceeds the taxes and costs as aforesaid to make and execute to the said treasurer for the use of the persons entitled a bond for the surplus money that may remain after satisfying and paying all the taxes and costs as aforesaid with warrant of attorney to confess judgment annexed thereto and it shall be the duty of said treasurer to forthwith file said bond in the office of the prothonotary of the proper county at the number and term where said report and return is filed and the surplus bond filed as aforesaid from the time of the date of the deed for property thus sold shall bind as effectually and in like manner as judgments the land by said treasurer sold into whose hands or possession soever they may come and the owner of said lands at the time of sale their heirs or assigns or other legal representatives may at any time within five years after such sale cause judgment to be entered in said court upon said bond in the name of said treasurer for the use of said owners their heirs assigns or legal representatives (as the case may be) and in case the moneys mentioned in said bonds with legal interest thereon from the time it is demanded be not paid within three months after such entry execution may forthwith issue for the recovery thereof

Section 7 When the purchaser has paid the amount of his bid and all other city and school taxes penalties interest and lien costs if any and has given the surplus bond as above required if necessary it shall be the duty of the city treasurer to make the said purchaser or purchasers his or their heirs or assigns a deed in fee simple for the lands sold as aforesaid and the said deed or deeds to duly acknowledge in the court of common pleas and such acknowledgment shall be duly entered and recorded by the prothonotary of said court in the treasurer's deed book and for such service and the entry of the report of said treasurer said prothonotary shall receive the sum of one dollar and fifty cents

Section 8 Where the owner or other person interested in the land thus sold shall redeem the same it shall be the duty of the city treasurer to acknowledge the receipt of the redemption moneys upon the margin of the acknowledgment of the treasurer's deed as the same is entered and recorded in the prothonotary's office as aforesaid and thereafter said deed shall be void and of no effect and thereupon such owner or persons interested as aforesaid shall be entitled to have the treasurer's deed delivered up to him her or them by the purchaser for cancellation And it shall be the duty of the said treasurer to pay to said purchaser all the moneys he had paid at the time of sale together with the ten per centum penalty thereon and it shall also be the duty of said treasurer to enter upon the book of sales kept by him as hereinbefore provided an acknowledgment or receipt showing that the owner or party interested redeemed the same therein giving date of redemption and amount of money received

Section 9 After the period for redemption as provided for in this act has expired and the said lands have not been redeemed it shall be the duty of the city treasurer to certify to the board or boards of assessors or proper assessing authorities charged with the duty of assessing such real estate for purposes of taxation that he sold the lands redemption has expired and said lands have not been redeemed to the grantee named in the deed and that the period for deemed and if the said lands have been sold to the city the aforesaid assessing authorities shall not thereafter return said lands for purposes of taxation and no taxes shall be levied thereon as long as the property is held and owned by the city Copies of the aforesaid certification may also be furnished to deed registries or other interested authorities

Section 10 The interests of all taxing authorities having taxes or claims against any property sold to any city of the second class by the city treasurer under the provisions of this act shall be fixed and determined as of the time of the certification by the city treasurer as provided for in section eight and shall remain fixed without the necessity of filing or reviving liens or otherwise preserving such taxes or claims and shall take priority over all mortgages ground rents or claims whatsoever until said taxes or claims are fully paid or otherwise divested by law and if the said city received income from the property it shall distribute any net income first to the cost of the treasurer's sale and the balance to the interested taxing authorities in proportion to their taxes and claims against the property until such taxes and claims have been liquidated and thereafter in proportion to their rate of tax levy within the city

Section 11 If upon a resale by the city of any property purchased by it under this act either for a sum sufficient to pay all taxes and claims or for a lesser sum as provided hereinafter it should be deemed necessary by said city to conduct proceedings hereinafter set forth to perfect its tax title acquired at the treasurer's sale it shall be lawful for the said city to deduct the costs of said proceedings from the sale price as well as the cost of the original tax sale and the usual commission to a real estate broker if any before distribution of the balance and if the sale price or balance remaining is more than sufficient to pay all taxes and claims then the sum left after all taxes and municipal claims have been satisfied shall be distributed to the interested taxing authorities in proportion to their rate of tax levy upon real estate within the city at the time of resale If however such sum is less than all taxes and municipal claims such sum shall be distributed to the interested taxing authorities in proportion to their total tax claims against the property regardless of priority of lien and such taxes and municipal claims shall be considered as fully paid and satisfied

Section 12 (a) In case of resale of such lands which have been purchased by the city under this act or by the city or school district within said city at any sale for the non-payment of taxes after the period of redemption has expired it may appear that there are mortgages ground rents rights title interest in or claims against such lands which have not been divested by the tax sale or other defects or objections to a good and marketable title the city may present its petition or complaint with a search of title attached to the court of common pleas of the county wherein the lands are situate setting forth (1) the location of the lands by metes and bounds or if it be in a recorded plan of lots the plan number of the lot and place of record of the plan or reference to a former deed of record (2) the names or names of the former owner or owners reputed owners mortgagees assignees or any other person or persons shown by such title search to have any mortgage ground rent right title interest in or claim against such land if any there be (3) that upon diligent inquiry no person has been found who has or claims to have any mortgage ground rent right title interest in or claim against said land unless it be those named in the petition (4) that the period of redemption has expired and the city or school district has agreed to sell said land setting forth the sum offered therefor which may be less than the sum of all taxes and municipal claims against the land (5) the sum of all taxes and municipal claims due each taxing authority

(b) Thereupon a rule shall be granted upon the persons named in the petition and generally upon all other persons not named in the petition who have or claim to have or may appear to have any mortgage ground rent right title interest in or claim against said land to appear within thirty days from service of the rule upon them and show cause why the title of the petitioner or complainant to said land should not be adjudicated and decreed valid and indefeasible as against all mortgages assignees or other persons having any right title interest in or claim against said lands whatsoever and to further show cause why the sale of the said land by the city or school district should not be made free and clear of their respective mortgages ground rents interests or claims whatsoever The rule may be made returnable to such term or return day as may be fixed by the court

(c) As to persons domiciled within the county or in any other county of this Commonwealth and whose whereabouts may be ascertained the rule shall be served and returned as writs of summons are served and returned As to those persons whose domicile is without the Commonwealth the petitioner or complainant may have any competent adult serve the defendant personally and file an affidavit to that effect If a defendant is dead or his identity or whereabouts is unknown and cannot be ascertained the petitioner or complainant shall file an affidavit to that effect wherein the affiant may state that the heirs and assigns of a named former owner are unknown and if the court is satisfied that due inquiry has been made the rule shall be served by one advertisement in a newspaper of general circulation and the legal newspaper publication may direct giving notice to all persons including those listed in the city where the land is situate or as the court named in the petition to appear on or before the return day of the rule and show cause why the title of the city or school district should not be adjudicated and decreed valid and indefeasible as against all mortgages ground rents rights title interest in or claims against the land whatsoever and to further show cause why the sale of the said land should not be made by the city or school district

free and clear of all the aforesaid claims whatsoever Said advertisement shall be made at least thirty days before the return day of said rule and shall be deemed a good and sufficient service of the rule as to all persons whatsoever Said rule shall also be served personally upon other interested taxing authorities

Section 13 In case no person shall appear at or before the return day and make answer to said petition and rule or make objection to the sale of the said land by the city or school district and the court is satisfied that the proposed sale is proper and to the advantage of all interested taxing authorities upon affidavit filed by petitioner or complainant that the aforesaid rule to show cause properly endorsed with notice to plead has been served and that the defendant has not filed an answer and that no person has objected to said sale it shall enter a decree making said rule absolute and approving such sale and direct a conveyance of such land to the person or persons to whom the city or school district has agreed to see free and clear of all mortgages ground rents rights title interest in or claims against said land whatsoever and the price received therefore after deducting all costs of this proceeding and of the original tax sale as well as the usual commission to a real estate broker if any shall be distributed to the respective taxing authorities as hereinbefore provided for

Section 14 If any person shall appear and make answer or objections to said petition or complaint and rule and said answer or objection shall contest the adequacy of the price for which the city or school district has agreed to sell said land the court shall fix a time within thirty days from the aforesaid return for all persons to appear before said court and make offers for said land and the court may approve such offer as in its discretion appears to be in the interest of all taxing authorities having claims against the land If however such answer or objection sets up any claim to a mortgage ground rent right title interest in or claim against said land adverse to the title of the city or school district the court shall order and decree that such person or persons shall commence proceedings within thirty days to foreclose any mortgage bring his action in eement or such other proceeding as may be necessary to establish his claim and failing therein within the time aforesaid the court shall make said rule absolute and direct a conveyance of the land as provided in section eleven hereof If any person or persons appear at any stage of the proceedings who may appear to the court to have any interest whatsoever in the land and pay all taxes which would have been levied against said land had the same not been certified to the assessors and removed from the tax rolls as well as the costs of this proceeding the court may direct a conveyance to said person but no real estate commission shall be paid

Section 15 If any city treasurer of a city of the second class is also treasurer and or collector of school taxes for the school district of said city then this act and all its terms and conditions and to all intents and purposes may be applied to the collection of school taxes assessed and levied for school purposes within such city of the second class but shall not be considered as an exclusive remedy for the collection of school taxes The city shall be considered a trustee for the school district when lands are purchased by the city at its treasurer's sale whereon school taxes are due and owing

Section 16 All lands heretofore or hereafter purchased by any city of the second class or school district within such city at a sheriff sale treasurer's sale or any sale for the nonpayment of city or school taxes and held beyond the period of redemption may be sold to a purchaser under the terms of sections eleven twelve thirteen and fourteen this act

Section 17 The act approved the thirtieth day of March one thousand nine hundred three (P. L. 106) entitled "An act authorizing and empowering the city treasurers of the several cities of second class and third class of this Commonwealth to sell at public sale all properties upon which the taxes assessed and levied are delinquent and remain unpaid" and its amendments are hereby repealed insofar as they relate to cities of the second class

Clevenger, Trout,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1273, as follows:

An Act to repeal the act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1395) entitled "An act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor to acquire by condemnation or purchase land or land and buildings within the City of Philadelphia and within the City of Pittsburgh or the County of Allegheny and to construct alter improve and equip such property for use of the Commonwealth providing for the maintenance thereof and making an appropriation"

Section 1 The act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1395) entitled "An act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor to acquire by condemnation or purchase land or land and buildings within the City of Philadelphia and within the City of Pittsburgh or the County of Allegheny and to construct alter improve and equip such property for use of the Commonwealth providing for the maintenance thereof and making an appropriation" is hereby repealed

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Ist ganunk geldt doe fer oll die bills besawla?

Perhaps, though Mr. Speaker, I might manage to make myself understood in good English, and I was just wondering whether I might propose that question to the Speaker's lawyer.

But I did want to call attention to this bill that repeals an act that was passed in the 1945 session, a very good act which marked a step in the right direction, at which time the administration then in power contemplated a building program to build office buildings, as I understand it, in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

As I gather, this bill will be a backward step in that program. It repeals the act, it nullified one of the fair promises made by a preceding administration, a very admirable promise, what looked like the inauguration of a program which would ultimately free the treasury of the state from the drain of rentals that are paid, sometimes overpaid, in various parts of the Commonwealth.

That is the reason I am personally opposing this bill, one upon which the Democratic caucus has not acted. It is a bad bill and I am still opposed to it, notwithstanding my original observation as to whether there was enough gold in the state to pay if all these bills were passed.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—2

Clevenger, Trout,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1287, as follows:

An Act to provide for the change of object of the corporate existence of volunteer fire-companies and firemen's relief associations connected with volunteer fire departments and authorizing and providing a mode for the dissolution and surrender of the charter of said companies and associations

Whereas In and by the establishment of paid fire departments voluntary fire companies are superseded and as such their services as firemen dispensed with and consequently firemen's relief associations operated in connection with volunteer fire departments are no longer necessary for the relief and protection of said firemen

And whereas Many fire-companies and firemen's relief associations in the Commonwealth have been incorporated either by the Legislature or by the courts under authority given by law

And whereas Some of the fire-companies and relief associations when such paid fire department is established may be desirous of continuing and maintaining their existence as corporations but for a different purpose than the object specified in their charter or act of incorporation whilst others are desirous of disbanding or dissolving and surrendering the powers vested in them by their charters or acts of incorporation and dividing amongst such of their members as may be entitled thereto whatever property or effects they may be seized possessed of or enjoy or the proceeds thereof

And whereas Doubts have arisen whether under any law usage or practice now in force or prevailing in this Commonwealth it is competent for any of the incorporated companies or relief associations to disband or dissolve and divide amongst their members the property effects or proceeds thereof belonging to such corporation or to change the object for which they have been incorporated for the purpose thereof of providing a mode whereby any of the said companies or relief associations may change the object for which they were or have been organized and incorporated or to disband dissolve and surrender the powers and authorities vested in them by virtue of their charter or acts of incorporation by whomsoever granted or allowed therefore

Section 1 Any incorporated fire-company (including therein engine hose or hook-and-ladder companies by whatever name called) or any firemen's relief association upon the establishment of a paid fire department by the municipality the domicile of said incorporated fire company or relief association that may be desirous of continuing or maintaining their corporate existence for literary charitable benevolent purpose whatever or as a hall association or society for the mutual benefit of its members may by a vote of the majority of its members present (who by the laws of the particular company or association are or may be entitled to vote) at a stated meeting after at least one month's notice has been given declare the purpose and object for which they desire to continue as aforesaid Such company or association shall within three months thereafter present their petition to the court of common pleas of said municipality and county praying that the purpose or object for which they may desire to continue their corporate existence as aforesaid may be approved by said court whereupon said petition shall be filed and if the object or purpose therein expressed and stated shall appear to the judges of the said court to be lawful and not injurious to the community and if no sufficient objection thereto be shown by any person or persons interested therein the said court shall on the first day of the next succeeding term not less than four weeks after the filing of the said petition enter their decree approving of the object or purpose for which such corporation shall hereafter continue a certified copy of which decree shall be recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds of said county and thereupon such object or purpose shall supersede the object or purpose named or expressed in the charter or act of incorporation of said company or association and shall be as valid and binding as if the same had been the original object or purpose for which such company or association had been incorporated And such company or association may also issue shares of stock not exceeding in amount the value of their property and effects and distribute the same to and amongst the members thereof entitled thereto said shares to be assignable and transferable in the usual manner the holder or holders of any share or shares to be entitled to one vote for each and every share held by him or her or such company or association may also by and with the assent and approval of the said court change the name of such corporation and provide for its management by such officers and board of directors or managers not exceeding seven in number exclusive of president and treasurer as to them may seem just and expedient

Section 2 If any of the companies or relief associations named in section one of this act shall be desirous of disbanding dissolving and surrendering their corporate existence it shall and may be lawful for them so to do and the property and effects or the proceeds thereof may be distributed and divided to and among the members entitled thereto excepting however such property effects or equipment which have been granted conveyed donated or given to the said companies by the municipalities in which said companies are located said property effects or equipment shall revert back to and remain the property of said municipality under the following conditions to wit

First Such company or association shall give at least six months' notice of their intention to dissolve and surrender their corporate existence by advertisement in at least one daily newspaper published in said county to be designated by the court of common pleas upon application by the proper company or association said advertisement to be published at least once a week for four weeks or continuously for one week

Second Such company or association shall through its secretary or by a committee appointed for that purpose make a roll of all such members who are entitled to participate in the distribution of its property or the proceeds thereof who may apply to him or to them personally or otherwise said roll shall be kept open during the whole of the said aforesaid six months and it shall be the duty of such secretary or committee to enter upon such roll the name or names of any and all members who may apply as aforesaid who are known to him or them or if unknown who shall produce satisfactory evidence that he or they is or are entitled to have his or their name or names placed on said roll and said roll shall at the expiration of said six months be verified by the oath or affirmation of said secretary or committee

Third Such company or association shall immediately after the expiration of said six months appoint a committee of not less than three members which committee in conjunction with the president and treasurer of said company or association shall make out and sign a schedule of the description amount and value of all the property and effects of such company or association the names of all persons who are included within the provisions of clause second of this section and the description amount and value of the property effects or moneys allotted to each of such persons respectively and which shall be as nearly equal as may be and which schedule shall be verified by oath or affirmation of a majority of such committee one of whom shall be the president or treasurer and said schedule shall be submitted at a stated meeting of said company or association and if approved by a vote of the majority of such members present as are included in the second clause hereof shall be final and conclusive

Fourth As soon as all steps and proceedings provided for in this section shall have been completed a certified copy thereof shall be made out attested by the signatures of the officers of such company or association and by the seal of the corporation and shall be duly acknowledged as in the case of a deed made by a corporation and recorded in the office for recording deeds et cetera for said municipality and county and thereafter such corporation shall be dissolved and cease to exist and all the powers and authorities thereto belonging shall become and be null and void and of no effect except such as are necessary to carry this act into effect The distribution of the property and effects of such company or association shall be made as soon after the approval of the schedule mentioned in clause third as may be convenient Provided That nothing herein contained shall be construed as to prevent any person who may deem himself aggrieved by the action of any company or association in his case applying to the proper court for redress by bill in equity or upon or for a mandamus upon his giving such security as the court may determine to pay all damages that may be incurred and all costs that may accrue if the decree of the court upon final hearing shall be against him and a part of such costs shall be a reasonable counsel fee to be allowed by the court in the particular case and fixed by the decree

Section 3 In the event any of the companies or relief associations included within the provision of this act change by virtue of the provision hereof into stock companies the shares into which the capital stock of such corporation may be divided shall be issued to such of the members of said company or association as were required to perform active services as a condition of membership or who may have been transferred from the active roll to the roll of honorary members as a reward or token of recognition for previous active services and to those only who may have signed the constitution or by-laws of such company or association and in case of a total dissolution of such company under the provision of the second section of this act those members only who are designated in this section shall be entitled to a distributed share of the proceeds of the property of such company or association

Section 4 If in any case any number of the active and honorary members either or both of any company or relief association not less than ten in number may desire to perpetuate the corporate existence of any company or association either for social purposes or for any of the purposes mentioned in the first section of this act and a majority of such company or association may desire to dissolve as aforesaid it shall and may be lawful for such members by signing and presenting to such company or association an agreement in writing to perpetuate the existence of such corporation to take unto themselves the liabilities and responsibilities imposed and to enjoy the privileges granted in and by the charter of such company or association and in such case the proceedings directed in and by the second section of this act shall be pursued except as to the division of their property and the recording of the proceedings in lieu of which after the amount of dividend shall have been ascertained and approved as aforesaid the receipt of such dividend by any member shall be construed to be a resignation and shall be so entered upon the books of such company or association and the members so receiving a dividend shall thence forth cease to be a member of such company or association Provided That it shall and may be lawful for any company or association to purchase the right of any member and upon the payment of the agreed price the membership of such person shall thereupon terminate

Section 5 The sales by any company or relief association included in section one of this act hereafter made shall be deemed and taken to have been made pursuant to the provisions of this act and are hereby declared to be valid and to vest the title to such property in the purchasers of such property

Section 6 It shall and may be lawful for any of the companies or relief associations mentioned in section one of this act to accept the provisions of this act as a supplement to the charter or act of incorporation of such company or association by the vote of a majority of the meeting of such company or association and if so accepted the members entitled to vote who may be present at any stated the provisions hereof shall be deemed and taken to be a part of the charter or act of incorporation of such accepting company or association except where a particular number have a right to continue Provided That nothing contained in this act shall be held to affect the right of any member or companies or associations as the same have been heretofore adjudicated by any court and the same are hereby confirmed Provided That this act shall not repeal or affect the provisions of any special law relating to the same subject in any county township borough or city in this Commonwealth

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 218, as follows:

An Act to further amend the first paragraph of section nine hundred seventy-six of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333) entitled "An act concerning elections including general municipal special and primary elections the nomination of candidates primary and election expenses and election contests creating and defining membership of county boards of elections imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth courts county boards of elections county commissioners imposing penalties for violation of the act and codifying revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections" by further providing procedure for rejection of nomination petitions papers or certificates

Section 1 The first paragraph of section nine hundred seventy-six of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333) entitled "An act concerning elections including general municipal special and primary elections the nomination of candidates primary and election expenses and election contests creating and defining membership of county boards of elections imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth courts county boards of elections county commissioners imposing penalties for violation of the act and codifying revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections" as amended by the act approved the twenty-eighth day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 526) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 976 Examination of Nomination Petitions Certificates and Papers Return of Rejected Nomination Petitions Certificates and Papers When any nomination petition nomination certificate or nomination paper is presented in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth or of any county board of elections for filing within the period limited by this act it shall be the duty of the said officer or board to examine the same No nomination petition nomination paper or nomination certificate shall be permitted to be filed if (a) it contains material errors or defects apparent on the face thereof or on the face of the appended or accompanying affidavits or (b) it contains material alterations made after signing without the consent of the signers or (c) it does not contain a sufficient number of genuine signatures as required by law or (d) in the case of nomination petitions if nomination petitions have been filed for printing the name of the same person for the same office except the office of judge of a court of record upon the official ballot of more than one political party or (e) in the case of nomination papers if the candidate named therein has filed a nomination petition for the same office for the ensuing primary or has been nominated for the same office by nomination papers previous, or filed or (f) if the nomination petitions or papers are not accompanied by the filing fee or certified check required for said office or (g) in the case of nomination papers the appellation set forth therein is identical with a deceptively similar to the words used by any existing party or by any political body which has already filed nomination papers for the same office or if the appellation set forth therein contains part of the name or an abbreviation of the name or part of the name of an existing political party or of a political body which has already filed nomination papers for the same office The invalidity of any sheet of a nomination petition or nomination paper shall not affect the validity of such petition or paper if a sufficient petition or paper remains after eliminating such invalid sheet The action of said officer or board in refusing to receive and file any such nomination petition certificate or paper may be reviewed by the court of common pleas of the proper county upon an application for a writ of mandamus to compel its reception as of the date when it was presented to the office of such officer or board. Provided however That said officer or board shall be entitled to a reasonable time in which to examine any petitions certificates or papers and to summon and interrogate the candidates named therein or the persons presenting said petitions certificates or papers and his or their retention of same for the purpose of making such examination or interrogation shall not be construed as an acceptance or filing

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, from the standpoint of the minority we consider this bill a majority iniquity, a political iniquity that would only be committed by a majority, so we want to be recorded as voting "no" on this particular bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—2.

Clevenger.

Trout,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 219, as follows:

An Act to add section eight hundred twelve to the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333) entitled "An act concerning elections including general municipal special and primary elections the nomination of candidates primary and election expenses and election contests creating and defining membership of county boards of elections imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth courts county boards of elections county commissioners imposing penalties for violation of the act and codifying revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto and repealing certain acts and parts of act relating to elections" providing that where members of a political party are appointed or elected to represent the members of such party in an election district said members shall constitute a political committee for such district subject to the control of the respective political committee of which they are members

Section 1 Article eight of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333) entitled "An act concerning elections including general municipal special and primary elections the nomination of candidates primary and election expenses and election contests creating and defining membership of county boards of elections imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth courts county boards of elections county commissioners imposing penalties for violation of the act and codifying revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections" is hereby amended by adding thereto after section eight hundred eleven a new section to read as follows

Section 812 District Committees Whenever two or more members of a political party shall be elected or appointed as the rules of the party may provide as members of a political committee to represent the members of such party in the respective election districts such members shall constitute a political committee of said political party to function within such election district Provided that when acting in the capacity of a political committee such duly elected or appointed members shall be subject to the control direction and supervision of the political committee of which they are members

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, from the standpoint of my own personal opinion this is another majority iniquity. I don't know whether the entire minority agrees with me on that point or not.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 310, as follows:

An Act to amend section four of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1050) entitled "An act relating to the collection of taxes levied by counties county institution districts cities of the third class boroughs towns townships certain school districts and vocational school districts conferring power and imposing duties on tax collectors courts and various officers of said political subdivisions and prescribing penalties" requiring taxing districts to pay the premiums on corporate bonds of tax collectors in boroughs towns and townships of the second class and fixing the time when such tax collectors shall file their bonds

Section 1 Section four of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1050) entitled "An act relating to the collection of taxes levied by counties county institution districts cities of the third class boroughs towns townships certain school districts and vocational school districts conferring powers and imposing duties on tax collectors courts and various officers of said political subdivisions and prescribing penalties" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 Bonds of Tax Collectors (a) In cities of the third class and in townships of the first class the treasurer as tax collector for the various taxing districts shall give bond secured and conditioned as provided by the laws relating to such cities and townships

(b) In boroughs towns, and townships of the second class the elected tax collector shall be the collector of borough town or township taxes as the case may be and of county and institution school and vocational school district taxes He shall before he enters upon the duties of his office take and subscribe and oath of office and file the same in the office of the clerk of the court of quarter sessions of the county He shall enter into one surety bond to the Commonwealth for all taxes to be collected by him in an amount to be fixed by the court of quarter sessions of the county which amount shall never exceed the estimated amount of taxes charged in the duplicates to be delivered to him in one year Such bond may at the option of the tax collector be an annual bond or may cover the full term of office for which the tax collector shall have been elected Such bond shall have thereon at least two sufficient sureties or one bonding company and the sufficiency of the sureties on the bond shall be approved by the court of quarter sessions at any time prior to the delivery of a tax duplicate to the tax collector The bond shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the court of quarter sessions on or before the fifteenth day of March of the year in which the tax collector qualifies for office and annually thereafter except where the first bond given by the tax collector covers the full term of office for which he was elected Should any of the taxing districts be of the opinion at any time that the bond given by the tax collector is not sufficient in amount or as to the surety thereon the said taxing district may apply to the court by petition to have the tax collector furnish additional bond in the manner provided by this section Thereupon the tax collector shall furnish such additional bond if any as the court of quarter sessions may prescribe but not exceeding the limitation as to amount hereinbefore prescribed After the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred forty-nine where the surety on a tax collector's bond is a bonding company the premium on the bond shall be paid by the respective taxing districts Each taxing district shall be liable to pay that percentage of the bond premium as the total taxes charged in the duplicate of the taxing district bears to the total taxes charged in the duplicate of all of the taxing districts In any case where a tax collector is required to furnish additional bond the premium on such additional bond shall be paid by the taxing district which petitioned the court for the additional bond prior to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred fifty where the surety on a tax collector's bond is a bonding company any taxing district may pay its percentage of the bond premium as above provided

(c) In boroughs towns and townships of the second class the condition of the bond shall be that the collector as tax collector for the borough town or township as the case may be and for the county and the institution school and vocational school district shall account for any pay over all taxes penalties and interest received and collected by him to the taxing districts entitled thereto

(d) The tax collector of boroughs towns and townships of the second class and his sureties shall be discharged from further liability on his bond for the taxes charged in a duplicate delivered to him as soon as all tax items contained in the said duplicate are either (1) collected and paid over to the proper taxing district or (2) certified to the taxing authority for entry as liens in the office of the prothonotary or (3) returned to the county commissioners for sale of the real estate by the county treasurer or (4) in the case of occupation poll and per capita and personal property taxes accounted for by the payment over or by exoneration which shall be granted by the taxing district upon oath or affirmation by the tax collector that he has complied with section twenty of this act

(e) The bond given by a borough town or township tax collector shall be for the use of the borough town or township as the case may be and for the county and the institution school and vocational school district

(f) In case where a tax collector shall be appointed in a borough town or township of the second class to fill a vacancy in said office or where the elected tax collector shall have failed to qualify or to furnish bond or where a tax collector shall have failed to settle a duplicate as provided in section thirty-one of this act the person appointed in accordance with existing laws including an individual corporation or the county treasurer to collect such taxes shall give bond secured and conditioned as above provided where a township of the second class or a school district shall in such cases exercise its power to appoint a separate tax collector to collect its taxes such appointee shall give bond secured and conditioned as above provided

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

TIME EXTENDED ON BILLS

Mr. SHOEMAKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to extend the time five days on House Bill No. 641, Printer's No. 376, on page 7 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to announce that there will be a Republican caucus immediately upon adjournment in the new House caucus room. The Members are urged to be present.

There will also be a caucus of the Democratic Members of the House at twelve-thirty daylight savings time tomorrow in the old House caucus room.

RESOLUTION

Mrs. DYE offered a resolution which was laid over under the Rules.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. STOCKHAM and YEAKEL offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 27, 1947.

Life is a stage and men are but actors, was in substance the word picture of the great Bard of Avon.

Upon the stage in the Pennsylvania House of Representatives there appeared an actor of humble demeanor, but one who played a prominent part for many years in the deliberation of the Assembly of Pennsylvania.

W. Albertson Haines was elected to this House in 1918, and consecutively in 1920, 1924, 1926, 1928, 1930 and 1932. Dr. Haines was born in Moorestown, New Jersey, March 6th, 1880. He was a farm boy and was educated in the public schools of his native state. He entered the University of Pennsylvania in 1904 and received the degree of V. M. D. in June of 1907.

He practiced his profession in Bristol, Bucks County, and operated a large dairy farm in the neighborhood. In civic affairs Dr. Haines was a leader in his town and county and headed a movement in 1915 that organized the Bucks County Farm Bureau.

While a Member of this House, Dr. Haines was chairman of the Committee on Agriculture and took a prominent part in the activities of the Legislature and a leader in measures pertaining to agriculture.

Thus, in equal fervor, W. Albertson Haines continued as a prominent actor on the stage of life at home as he did in these Halls.

He retired from this stage on September 4, 1946, died at his home in Newtown, Bucks County, ending a useful and very active career; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House pause in its deliberations for a moment in memory of this prominent citizen of Bucks County, that these resolutions be recorded in the proceedings of this day, and that a copy of the same be sent to the widow and family of the late Honorable W. Albertson Haines.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. PETROSKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the past week of this session of the General Assembly saw the passage in this House of several anti-labor pieces of legislation which are now before the State Senate for its consideration. At the time of the passage of this legislation the Democratic minority in protest to the administration program of thrusting upon the working people of the Commonwealth, protested to the extent that we were within nineteen votes of defeating certain measures that we had considered Wednesday, the 21st of May.

On Thursday morning I certainly was amazed and no doubt the other Members of the House were, to learn that the president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, James L. McDevitt, had seen fit to publicly begin to oppose House Bill 952, which was termed in a statement of his own making in the Post-Gazette of Friday morning, May 23rd as the most vicious piece of anti-labor legislation that was passed by this House.

A great many of the rank and file of the American Federation of Labor in my county were indeed amazed to learn from the statement of the gentleman aforementioned that he was ignorant of the exact wording of House Bill 952, and the statement that he has made that he did not know that it was such a drastic move on the part of the administration forces.

Now then, Mr. Speaker, I am at a loss to know why the membership of the other side of the House did not convey to the gentleman the exact import of the amendments to the Unemployment Compensation Insurance Act as proposed by House Bill No. 952. I also wonder as to whether or not if the membership of this House had had this information from the American Federation of Labor prior to Thursday morning May twenty-second, the day after the legislation was passed, whether or not we could not have killed this legislation here in the lower House.

Mr. Speaker, for the past three sessions, including the present session of the General Assembly, I have at all times endeavored to present an honest picture of what I felt should be done for the people back home who need representation. Certainly I am grieved at this time to see that there was no representation for the seven hundred twenty thousand members of the rank and file American Federation of Labor on House Bill 952. Now, that there is a possibility, and if that is the end to which the gentlemen are working in endeavoring to have the Governor veto the legislation in the event that the Senate passes it, I certainly add my appeal to that of any one else in this House of Representatives to ask for the veto of House Bill 952 by the Governor of the Commonwealth, in the event the proposal is considered and passed by the Senate, and I so request the Honorable James Duff to veto House Bill 952.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. SHOEMAKER form the Committee on Counties, returned with the recommendation that it be re-referred to the Committee on Cities and County—Second Class, Senate Bill No. 72, entitled:

An Act to further amend section three hundred twenty of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" by providing for the payment of retirement allowances to widows of deceased county employes and for crediting employes with time spent in military servise in counties of the second class

Mr. MILLER from the Committee on Insurance, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 393, entitled:

An Act authorizing certain existing beneficial or protective societies, heretofore incorporated, to reincorporate, or to merge and reincorporate, as limited life insurance companies for the purpose of making insurance upon the health of individuals and against personal injury and disablement and death, including endowment insurance; regulating such corporations and limiting the amounts for which such corporations may issue policies.

Mr. O'NEILL from the Committee on Insurance, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 394, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four hundred nineteen of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 682) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" by permitting certain additional stock insurance companies to come within the provisions thereof and changing certain capital and surplus requirements.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By consent of the House leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Madden for Mr. NELSON for the remainder of the week because of illness in the family.

SENATE MESSAGES

AMENDED HOUSE BILLS RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

HOUSE BILL No. 314.

An Act to further amend sections five and six of the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 566) entitled "An act requiring cities of the first class to establish a pension fund for employes of said cities and all county or other public employes if any paid by appropriation of the city councils thereof and out of the treasury of said cities and regulating the administration and the payment of such pensions" by further prescribing the employes that are required to become members of the pension system of such city and removing optional rate of contribution

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments. The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, page 1, line 8 by striking out after the word "by" the words "requiring all city county or other public employees whether paid a per diem wage or otherwise" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "further prescribing the employees that are required."

Amend Section 2, page 6 by striking out after line 6 the following:

"Section 6 [Should any] Every person holding a position in said cities of the first class or any county or other public employes [if any] paid out of the treasury of such cities as aforesaid [be paid a per diem wage or a salary at a rate of three hundred and sixty dollars each year or less he or she] shall [not]" and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 6 Should any person holding a position in [said cities] any city of the first class or any county or other public [employes] employe paid out of the treasury of any such [cities] city as aforesaid be paid a per diem wage on a salary at a rate of three hundred and sixty dollars each year or less he or she] employed at temporary work with the understanding that it probably will be for a period of not more than three months such employe shall not"

Amend Section 2, page 7, line 3 by striking out the bracket before the word "but"; line 5 by striking out the bracket fater the word "act."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. MINTESS. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, May 28, 1947

The Senate met at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain prayer was offered by the Rev. FRANCIS E. REINBERGER, Pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church, Camp Hill, Penna.

Almighty God, Father of Light, and Fountain of all Wisdom, who hast united us in families and states and nations, so that the needs, the aims, the ideals of a fraternity of mankind might be accomplished; we remember before Thee this day all those who lead and guide the affairs of our common life, but especially do we ask Thy blessing upon those who direct the affairs of our Commonwealth, those who work for justice and truth between man and man, between class and class, for health, and charity and the furtherance of good-will; may the inspiration of Thy spirit rest upon them. And to all of us, O God, grant the clear vision of a pure social life, and the grace to pursue it loyally, that our Commonwealth, in its industry and commerce, in its education and art, in its religion and government, may be found to be following that which is beautiful and good and true; to the glory of Thy holy and blessed Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. TALLMAN and Mr. WATSON, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILLS REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WILSON. Mr. President, I report at this time from the committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations, House Bill 1013. It is as committed. I ask just a moment of indulgence of the members of the Senate, to call attention to the fact that this one is just a little unusual, and that we took pains to see every member of the committee, and every member of the committee agreed that this bill should be reported as committed. It is only adding just three or four words to the Constitution, and pertains to the question of improvements out in little villages, or thickly settled communities within townships, and so forth, and which has been really done for a good many years, perhaps improperly or illegally, and we felt that we should consider this proposed amendment to the Constitution.

Mr. President, in addition thereto, I have two other proposals for amendments, which I will present to the Chair in just one moment.

I report from the same committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations, as committed, Senate Bill 529, and there was no objection.

I also report from the same committee Senate Bill 797, and there were no objections there, although there may be later on, but it seems that we should at least give them prompt consideration. Thank you.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. WILSON, from the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1013, entitled:

A Joint resolution proposing an amendment to section one, article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

He also, from the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 529, entitled:

A Joint Resolution Proposing an amendment to section one, article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, authorizing agreements between Redevelopment Authorities and local taxing authorities, limiting for a term not exceeding twenty-five years the amount of annual taxes to be levied upon land acquired for urban redevelopment.

He also, from the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 797, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section eighteen, article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, authorizing the use of certain revenues for the acquisition of bridges.

Mr. RUTH, from the Committee on Agriculture, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 812, entitled:

An Act relating to milk produced in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and delivered to plants which are or may hereafter become approved by any health authority as sources of milk for New York City and the Counties of Westchester, Suffolk or Nassau in the State of New York; providing for a Milk Compact Commissioner; designating the Chairman of the Milk Control Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as such Milk Compact Commissioner; authorizing the Milk Compact Commissioner to enter into a compact or compacts with the legally constituted authorities of other states for the uniform regulation of the price to be paid producers for said milk, subject to such federal consent as may be authorized or required by law; providing that the Milk Compact Commissioner may become a member of an authority or a commission created by any such compact; authorizing uniform regulation of prices to be paid producers, as may be provided in any such compact; providing that the Milk Compact Commissioner in the event of his temporary physical inability to perform any of the duties imposed upon him shall designate a deputy to act for him and in his behalf; providing that any such compact agreed upon by the several states which shall become parties thereto shall expressly provide that all milk delivered by producers under the terms and conditions of said compact or the provisions of any price fixing or other order issued pursuant to the authority of such compact and distributed as milk or cream in Pennsylvania shall be priced commensurately with the prices of milk produced in Pennsylvania, not covered by such compact or order and re-delivered, re-sold or otherwise disposed of, or marketed in any marketing area in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, as such prices are fixed by the then existing rules, regulations and prices legally established in Pennsylvania for such area; providing for reports to be made upon request to the Governor of the Commonwealth, and providing for methods for the transmittal of such compact by the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the Congress of the United States for Congressional consent as required by Article 1, Section 10, Clause 3 of the Constitution of the United States.

Mr. RAHAUSER, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, House Bill No. 798, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1358), entitled "An act relating to chattel mortgages on any chattel or chattels of any kind or description, including, but not limited to, livestock, poultry, farm machinery, farm equipment and crops, grown, growing or to be grown; designating the operation and effect of the lien of such mortgages; providing for the filing, indexing and docketing of such mortgages and related instruments in prothonotaries' offices; and prescribing prothonotaries' fees; providing for the filing in Pennsylvania of similar lien instruments originally filed or recorded in other states; regulating the assignment, release, satisfaction and extension of the lien of such mortgages; prescribing methods of foreclosure; defining defaults and violations; and fixing penalties," providing that chattel mortgages need not be acknowledged nor witnessed.

Mr. WOODRING, from the Committee on Corporations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 106, entitled:

An Act to amend the title of and the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 967), entitled "An act making it unlawful for any individual or individuals to carry on any business under an assumed or fictitious name, style or designation, unless upon advertisement and the filing of an application to that effect in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and of the prothonotary; requiring non-resident applicants to have a resident agent; prescribing the effect of failure to file such application; providing that certificates of the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall be admitted in evidence; requiring county commissioners, at the expense of the county, to provide books or other means of reproduction for the entry of such applications; requiring the cancellation of such application or the withdrawal from the business; providing methods therefor; fixing the fees of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and prothonotary; and providing penalties," including corporations within the provisions thereof.

Mr. WALKER, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, House Bill No. 954, entitled:

An Act to amend section six hundred four of the act, approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 289) entitled "An act relating to non-profit corporations; defining and providing for the organization, merger, consolidation, and dissolution of such corporations; conferring certain rights, powers, duties and immunities upon them and their officers and members; prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers; providing for the conclusion of certain existing corporations of the first class within the provisions of this act; prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign nonprofit corporations may be admitted or may continue to do business within the Commonwealth; conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas, prothonotaries of such courts, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; authorizing certain local public officers and State departments to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act; imposing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations," allowing cemetery companies to give notice of meetings by advertising in newspapers and posting of notices.

Mr. JASPAN, from the Committee on Corporations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 654, entitled:

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. FRAZIER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 813, entitled:

An Act to amend section three hundred two, to further amend sections three hundred four, eight hundred one, eight hundred four, eight hundred seven and eight hundred eight and to amend section nine hundred one and to repeal sections eight hundred two and eight hundred five of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of April, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 417), entitled "An act relating to milk and the products thereof; creating a Milk Control Commission; establishing its jurisdiction, powers and duties; regulating the production, transportation, manufacturing, processing, storage, distribution, delivery, and sale of milk and certain products thereof; providing for the licensing of milk dealers and the payment of fees therefor; requiring milk dealers to file bonds to secure payment for milk to producers and certain milk dealers; authorizing the holding of hearings and the issuance of subpoenas by the commission; conferring jurisdiction upon courts to punish contempts and to prohibit violations of this act and of rules, regulations and orders of the commission; authorizing the commission to adopt rules, regulations and orders, and to enter into interstate and Federal compacts; requiring persons who weigh, measure, sample or test milk to procure permits or certificates, to take examinations, to pay fees therefor, to furnish certain notices, records and statements, and to use certain methods of weighing, measuring, sampling and testing; authorizing the commission to examine the business, papers and premises of milk dealers and producers, requiring the keeping of records and the filing of reports by milk dealers, and permitting, with limitations, the use of information obtained thereby; authorizing the commission to fix prices for milk and certain milk products subject to the approval of the Governor, and conferring certain powers upon the Governor with respect thereto; providing for appeals to the courts from decisions of the commission, and for the burden of proof upon such appeals; prescribing penalties, fines and imprisonment for violations of this act and rules, regulations and orders of the commission; defining perjury; defining remedies; repealing legislation supplied and superseded by this act, and saving rights, duties and proceedings thereunder; and making appropriations," by restricting the price; fixing powers of the Milk Control Commission to prices to be paid for milk to persons producing milk.

Which was committed to the Committee on Agriculture.

RESOLUTION PRESENTED AND ADOPTED

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, in 1934 I was succeeded in this very Chamber by a very distinguished and able citizen from West Philadelphia, and I replaced him in 1946.

He had the misfortune last week to lose a very devoted, loyal and fine wife, and I desire to offer a resolution at this time and move its immediate adoption.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE TO THE FORMER STATE SENATOR JOHN J. MCCREESH AND FAMILY

Mr. FRAZIER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 28, 1947.

Susan A. McCreesh, wife of our friend, the former State Senator John J. McCreesh, died May 22, 1947 at Fitzgerald Mercy Hospital, Darby, Pennsylvania, leaving a heritage of sincere and deep family devotion and unselfish service in behalf of others through her many religious and charitable activities.

The mother of six sons and two daughters, all of whom survive her, in addition to her husband, Mrs. McCreesh will remain forever in the hearts of her family and many friends who partook of her spirit and love during her lifetime, as was attested by the beautiful funeral, garlands of flowers and many friends attending her last rites.

Our friend and former colleague, John J. McCreesh, may well be proud and grateful to have had such a wife and companion to nurture his children through childhood; therefore, he it

Resolved, That the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania extend their heartfelt sympathy to our friend, John J. McCreesh and to his family in the death of his wife and their mother; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate transmit a copy of this resolution to John J. McCreesh and family as an inadequate but sincere token of their deepest sympathy.

REQUEST THAT ALL BILLS BE READ AT LENGTH

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, in view of the fact that one of my Republican friends on the other side has failed to keep his agreement in respect to Senate Bill 218, which vitally affects the election code in the city of Philadelphia, I am compelled to invoke the provision of the Constitution which calls for the reading of every bill at length.

RECESS

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do not take a recess for ten minutes, in order that there may be a meeting of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

REQUEST THAT BILLS BE READ AT LENGTH WITHDRAWN

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I am obliged more or less to withdraw my request, out of courtesy and decency to the gentlemen on both sides. I am not going to go into the merits of my position at this time because I feel I am right and I am going to stand up for my rights, whether it be today, tomorrow, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, or any other day.

However, on a promise made by the Republican floor leader and his capable assistant, Senator Becker, that this matter will be taken up by the Republican caucus tomorrow morning or tomorrow afternoon, whenever they meet, if it is finally agreed that they have to concur in the amendments, I shall renew my request that all bills be read at length.

If, however, they agree not to concur, I am perfectly content, because that was my position originally, as far as the Democrats were concerned and certain Senators of the other side, and I repeat, Mr. President, that I withdraw my request until tomorrow.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Jaspan, has withdrawn his request that all bills be read at length.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STIEFEL from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 88, entitled:

Section 15 Acts specifically repealed

The Act of May 29 1901 (P. L. 327) as amended and its supplement the Act of May 10 1921 (P. L. 467) are hereby specifically repealed except insofar as necessary to sustain or maintain the validity prosecution or enforcement of any action for the enforcement of said acts which may be pending upon the effective date of this act.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RAHAUSER. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate: when I campaigned for this seat in the Senate, I promised many people in my district that I would do all in my power, if elected, to repeal the margarine laws.

Inasmuch as Senate Bill 644 is attempting to place more restrictions on the distribution of margarine, I feel that I must say a few words against this bill.

What interests the butter trust may have in this legislation, or what contentions the manufacturers of margarine may have, is not my particular concern. My particular interest is representing the constituents of my district, who demand repeal of laws that bar margarine distribution.

They know that only ten per cent of all the retail dealers of food in Pennsylvania are licensed to sell margarine, whereas, in our neighboring state of Ohio, where no taxes on margarine are imposed, nearly ninety-nine per cent sell margarine. They know that in Pennsylvania the consumers in neighborhoods of small groceries must go out of their way or do without this product.

They, likewise, know that the Department of Agriculture of this state, in its general powers, has a right to make rules and regulations, including the adoption of all definitions and standards as shall be necessary for the enforcement of the laws of this Commonwealth relating to pure food including oleomargarine. See Purd. 71, Sec. 445.

They, likewise, know that the general food laws are ample for protecting the public, and they can not understand why this surplus legislation should remain on the statute books, and they certainly will not be able to understand why the Senate of Pennsylvania is busy passing this unnecessary law when there are so many important things for it to do.

Senate Bill 644, that we have before us, should not be passed.

Section 2 provides for a license, thus calling into play the police power of this State on a subject that does not necessitate the operation of police power.

The Supreme Court has consistently thrown out this type of legislation. In Commonwealth v. Zasloff, 338 Pa. 457, the Supreme Court said:

"The exercise of police power must not be arbitrary, unreasonable or patently beyond the necessity of the cause."

I have previously shown, by facts and figures, that the necessity of the cause relating to oleomargarine does not warrant the enactment of a license fee. I have shown that there is ample authority, in both the Administrative Code and the Pure Foods Act, to deal with this problem, without the enactment of this statute. I have shown the fact that there has been no enforcement problem for fifteen years. It would seem that this proves that this act should not be passed; and rather, that existing laws should be repealed.

Section 3 of the Act prohibits the sale of colored oleomargarine. Surely it can not be said that this prohibition in the act is necessary to enforce the statute, or that it is necessary in order that oleomargarine is not sold instead of butter. To say that the prohibition is necessary for proper enforcement, is to say that the state is incapable of enforcing its own statutes.

Everyone knows that the proper method of enforcing such an act is by chemical analysis, and not by color. Everyone knows the only reason for a prohibition against coloration is to keep oleomargarine from competing with butter, and not because any coloration is necessary to distinguish the two products.

It is the use of the legislative arm of the government to prohibit competition, a thing which the American people have always fought.

The Supreme Court of the United States said, in the famous Emory case:

"In some cases the exercise of the police power results in advantage to a particular class of citizens and to disadvantage of others. When that is the principal purpose of the measure, courts will look behind even the declared intent of Legislatures, and relieve citizens against oppressive acts, where the primary purpose is to the protection of the public health, safety, or morals."

How could the primary purpose here be the protection of the people?

Section 6, the record section, requiring retailers to keep books in the form prescribed by the department and notation of all receipts of margarine, is an odious section. Was it not sufficient, if records of receipts are necessary—which we deny—to state that fact? The words "Forms prescribed by the Department" are words of regimentation.

Making it an offense for the little grocery store dealer, who knows nothing of bookkeeping, to be guilty of a misdeemeanor because he does not keep his receipts of oleomargarine in a particular form, is surely not our idea of a good law. This is typical of the act, however.

The prescribing of rules and regulations that purport to protect the health of the people, when in reality they operate as a bar to free commerce, and what is worse, free commerce in the distribution of a healthful food product, is not proper legislation.

The people of my district are opposed to this type of legislation, and I am asking my colleagues and my party to vote down this type of legislation.

The following estimate shows the component parts of margarine, and the approximate acreage used in producing this product.

Approximately 10,000 acres of cotton seed; approximately 10,000 acres of soy beans; approximately 20,000 acres of corn; approximately 10,000 acres of peanuts; and 1,500,000 head of cattle.

A little more detailed story shows why the dairy trust is in favor of this legislation, and not the farmers. Let us analyze the crocodile tears of the dairy trust:

They have gone before legislative bodies and testified that butter is the "balance wheel" of the milk industry and that if its pre-eminent position as a table fat were endangered, whole sections of our country would be impoverished. This sounds like an important social argument until it is made clear that butter, far from being the main hope of our dairy industry, is really its end product. The industry turns into butter only that milk which it can not sell as fluid milk, as cream cheese or ice cream.

The reason is obvious. Milk sold for fluid consumption brings about $5.02 per 100 pounds; that sold for cream $2.65; that for ice cream $4.11; and that which goes into butter only $3.76. Naturally, much milk that goes into butter could not, because of its geographic origin, find a ready market as fluid milk. But with modern transportation and food preservation, this represents a much smaller percentage than ever before.

Thus the dairy trust's effort to make the butter-margarine issue a contest between the farmers who derive their income from milk and the much lesser number who raise cotton seed and vegetable oil for margarine, is obviously little more than an attempt to befog the question. There is no real quarrel between the two classes of farmers. The country needs all the raw material it can produce. In fact, if increased use of margarine resulted in larger amounts of fluid milk becoming available, we should all benefit from a greater supply of protein, calcium, phosphorus and riboflavin, which whole milk does so well provide.

As was stated by Anthony J. Carlson, Ph. D.; M. D., Department of Physiology, University of Chicago:

"I can not refrain from recording my disapproval of the consequences of the trade fight of the dairy industry on the producers of wholesome margarines, whether these be mainly made from vegetable oils, or from vegetable oils and animal fats, for this is a fight on our fellow citizens with the lowest income. The dairy industry can and should stand on its own feet, as it produces some of the finest and most valuable foods for man: milk, butter and cheese. But, to my way of thinking, it is unpatriotic and short-sighted of this industry to place an additional economic burden on the lowest income group in our nation. For the nutritional welfare of the people in the lowest income group we should not step up the price of the margarines by special taxes. These people would be better off in health by buying and eating two to three pounds of good margarines at about the price of one pound of winter butter. For such a wholesome food as good margarines can be produced and distributed at a lower cost than butter, and can be so fortified with the vitamins normally occurring in butter as to be practically equivalent in nutritive value to butter. What difference does it make to human nutrition whether vitamin A or the pro-vitamins A are added to an animal fat like butter by the physiological processes of digestion, absorption, and milk secretion of the cow or goat, or whether these same vitamins or pro-vitamins, all of them produced by the vegetable kingdom, are added to other animal or vegetable fats by the growing ingenuity and chemical skill of man? In my judgment, this fight and the laws, state and federal, resulting therefrom, are not in the interest of adequate national nutrition and national defense."

Senate Bill 644 is not proper or beneficial legislation, and should be defeated.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, since the opening of the present session, members of the Legislature have been bombarded by a campaign of propaganda in favor of repealing the oleomargarine laws of the state. There has been a great deal of argument as to why this should be done. However, it seems to me that not one sound reason has been advanced for pursuing such a course. To my mind, there is every reason why these laws should remain in full force and effect.

Those who are criticizing the farmers because they want these laws retained on our statute books, those who call these producers of genuine dairy products "selfish and arrogant," either do not know what they are talking about, or they have never heard of the conditions that existed prior to the enactment of these laws. They are apparently unaware of the debt society owes to the farmers for the reforms represented by the regulatory oleomargarine laws and the pure food and drug laws which followed. As Mark Sullivan, one of the ablest and most impartial writers of the present day, who, incidentally, is a Pennsylvanian, tells us in his splendid history, "Our Times":

"The suspicion that something very wrong was going on in food, drink, and medicines, the resentment against it, and the effort to overcome it, began with the farmers. Farmers made butter, which came from cows. Beef packers manufactured oleomargarine, which came from cattle also. (Or now we are told perhaps vegetable fats) Oleomargarine, according to the manufacturers, was just as good as butter; but many of the makers, as if they had some native preference for indirection, wanted to sell oleo not as oleo but as butter. Oleo, naturally almost as white as lard, was colored with dyes so as to give the consumer an exceptionally vivid suggestion of cows grazing in sunny fields of buttercups."

Continuing, Mr. Sullivan says:

"The farmers, in order to protect themselves, in the states where they were politically powerful, brought about the institution of departments of agriculture in state governments, with chemists and law officers whose business it was to ferret out and pursue imitations of butter, as well as adulterated butter. This function led naturally to an official curiosity about other adulterated or artificially colored food products, and substitutes for food products, and ultimately about drugs and medicines. By 1900 several states had official departments of food and drugs, devoted to analyzing products on sale in the state.

"This farmer movement was the beginning of food analysis in the United States, of food analysis, that is, by public officials and in the public interest. The state chemists were, so to speak, counter-chemists, devoting themselves to unearthing the practices of those chemists who had sold themselves into the service of the food adulterators. The state chemists, and the little staffs they build up around them, had several especially pregnant effects; they developed a technique of food analysis, of discovering adulteration and identifying the adulterants; they induced the state legislatures to enlarge the pure food statutes to include all kinds of food, in addition to butter, and secured increasing appropriations for enforcement; that caused the formation of local, municipal boards of health, and the passage of city ordinances requiring higher standards of purity, especially for milk. By their activities they stimulated popular interest in sanitation."

A man who appeared before the committee stated that in Pittsburgh alone, the infantile mortality was reduced from thirty-seven out of one hundred to something like twelve out of one hundred.

The discoveries that these state chemists, appointed at the behest of the farmers, made in the field of processed foods were truly astounding and shocked the conscience of the entire nation. All kinds of processed foods were doped and adulterated in the most shameless manner, and it was estimated that the average person eating three meals a day was getting forty doses of chemicals and dyes with the food he ate. To keep food from spoiling it was common practice to use formaldehyde, which is another name for embalming fluid. Coal-tar dye, sodium sulphite borax, methyl alcohol, salicylic acid, copperas, and various other dyes and chemicals were used in doping and adulterating the daily food of the people. All this came to a welcome end with the enactment of the National Pure Food and Drugs Act, which had the active backing of the farmers of the country, and which was signed by President Theodore Roosevelt in 1906."

In the light of all this, who shall say that the farmers are arrogant and selfish when they oppose the repeal of our oleomargarine laws, which at one and the same time protect the producers of genuine dairy products, besides safeguarding the consumer against fraud and deception?

Who wants to go back to the conditions that existed half a century ago, with fraud, adulteration and deception running riot in such an important matter as the food and drink of the people?

The farmers of Pennsylvania and of every other state are opposed to that. Intelligent consumers are likewise against the taking of such a backward step. So should honest manufacturers and dealers in food and food products be opposed to it.

The repeal of our oleomargarine laws, which has been so persistently urged upon the Legislature by those who expect to profit by it, would indeed be a backward step, and it would no doubt be regarded as an invitation to repeal or emasculate other laws that have been enacted to protect the public interest and to promote fair and honest dealing.

Nobody denies that if people want to buy oleomargarine in preference to butter, they have a right to buy it. On the other hand, if people want butter, they are entitled to get that for which they pay, and not a cheaper substitute, or an imitation product.

Now, why should dealers in oleomargarine be licensed? The answer is that they are handling a product which readily lends itself to fraud and deception. Assuming that the big majority of dealers are honest, which is no doubt the case, the fact remains that there are some dishonest men in all walks of life, and it is necessary for society to protect itself against them.

To make sure that the public is not being imposed upon and robbed, it is necessary to inspect and police this business. There is no reason why dealers who are honest should fear such inspection and supervision. They should welcome it, just as a public official who keeps his accounts straight should welcome an auditor when he comes to look over his books and vouchers.

Then, again, as the state inspectors make their rounds, it is important for them to know who the persons are that are handling oleomargarine, and where to locate them. There are some thirty thousand retail food outlets in Pennsylvania. If it were necessary to visit every one of these places to guard against violations, the costs of inspection would necessarily be very great. Licensing the dealers, therefore, simplifies the problem and makes supervision less expensive than would otherwise be the case.

The claim that it places a stigma on dealers in oleomargarine when they are required to take out a license is utterly without justification. As is well known to informed persons, the state licenses ice cream and beverage plants, bakeries, slaughter house, cold storage and locker plants and many similar establishments. We also license barbers, beauticians, nurses, medical doctors, dentists, osteopaths, chiropractors, insurance agents and others who serve the public.

Furthermore, milk dealers and producer-distributors of milk must take out a license under the Pennsylvania Milk Control Law. The fee ranges from one dollar a year for those who produce and distribute from one to twenty pounds of milk per day to sixty dollars a year for those who produce or sell from 4,000 to 5,000 pounds of milk a day. The maximum fee for distributors is $5,000 a year, as was stated yesterday by Senator Heyburn. In view of these facts, it is easy to be seen that oleomargarine dealers are not being discriminated against when they are required to take out a license.

Let us next consider the somewhat extravagant claims that oleomargarine manufacturers and dealers are making about the value of domestic farm products entering into the commodity they have to sell.

Verily, under the conditions that have existed since the outbreak of World War II, they have made a virtue of necessity in using domestic farm products. Formerly the chief ingredient in the manufacture of oleomargarine was cocoanut oil, which came in free of duty from the Philippine Islands. The war shut off the supply of these imported oils, and there was nothing else to do but to use domestic farm products if any oleomargarine was to be made at all.

Besides, practically all of the southern states imposed a tax on the sale of oleomargarine containing imported ingredients. Now that cocoanut oil will again be available soon, there is a campaign being waged to induce the southern states to repeal the tax to which reference has been made. Arkansas has already fallen into line on this proposal. Other states are being urged to follow suit. It is easy to understand who is back of this movement. It is the twenty odd manufacturers of oleomargarine. Just as soon as they can get cocoanut oil again at even a fraction of a cent a pound less than the cost of cottonseed oil or of soybean oil, they will use cocoanut oil, just as they did in the past.

Aside from all this, careful calculations show that the value of farm products used in manufacturing oleomargarine dwindle into utter insignificance when compared to the income received by farmers from the sale of milk and cream.

Taking a few specific examples, and using as a guide a chart published by the National Association of Margarine Manufacturers, in 1942 the farmers of Vermont received $924,000 from the sale of butter and cream. During the same year Vermont's share of farm produce used in making oleomargarine reached the munificent sum of fifty-two cents.

During the year in question, the farm value of butter and cream produced in Iowa was $78,671,000. The farm value of oleomargarine ingredients from cattle, soybeans, and corn oil was $3,327,627, leaving a balance of $75,343,373 in favor of butter and cream.

In Louisiana, in 1942, farm value of butter and cream produced was $2,121,000. The value of oleomargarine ingredients from cotton, corn, peanuts and soybeans was $739,648, leaving a balance of $1,381,352 in favor of butter and cream.

Here in Pennsylvania, where we have one million dairy cows, the gross farm income from dairy products in 1942 was $153,247,000. If our farmers had received their proportionate share of income from products used in making oleomargarine, they would have realized $72,000, leaving a balance of $153,175,000 in favor of butter and cream.

In the light of these figures, what is the use of placing such heavy emphasis on the income that farmers are supposed to get from the sale of products used in making oleomargarine? If there were any substance to these claims, it is safe to assume that the farmers would be the first to know about it.

The makers of oleomargarine, of whom there are less than two dozen in the whole United States, and I understand none in Pennsylvania, are doing their best to stir up public indignation by referring to the license fee as a tax on the food of families with low incomes, which is not so. While speaking of taxes, however, the oleomargarine interests are careful not to mention the fact that there is a federal excise tax of fifteen cents a pound on all imported oleomargarine, in addition to any duty that may be imposed. This tax is solely for the benefit of domestic manufacturers of the product. It gives them a complete monopoly of the American market, because foreign manufacturers could not possibly pay such a tax on a low-cost commodity in the effect to compete with American manufacturers.

In the effort to make it appear that no supervision on the part of the state is necessary in the handling of oleomargarine, spokesmen for the manufacturers and dealers point to the comparatively few prosecutions for violations that have taken place in Pennsylvania during recent years.

The chief reason, however, why there have not been more violations and prosecutions is that an honest effort has been made by the Department of Agriculture to enforce these laws.

Nevertheless, violations occur from time to time. For example, the report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, shows that the sum of $1,443.25 was collected from the sale of yellow oleomargarine in Pennsylvania. Since the sale of yellow oleomargarine is prohibited by state law, somebody violated the law by selling more than 14,000 pounds of the product in Pennsylvania in that single year. Reports of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue show that in fourteen different years since 1920 colored oleomargarine has been sold in this state in violation of law.

A former official of the state, testifying for the oleomargarine interests at a recent hearing, declared that more violations had been found in the handling of butter than in the case of oleomargarine. If that statement be true, perhaps the explanation may be found in the fact that the volume of butter sold in the state is much larger than the sales of oleomargarine. In any event, the witness failed to say whether it was the producers of butter or the dealers who were guilty of the violations he mentioned.

Turning from such details to some of the broader problems involved in considering this legislation, let me say that the most precious inheritance we received from the distant past is the fertile soil.

Animal husbandry and the maintenance of soil fertility go hand in hand. Any attempt to farm without livestock breaks the immemorial rhythm of nature: up from the soil and back to the soil.

The oleomargarine industry, while entitled to fair and considerate treatment, plays no part in this picture.

Certainly it would not be in accord with sound public policy to place the producers of genuine dairy products at a disadvantage in meeting the competition of oleomargarine, which is an imitation product. Every effort has been made by the manufacturers of this product to make it look like butter, smell like butter, and taste like butter, and their latest claim is that it is impregnated with vitamins found in butter. The history of the industry, covering a period of about seventy years, shows conclusively that without stringently enforced laws, oleomargarine would also be sold to the general public as butter.

That is why I am in favor of the pending bill to regulate and supervise the sale of this product in Pennsylvania.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, first I want to compliment the lobby from Washington which wrote the presentation as given by the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade.

This article, too, was written by someone else, but it was written by a group that represents the people, it is presented by Donald E. Montgomery, consumer counsel for the C. I. O.

Margarine legislation, both state and federal, belongs to the middle ages. It ought to go back where it came from. It is a hangover from the feudal system under which guilds and masters controlled markets according to the power and prestige they could muster. After winning a war for a variety of freedoms, it is out-of-date, to say the least, to be arguing about legislation which, to protect one commodity from the competition of another, and for no other purpose, perverts the public powers of State Government.

What other purpose can these State taxes on margarine have?

Some years ago, according to butter propaganda, they were necessary to protect consumers from a filthy product, cocoanut oil. Whether that was ever true, it is not true today. Margarine is subject to the same food and drug regulation and inspection as any other food. Its manufacture is more concentrated, therefore more easily supervised, than most foods. The experience of food and drug administrations, according to their published reports, suggests that their greatest problem in protecting consumers from filth in food arises not with respect to margarine but with respect to butter. In any event discriminatory taxes offer no solution to that problem.

The butter propagandists also argue that margarine should be penalized by the government because it is an imitation of butter. Certainly that is what it is, or should be permitted to be. Margarine should be permitted to imitate butter as closely as possible, including its color, because butter is a delicious food and margarine is a cheap one. We want cheap imitations of good products, all we can get of them, so long as there is anyone left living in these United States who feels any pinch whatever in the pocketbook. Imitation has been one of the spurs to free enterprise in this country. The automobile started out as an imitation of the horse and buggy, and a poor one. Rayon got its start as an imitation of silk. Now it is imitating wool. Isn't there some byproduct of milk which is now trying to imitate cotton?

Next, it is charged against margarine that it is an artificial product. Whatever that charge of artificiality may mean, certainly it is no crime and is not contrary to the public interest. Anyone who reads butter trade journals will see that butter too has its artificial ingredients, both color and flavor. Consumers are entitled to be informed of artificial factors in the foods they buy, it seems to me, but discriminatory taxation is neither necessary nor effective as a means to that end.

Or is it? Another reason for these taxes is said to be to provide adequate federal regulation of the manufacture, labeling and sale of this product. Maybe this body can find out what the Department of Agriculture does under these statutes to regulate margarine; I have been able to find nothing but a perfunctory collection of taxes. In any event there is no doubt that the Food and Drug Administration is fully competent to protect margarine consumers against adulteration and misbranding, and the Federal Trade Commission to protect them against false and misleading advertising of margarine. Margarine, unlike butter, is not exempt from any of the consumer protection provisions of the Food Drug and Cosmetic Act.

Now comes a new attack upon margarine to make a case for the discrimination against it. Despite the fifteenth century character of these margarine laws, butter propagandists never miss a chance to dress them up in modern togs. Nutrition is the new style. Margarine, we are now told, is inferior to butter nutritionally. The American Medical Association does not accept the proofs of that. The Food and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council says fortified margarine substituted for butter in a mixed diet produces no nutritional differences that can be observed. But what of it? Suppose margarine were grossly inferior to butter nutritionally, and therefore a poor imitation of butter. Is that a reason for placing special taxes on it, or on those who make or sell it? White flour, even when fortified, is not the nutritional equal of whole wheat flour. Nutritionally speaking, coffee is probably a poor imitation of an imitation coffee like Postum. Would you tax flour or coffee on that account?

There can be no argument in the public interest for the continuation of these medieval margarine taxes. But that does not mean that this bill to plan a tax will be defeated. These taxes are only one manifestation of the arrogant and dangerous power long exercised by the butter industry.

These taxes are only one manifestation of that power, but they provide an important keystone to the whole structure. They give governmental sanction and national plausibility to all the other outrages committed by the butter trade against the general welfare.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I have never campaigned on a margarine platform, although sometimes it was pretty slippery. I particularly noted the remarks made by the farmer—I mean the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, who talked about campaign propaganda and who, from time to time, included in his remarks in debate, last week and again today, statements about seeking the truth. He talks about seeking the truth here on the floor of this Senate, but if there has been any campaign propaganda with respect to the margarine question, it has been a campaign on the part of the dairy trust for the cause of butter, as there has been no propaganda for margarine; there has only been a disclosure of the facts; there has been a disclosure, not only on the floor of the Senate, extending over many weeks, but there has been a full and complete disclosure in many of our national periodicals, no one of which ceases to say that which was said on the floor by an impartial member of the majority party yesterday, that is, that everybody agrees as to the nutritional value of margarine.

I heard Mr. Wade, the gentleman from Cumberland, talk about formaldehyde. I do not know exactly what point that has in this debate, except that it does show the condition of the veins of some of the members of the Legislature—they have been distended with age, they have been thoroughly embalmed with this formaldehyde and we do hearken back many generations when we tried to artificially and surreptitiously put this on the farmers, when it is not the problem of the farmers.

The gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, continued in his very careful and professionally prepared speech to talk about the farmers—the farmer's butter.

Why, Mr. President and members of the Senate, I come from a rural county. I come from the county of Northampton, where we have good farmers, where we have a rather large dairy industry, and I have yet to know one farmer that makes butter in the county of Northampton, and I dare say the same thing will go for the neighboring county of Lehigh, from whence comes the majority leader. I do not think there is a pound of butter made by the farmers, certainly not for resale.

In my family we make butter three times a week and I know during the winter months that butter gets as white as lard, and if we want nice golden butter, the color of those buttercups Mr. Wade showed us down in the meadow, beside the stream, we have to put coloring matter in it the same as we must color margarine.

Mr. President, I think it is not fair to get up here on the floor of the Senate and talk about campaign propaganda when certainly the facts are all the other way.

Why should margarine be protected by a law of this type? One of my associates just called my attention to the fact that if we take a bottle of cream in one hand and a bottle of milk in the other hand and hold them up, they both look the same. However, Mr. President, there has been no confusion in that respect. People go to the store and they buy milk or they buy cream. When they buy cream they do not know how much butterfat they are getting, they do not know the quality of that cream; they only know it is sold at price levels which have been determined by competition. So there has been no confusion there and there is no confusion in the margarine industry. The only confusion is the raising of this campaign propaganda, delivered by the dairy trust under the guise of the farmers' problem, but this is not the farmer's problem; it is an economy problem and it is one which ought to be faced on its facts.

Mr. RAHAUSER. Mr. President, I would like to say, in answer to the statement of the gentleman from Cumberland, that his remarks reflect an attitude of fifty years ago and reflects probably that he is a member of the status quo party, that they have not progressed and do not know the progress that margarine has made in that period of time, and if the gentleman from Cumberland will come up to date as to the progress that margarine has made, he would probably remove his objections.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 689, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the seventeenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 507) entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes and in cities coextensive with counties for city and county purposes imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property providing for the assessment and collection of the same providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes" by providing further for the assessment collection and lien of the tax granting certain enforcement and investigatory powers to taxing authorities and imposing duties on certain county officers go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 690, on third reading, entitled:

An Act relating to costs in desertion and non-support cases placing said costs upon defendants and imposing duties upon courts and certain county officers go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 691, on third reading, entitled:

An Act relating to costs in fornication and bastardy and failure to support cases placing said costs upon defendants and imposing duties upon courts and certain county officers go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 713, on third reading, entitled:

An Act creating a commission to make a thorough study of the tax laws of the Commonwealth and of other states and countries in order to ascertain ways and means of financing the Commonwealth upon a more scientific and equitable basis providing for its appointment authorizing the employment of necessary assistants prescribing the powers and duties of the commission and making an appropriation.

be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1335, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance and providing for certain allocations therefrom for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and for the payment of assistance and expenses accrued or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-seven.

Section 1 The sum of one hundred thirty-five million dollars ($135,000,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Public Assistance for the payment of assistance and administrative expenses as provided by the Public Assistance Law and for the payment of attorneys' fees and court costs necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the Department of Public Assistance for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-seven and for the payment of assistance and administrative expenses attorneys' fees and court costs accrued or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-seven.

Section 2 Out of the moneys appropriated by section one of this act the Department of Public Assistance shall allocate funds from time to time for the several assistance programs (old age assistance aid to dependent children pensions for the blind general assistance and other programs provided by the Public Assistance Law) for administrative expenses of the several county boards of assistance for such administrative expenses incurred by the department which are chargeable to such boards and for the payment of attorneys' fees and court costs necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the department.

Section 3 Out of the moneys appropriated by section one of this act quarterly allocations shall be made to the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department respectively in such amounts as may be deemed necessary to pay the administrative expenses of such departments in auditing and disbursing appropriations for or relating to public assistance including any Federal sums supplementing such appropriations. In the case of the Department of the Auditor General said allocation shall be made by the Governor President pro tempore of the Senate Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Auditor General or a majority thereof and in the case of allocations made to the Treasury Department such allocations shall be made by the Governor President pro tempore of the Senate Speaker of the House of Representatives and the State Treasurer or a majority thereof.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, we of the minority side intend to vote for this appropriation bill because it is necessary that we do so. However, we do believe, before the next session of the General Assembly convenes, there should be something done to stop the exorbitant administrative costs in the Department of Public Assistance. I am speaking now for members of this General Assembly on both sides, who are becoming alarmed at the increasing rate of administrative costs in the matter of relief expenditures. Something has happened to public assistance in Pennsylvania, something that should warn each and every citizen of this Commonwealth, when we stop to realize that we are spending approximately $185,000,000 in the next biennium for direct relief in this Commonwealth, at the present rate of expenditure.

If for any reason the depression predicted by Governor Ruff should take place, that figure can easily rise to a point of over $400,000,000, if the present rate of expenditure is upheld.

I could go back through the years, from 1937, and bring down to date the percentage increases in the administrative costs of relief. However, I know that every member realizes that no matter what is said about the subject today, our hands are tied and we must vote for this appropriation.

I sincerely hope the Joint State Government Commission will initiate a study to see whether or not the plan I have proposed, or any other plan which will serve the purpose, can be introduced at the next session of the General Assembly, to perhaps take categorical reliefs out from under the Department of Public Assistance, setting aside a category for those persons receiving relief who are employable and for that group of relief recipients who are not employable.

I believe the load now being carried by the citizens of this Commonwealth for relief is way out of proportion to the normal expenditures of this Commonwealth in every other phase of government. We are tied up in a knot on the question of educational needs and educational appropriations and requirements. We are discussing the probability of a total expenditure for education of approximately $224,000,000, and yet we are here spending $185,000,000 for relief. When one considers the number of families on relief and divides the amount of appropriation by the number of families, he will find the cost way over and above what it ought to be.

In 1933, for instance, we spent $33,000,000 for relief, to a high in 1939 of $216,000,000, and yet, if we had the same number of persons receiving relief today as were receiving relief in 1939 to 1941, on the same proportionate share for the individual relief recipient, and the cost of administration for relief, our appropriation at this time would be over $300,000,000.

We passed a set of taxes known as emergency taxes for the express purpose of carrying the relief load of the Commonwealth. We have allowed these emergency taxes to become permanent taxes, because we have done absolutely nothing to stop this increased administrative relief cost. The total amount of money to be spent by this department—the admitted amount, not counting any hidden expenditures—for this biennium will be approximately $18,500,000. In 1939-1941, excepting the amount that was given by the federal government and adding that to the amount expended by the state, we had $256,604,000.

The total administrative cost at that time was $17,820,000. We admitted then that it was too high. We tried then to cut it down. But let us see what has happened since then.

In the 1945-1947 biennium, the total expenditures were $169,553,000, $87,000,000 less than in the 1939-1941 biennium, and yet the administrative costs, not counting the amounts spent by the State Treasury and the Auditor General's Department, totaled $16,366,000, or a little over $1,000,000 less than when we spent $87,000,000 more for relief. When you consider that the relief grant at that time was approximately sixty-five per cent of what it is today, you can see that we had a larger number of persons receiving relief, and yet the relief cost per recipient, administrative cost, at this time, is so much greater that the administrative cost alone is over sixty per cent of what the total relief burden was in 1931.
